Bureau of Mining Programs – Administers an environmental regulatory program for all mining activities, remining incentives, mine subsidence regulation, and coal refuse disposal; administers mining license and permit programs; administers a regulatory program for the storage and use of explosives; provides for training, examination, and certification of licensees for blaster's licenses; and administers a variety of special bonding programs, including a loan program for bonding of anthracite mines. Administers the mine subsidence insurance program, the small coal operators' assistance, and areas unsuitable for mining programs; the federal grant for the active coal mining program; and administers the special funds for the reclamation of bond forfeiture mine sites.

Bureau of District Mining Operations – Responsible for implementing the policies, procedures, and regulations developed by the Bureau of Mining Programs in accordance with state and federal laws governing underground and surface coal mining, coal refuse removal, and industrial mineral mining. Staff from six district mining offices review mining permit applications, perform frequent field inspections, and take necessary compliance actions. The six district mining offices are in Pottsville, Philipsburg, Ebensburg, California, New Stanton, and Knox.

Bureau of Mine Safety – Administers the Mine Safety program throughout the Commonwealth, including the inspection of all bituminous, anthracite, and industrial minerals deep mines and the equipment used within the mines to assure compliance with current laws and safety standards, and provides for the health and safety of persons employed in and around mines. Responsible for the development and implementation of a mine rescue training program, the collecting and maintaining of data relating to mines, and responding to all mine safety emergencies. The Bureau headquarters is in New Stanton, with a division office in Pottsville, and mine rescue stations in New Stanton, Marion Center, Ebensburg, and Tremont.

Bureau of Abandoned Mine Reclamation – Responsible for the planning, development, implementation, coordination, and evaluation of programs designed to reclaim abandoned mine sites; control and extinguish underground mine and refuse bank fires; control subsidence hazards; and respond to emergency situations involving abandoned mines throughout the Commonwealth. The Bureau is headquartered in Harrisburg, with district offices in Wilkes-Barre and Ebensburg.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR WASTE, AIR, RADIATION, AND REMEDIATION

The Deputy Secretary for Waste, Air, Radiation, and Remediation plans, directs and coordinates the Department's programs related to air quality, waste management, radiation protection, and environmental cleanup.

Bureau of Waste Management – Develops and implements Pennsylvania's solid waste management program, including municipal waste planning and recycling and municipal, residual (non-hazardous industrial), and hazardous waste management, including the Waste Transportation Safety Program that licenses waste haulers; responsible for oversight of the regional permitting, inspection, and enforcement functions of these programs. Provides technical guidance and advice to industry, private enterprise, and municipal government regarding its program requirements, and coordinates with EPA on federally delegated programs. Administers grant programs for municipal waste reduction, recycling, and planning activities.

Bureau of Air Quality – Develops and implements programs for the control of air pollution in Pennsylvania; assures compliance with the state Air Pollution Control Act and the Federal Clean Air Act by implementing permitting, monitoring, compliance, and enforcement programs. Develops air quality regulations establishing source-specific standards and procedures for air alerts; conducts meteorological tracking and air quality modeling studies and reviews; develops transportation control measures and other mobile source programs; provides technical guidance to industry and citizen groups and coordinates efforts with local, state, and federal agencies to establish effective clean air control programs; and assists small business in complying with air program requirements.

Bureau of Radiation Protection – Responsible for overseeing the regulation and inspection of users of radiation sources throughout the Commonwealth; conducts a comprehensive environmental radiation monitoring program; conducts a nuclear safety review and continuing evaluation of nuclear power plants; implements and maintains a comprehensive emergency radiological response program; administers statewide radon awareness and tester, mitigator and laboratory certification program; licenses users of radioactive material; registers X-ray machines; licenses facilities with medical and industrial accelerators; performs oversight of radiological decommissioning projects; supports the radiation monitoring of solid waste disposed and processed in-state; administers a program for monitoring the generation and disposal of low-level radioactive waste (LLRW); has the regulatory authority to license a LLRW storage, processing and disposal facility; and monitors activities related to the development of a national high-level radioactive waste (HLRW) repository and any transportation of HLRW and spent nuclear fuel through the Commonwealth.

Bureau of Environmental Cleanup and Brownfields – Develops and implements the Commonwealth's Land Recycling Program, Storage Tank Program and Hazardous Sites Cleanup Program; facilitates the redevelopment of brownfields and the clean-up of hazardous substances and petroleum from regulated storage tanks and other spills and releases to soil and groundwater; and establishes standards for the installation and use of aboveground and underground storage tanks and certifies third-party tank installers and inspectors.

OFFICE OF CHIEF COUNSEL

The Chief Counsel provides legal representation for all of the Department's programs.

Bureau of Regulatory Counsel – Responsible for the substantive review of Department regulations, policies, and procedures; legal comment on legislation introduced in the General Assembly and the U.S. Congress; the drafting of legislation which the Department wishes to advance; legal interpretation of state and federal statutes; development of delegation agreements; and the development and coordination of enforcement policy and mechanisms in conjunction with the field offices.

Regional Counsel – Counsel the Department's regional and district offices concerning enforcement and permitting, including inspections, search warrants, orders, civil penalty assessments, and Department decisions on permits, licenses, and plans. Regional counsel represent the Department in litigation before tribunals ranging from administrative agencies to appellate courts for actions taken by the regional and district offices.

General Law – Provides legal advice and representation in matters concerning Department administration, including bonding, collections, contracts and grants, labor and employment, real property, and Right-to-Know requests. General Law also provides the Office of Chief Counsel with information technology and paralegal support.

Bureau of Investigation – Assists in Department enforcement actions by conducting interviews with potential witnesses, directing sampling events, performing surveillance, executing search warrants, locating individuals and assets, serving documents, and conducting courthouse research. Assists the Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General with the execution of search warrants involving environmental matters.

CURT TOPPER

Secretary, Department of General Services

Curtis M. Topper, born Feb. 13, 1967, in Silver Spring, Md., son of Robert Topper and Mary Sue Bunting; The Lawrence Sch., 1985; Brown Univ. (A.B.), pol. sci., 1990; Carnegie Mellon Univ. (M. Phil.), pub. policy & mgmt., 1999; frmr. mgr.: DGS Supplies Strat.; frmr. Dep. Sec. Procure.: DGS; frmr. COO: Neiman Grp.; frmr. dir.: KPMG Shared Svcs. & Outsource. Adv.; frmr. v. pres.: Georgetown Univ. Purch. Contracts & Accts. Pay.; apptd. Secretary, Department of General Services Jan. 21, 2015; married Corinne; 2 children.

The Department of General Services (DGS) supports the core operations of Pennsylvania state government. DGS builds all non-highway Capital projects, procures nearly $4 billion of goods and services, serves as the real estate agent for state-owned land and leases, oversees the Commonwealth vehicle fleet, maintains all state-owned facilities, implements an energy-management and conservation initiative in all state-owned buildings, serves as the state's insurance broker, monitors participation in state contracts by small and small diverse businesses, manages federal and state surplus and supplies, and oversees the Capitol Police, Commonwealth Media Services, and the Bureau of Publications.

DGS was created by Act 45 of 1975. This legislation combined the duties of the Department of Property and Supplies and the General State Authority (GSA) to form the Department of General Services. (See GSA, this section.)

The Secretary of General Services, the chief executive officer, is appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the majority of the Senate. He is an ex-officio member of the governing bodies of the State Public School Building Authority and the Pennsylvania Higher Educational Facilities Authority. He is Insurance Broker of Record for the Commonwealth and Secretary to the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings.

The organizational units of the Department are grouped into six functional areas: executive, administration, procurement, property and asset management, public works, and diversity, inclusion & small business opportunities. These areas report to, respectively, the Secretary and the deputy secretaries for Administration, Procurement, Property and Asset Management, Public Works, and Diversity, Inclusion and Small Business Opportunities.

MISSION OF THE DEPARTMENT

To help government operate more efficiently, effectively, and safely; delivering exceptional value for all Pennsylvanians.

EXECUTIVE

Executive Office – Includes the Secretary's immediate staff, the departmental press secretary, and the legislative liaison. Also reporting to the Secretary are the following organizational units and the five departmental deputy secretaries: Administration, Procurement, Property and Asset Management, Public Works, and Diversity Inclusion & Small Business Opportunities.

Office of Chief Counsel – Assigned by the Governor's Office of General Counsel to serve as legal advisor to the Secretary and other Department personnel on department-related matters.

Office of Business Transformation – Collaborates with the department's deputes, bureaus, and offices to drive adoption and proficient use of lean thinking, principles, behaviors and tools in the department's daily operation.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR ADMINISTRATION

The Deputy Secretary for Administration oversees budget, and risk and insurance management, print and mail operations, real estate operations and media services. The deputy also serves as a liaison for human resources and information technology services centralized under the Office of Administration.

Bureau of Finance and Risk Management – Formulates and administers the departmental budget; manages the state's self-insurance and outsourced insurance programs; adjudicates, negotiates, and works to settle property and auto claims against the commonwealth; coordinates all budgetary and purchasing activities between the Department and the Governor's Office of the budget; processes all payments and fiscal closeouts for capital-funded design and construction.

Commonwealth Media Services – Centrally accommodates state agencies' public service messaging needs through audio, video, and photographic services, and operates the Capitol Media Center.

Bureau of Publications – Administers a centralized management program for government communications in the print medium, including publishing and printing; offers a range of graphic art, and desktop publishing services to all state agencies; offers digital printing services to all state agencies; offers engraving, large format printing, and banner services to all state agencies; compiles, edits, and designs the Commonwealth Telephone Directory and The Pennsylvania Manual; and serves as the central mail operations organization in providing courier delivery, mail metering and presort mail services.

Bureau of Real Estate – Negotiates and administers leases for state agencies not housed in state-owned facilities, such as State Police barracks, state liquor stores, and county boards of assistance. The Bureau also sells state surplus land, as specified by the Legislature.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR DIVERSITY, INCLUSION AND SMALL BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

The Deputy Secretary for Diversity, Inclusion and Small Business Opportunities serves as the senior public official to represent and advise the administration and the department on all matters related to the development of statewide policies and programs to substantially increase the participation of small diverse businesses (SDBs) and small businesses (SBs) in Commonwealth contracting and in Pennsylvania's overall economy.

Bureau of Diversity, Inclusion and Small Business Opportunities – Assists small businesses and small diverse businesses, including minority business enterprises, women business enterprises, veteran business enterprises, and service-disabled veteran business enterprises, in competing for Commonwealth contracting opportunities.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR PROCUREMENT

The Deputy Secretary for Procurement oversees the goods and services procurement, supplies and surplus, and the management of the Commonwealth's vehicle fleet.

Bureau of Procurement – The Commonwealth's central purchasing coordinator exercising control over the acquisition of supplies and services for state agencies. The Bureau coordinates the selection of bidders and awarding of contracts to vendors, develops standards and specifications for all materials and commodities purchased by state agencies, and offers technical advice to all state agencies.

Bureau of Supplies and Surplus Operations – Warehouses and distributes bulk supplies, including office supplies, forms, and automotive supplies. It is responsible for two distinct programs: the Federal Surplus Property Program, through which surplus federal property is available to eligible health, education, and civil defense organizations and government agencies; and the State Surplus Property Program, through which surplus state property is available to state agencies and school districts, or is sold to the public through auctions or private sales.

Bureau of Vehicle Management – Responsible for the centralized purchase, maintenance, inspection, registration, and disposition of all Commonwealth-owned motor vehicles, with the exception of PennDOT vehicles.

Commonwealth Agency Recycling Office – Coordinates the separation and collection of recyclable materials for state government. It works with state agencies and local governments to establish procedures to comply with the Municipalities Waste Planning, Recycling, and Waste Management Act and leads the effort to purchase and market recycled and environmentally preferable products.

Office of Enterprise Wireless Management – Oversees the commonwealth's efforts to monetize excess and underutilized capacity on commonwealth-owned wireless assets in support of the development, improvement, and expansion of digital telecommunications in Pennsylvania.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR PROPERTY AND ASSET MANAGEMENT

The Deputy Secretary for Property and Asset Management oversees property administration, police & safety, facilities & maintenance management and all real estate transactions for the Commonwealth.

Bureau of Police and Safety – Through the Capitol Police force, provides protection, security, and enforcement of order at the Capitol Complex and other buildings and grounds under the jurisdiction of the Department. The Fire and Accident Prevention Division inspects these facilities to ensure their compliance with the Fire Safety and Panic Act.

Bureau of Facilities Management – Responsible for minor maintenance projects; housekeeping operations in the Capitol Complex; the Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Reading, and Scranton State Office buildings; and the Executive residences.

Energy and Resource Management Office – Tracks energy consumption, and establishes and monitors policies, programs, and guidelines for Commonwealth facilities to ensure efficient building operations and maintenance.

GreenGov Council – Encourages the incorporation of environmentally sustainable practices into the Commonwealth's enterprise-wide policy, planning, operations, procurement, and regulatory functions.

Special Events Office – Schedules public events, demonstrations, news conferences, and other activities occurring in the Capitol Rotunda, Forum, and other locations within the Capitol Complex, and arranges for appropriate support services.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR PUBLIC WORKS

The Deputy Secretary for Public Works oversees every aspect of the planning, design, bidding and construction of the Commonwealth's $2.7 billion portfolio of non-highway capital projects in a professional, transparent and efficient manner to deliver innovative projects.

Bureau of Capital Projects Construction – Administers the selection of architects and engineers; solicitation and bid process for projects; the execution of construction contracts; and the capital planning process.

Bureau of Capital Projects Planning and Procurement – Creates an overall strategic facilities plan for all Commonwealth facilities, analyzes existing facility conditions and prioritizes capital projects.

Bureau of Capital Project Design – Focuses exclusively on managing the design phase of capital projects.

Office of Workplace Operations – Handles all aspects of Public Works' e-Builder software, fleet, travel, office purchases for all Public Works personnel and oversees the Job Order Contracting (JOC) program.

BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS

State Public School Building Authority (SPSBA)

The Authority is a public corporation and governmental instrumentality of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, created for the purpose of acquiring, financing, refinancing, constructing, improving, furnishing, equipping, maintaining, and operating buildings and other facilities and equipment for public schools, vocational/technical schools, community colleges, and educational broadcasting facilities.

Pennsylvania Higher Educational Facilities Authority (PHEFA)

PHEFA was created by the Act of December 6, 1967 (P.L. 678), for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, financing, improving, maintaining, and operating educational facilities for any nonprofit college or university within the Commonwealth.

The Pennsylvania Infrastructure Investment Authority (PENNVEST)

PENNVEST was established with borrowing authority of more than $1 billion. In addition to other duties, it took over the facilities and responsibilities of the Water Facilities Loan Board in the Department of Environmental Resources.

Governor's Green Government Council (GGGC)

The mission of the Governor's Green Government Council is to help state agencies lead the Commonwealth toward a goal of zero emissions to air, land, and water by having all Commonwealth employees routinely consider the environmental effects of their policies, practices, and daily actions at all levels of decision making.

Governor's Advisory Council on Diversity, Inclusion and Small Business Opportunities

The Governor's Advisory Council on Diversity, Inclusion and Small Business Opportunities advises the Governor's Office on state contracting and grant opportunities; job creation initiatives, financing and bonding programs, business assistance and professional development programs. The board include key agencies: the departments of General Services, Community & Economic Development, Transportation and Labor & Industry. In addition, small, minority, women, and veteran business owners, representatives of the LGBT community, Disability community, Commonwealth agency staff and other key stakeholders are on the council.

Joint Committee on Documents

The Committee administers the Commonwealth Documents Law and is responsible for the policy supervision of the Legislative Reference Bureau in connection with its publication of the Pennsylvania Bulletin and the Pennsylvania Code, which contains agency administrative regulations, court rules, and other official, non-statutory documents such as proclamations, executive orders, regulations, statements of policy, and notices having the force and effect of law.

Capitol Preservation Committee (CPC)

CPC supervises and coordinates the historic preservation of the State Capitol Building as well as the preservation and restoration of historical documents, artifacts, and other objects and resources located in or associated with the State Capitol Building.

Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings

The Board consists of the Governor and the State Treasurer. The Secretary of General Services serves as Secretary to the Board. The Board is responsible for final action on state lease negotiations, sale of Commonwealth-owned automotive equipment, purchases where there is an absence of competitive bidding, and claims by state agencies against the State Insurance Fund for loss or damage to state property. It was created by Sections 202 and 446 of the Administrative Code of 1929.

Architects and Engineers Selection Committee

The Selection Committee consists of five members appointed by the Governor to two-year terms. None of the members may be Commonwealth employees or elected officials. The membership consists of architects, engineers, or other persons knowledgeable in the field of building construction. The Committee reviews the work, experience, and qualifications of architects and engineers and submits three recommendations for each Capital Construction project to the Secretary of General Services. An appointment is made by the Secretary for each project. The Architects and Engineers Selections Committee was created in Act 45 of 1975 and amended by Act 57 of 1998. The frequency of Selections Committee meetings is determined by the release of projects for release by the Governor's Budget Office.

GENERAL STATE AUTHORITY

The General State Authority (GSA) was created by the Act of March 31, 1949, P.L. 372.

Under the 1949 Act, the Authority was created for the purpose of "constructing, improving, equipping, furnishing, maintaining, acquiring, and operating" a wide range of public works, including all state buildings, institutions, airports, state-aided schools, and municipal exhibition halls. Prior to 1968, GSA projects were financed by the sale of General State Authority Bonds. Thereafter, projects were funded by General Obligation Bonds.

The Act of July 22, 1975, No. 145 created the Department of General Services and transferred the powers and duties of the General State Authority to the new Department. The General State Authority was to remain in existence to oversee the retirement of all GSA Bonds.

In November 1988, the Authority placed sufficient funds in an escrow account to pay the principal and interest on all remaining bonds to maturity. On July 15, 1997, the final two Series of Bonds (28th and 29th) matured and were retired and, as stipulated by the GSA Act, the Authority thereby ceased to exist.

ALISON V. BEAM

Secretary, Department of Health

Alison V. Beam, born July 16, 1986, in Chambersburg, daughter of John and Carol Van Horn; Chambersburg Area Sch. Sr. H.S., 2004; Penn St. Univ., (B.S.) Schrever Honors, health policy admin, 2008; Drexel Law Sch. (J.D.), 2012; fmr. Deputy Chief of Staff; fmr. chief of staff, PID: Commonwealth of Pa.; fmr. dir., public pol. and regulatory cncl.: Independence Blue Cross; fmr. policy dir.: Commonwealth of Pa.; fmr. consultant: McBee Assoc.; apptd. Department of Health Secretary January 22, 2021; married: Andrew; 2 children.

The Department of Health (Department) has the duty and power to protect the health of the people. It has authority to enforce all statutes pertaining to public health for the prevention and suppression of disease and injury. The Department also works closely with local health agencies in cities, counties, and municipalities.

The Department was created by the Act of April 27, 1905, P.L. 312, and modified subsequently through the Administrative Code of 1929. Of recent significance, Act 87 of July 2, 1996, P.L. 518 removed the requirement that the Secretary be a physician; the Act also established the new position of Physician General.

DEPARTMENT MISSION AND CORE FUNCTIONS

The Department's mission is to promote healthy lifestyles, prevent injury and disease, and assure the safe delivery of quality health care for all people in Pennsylvania. It's vision is a healthy Pennsylvania for all.

STRATEGIC IMPERATIVES

- Communication – All our verbal and written communications are clear, concise, timely, culturally appropriate, thoughtful and effective. We ensure the mission and vision of the department are conveyed in meaningful terms appropriate for the audience with whom we are communicating.
- Accountability – We responsibly use human, financial, and environmental resources in an effective and efficient manner.
- Teamwork and collaboration – We work collaboratively internally and with other agencies and partners to engage together in opportunities to better serve our customers, serving as positive change agents.
- Competence and effectiveness – We rely on research, data, and evidence-based practices to make decisions and to implement initiatives, and support employee development that encourages workforce expertise and success.
- Quality – We successfully manage complexity and create strong work products by investing in the effectiveness of work teams and regularly engaging in self-development activities.
- Integrity – We are honest, ethical, and transparent in all actions. We always put the public good above all else.
- Respect – We strive to develop a culturally and emotionally literate workplace culture where all people are valued for their contributions as they work toward the agency's goals.
- Reliability – We are a trusted resource to other agencies, our internal and external partners, and the commonwealth at large.
- Customer service – We seek out and listen to customers' needs to develop ideas and solutions and provide information to our customers in a courteous and prompt manner.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES

Secretary – Serves as the chief executive officer of the Department, directing the Policy Office, Legislative Liaison Office, Communications Office, Intergovernmental Affairs Office, Operational Excellence Office, and Chief Counsel. The Secretary sets overall policy and direction; defines the Department's mission; establishes strategic goals; outlines specific objectives; prepares annual budgets for submission to the Governor; identifies priorities and accountability in fiscal matters; proposes initiatives to further Department objectives; and represents the Department and the administration before other state agencies, the Legislature, professional organizations, the health industry, community and stakeholder groups, consumers, and the general public.

Office of Communications – Develops and implements strategic communications for public health initiatives; disseminates information about the Department, its health programs, and related issues to the media and the public; issues press releases, answers inquiries, and arranges interviews, press conferences, and public events for the Secretary, Executive Deputy Secretary, and other staff as appropriate; oversees the publication of numerous health promotion and disease prevention materials; coordinates press and public education activity throughout the Department, including district and field offices; and serves as liaison between the Department and the Governor's Office on all facets of communications.

Policy Office – Coordinates strategic planning and policy development and evaluation for the Department; prepares policy analyses for the Secretary and assists in developing short and long-range planning and policy formation; and provides advice to the Secretary on the development and implementation of Department initiatives, working closely with the Governor's Office, General Assembly, and professional and citizen groups.

Office of Chief Counsel – Advises the Secretary of Health and senior staff on state and federal statutes, regulations, and other legal documents; provides policy input and counsel to assist the Secretary in carrying out the Department's mission and mandates in a lawful manner; represents the Department in courts of law and before regulatory agencies; and reviews proposed legislation for legality in conjunction with the Office of State and Federal Regulations.

Office of Legislative Affairs – Serves as liaison between the Department, the General Assembly, and, as appropriate, with the U.S. Congress in concert with the Governor's Washington Office, and assists in developing proposed legislation and in promoting health-related initiatives of the administration. The Office works with members of the Legislature, responding to inquiries on behalf of their offices and constituents and explains and promotes Department programs and policies.

Office of Intergovernmental Affairs – Serves as a liaison between the Department and local, state and federal stakeholders. The Office works with local legislators, community groups and other individuals, as well as assists in coordinating the boards and commissions of the agency.

Office of Operational Excellence – Leads and centralizes department-wide quality improvement and performance management—Lean Six Sigma activities, performance management system, quality improvement plan, and Unit-based Accountable Quality Teams; directs health plans development and implementation—state health assessment, state health improvement plan, PA Healthy Partnership, department strategic plan, public health accreditation management; leads Office of Health Equity—Public Health 3.0 model, health equity workforce training, PA Interagency Health Equity Team, and social determinants of health focused initiatives.

Boards and Commissions – Numerous boards provide advice and consultation to the Department. Members include a broad representation of health providers, consumers, and professionals. Several of these boards are listed below.

- Advisory Health Board – Responsible for approving rules and regulations necessary for the prevention of disease, immunization standards, and local health services (13 members).
- Cancer Control, Prevention, and Research Advisory Board – Advises the Secretary of Health on matters related to cancer; approves a yearly plan for cancer control, prevention, and research; and recommends the awarding of grants and contracts related to cancer control, prevention, and research (11 members).
- Drug, Device, and Cosmetic Board – Advises the Secretary on matters pertaining to the manufacture and distribution of drugs, devices, and cosmetics subject to the Controlled Substance, Drug, Device, and Cosmetic Act and the Generic Drug Law (11 members).
- Health Policy Board – Reviews rules and regulations prepared by the Department of Health and advises the Secretary on proposed regulations and the state health improvement plan. The Board also serves as an administrative hearing body for appeals of licensure decisions (13 members).
- Organ Donation Advisory Committee – Recommends education and awareness training programs and develops priorities for the expenditure of funds received from the Governor Robert P. Casey Memorial Organ and Tissue Donation Awareness Trust Fund (15 members).
- Pennsylvania Advisory Council on Drug and Alcohol Abuse – Advises the Secretary of Health on matters related to substance abuse and co-occurring issues as they impact the delivery of prevention, intervention, and treatment services (9 members).
- Health Research Advisory Committee – Obtains public input and makes recommendations to the Secretary of Health regarding research priorities and evaluation and accountability procedures, subject to the Tobacco Settlement Act (9 members).
- Tobacco Use Prevention and Cessation Advisory Committee – Collects and reviews information relating to tobacco use prevention and cessation and makes annual recommendations to the Secretary of Health regarding tobacco use prevention and cessation program priorities and evaluation procedures to approve primary contractors and service providers, subject to the Tobacco Settlement Act (8 members).
- Renal Disease Advisory Committee – Advises the Secretary of Health on standards for the Department's expenditure of state funds for the support of persons suffering from renal diseases (11 members).
- Hearing Aid Advisory Council – Advises the Department in regard to administering the Hearing Aid Sales Registration Law, 35 P.S. §5700-101 et seq. (8 members).
- Governor's Advisory Council on Physical Fitness and Sports – Enlists active community support to promote and improve physical fitness activities for all Commonwealth citizens (15 members).
- Office of Health Equity Advisory Committee – Advises the Department on matters concerning health inequalities and makes recommendations. (Membership is at the discretion of the Secretary.)
- Statewide Advisory Committee for Public Health Preparedness – Develops and fosters partnerships with the public health community to strengthen and enhance the Department's ability to prepare for, prevent against, respond to, and recover from any public health emergency or natural disaster (80 stakeholders).
- Medical Marijuana Advisory Board – Examines and analyzes the statutory and regulatory law relating to medical marijuana in Pa and the events in other state and the nation related to medical marijuana. Reviews and accepts written comments from individuals and organizations about medical marijuana. (15 members)

EXECUTIVE DEPUTY SECRETARY

The Executive Deputy Secretary manages the operations of the major programmatic functions of the department. The Executive Deputy Secretary directly supervises the Deputy Secretary for Health Preparedness and Community Protection, the Deputy Secretary for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention, the Deputy Secretary for Quality Assurance, the Deputy Secretary for Administration, the Deputy Secretary for Health Innovation, the Director for the Medical Marijuana Office, the Director of the Operational Excellence Office, the Director of the Intergovernmental Affairs Office, and the Office of Budget and Office of Procurement. Serves as principal advisor to the Secretary of Health on all matters relating to departmental program services, and formulates and publicly advocates policies related to all areas of the Department.

Medical Marijuana Office – The office oversees the implementation of Act 16 of 2016, Medical Marijuana Act. Duties include providing patient and caregiver certification for medical marijuana, registration of health practitioners, issuing of permits to growers and dispensers, and regulation of growing, processing, sale and use of medical marijuana in the commonwealth.

Office of the Budget – Serves as Chief Fiscal Officer for the Department. The Bureau prepares, monitors, and updates Department budgets; provides long-range fiscal, financial, and budget planning; and recommends budget priorities.

Office of Procurement - Is responsible for supplies and procurement,

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR HEALTH PROMOTION AND DISEASE PREVENTION

The Deputy Secretary for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention is responsible for developing and implementing a wide variety of educational, preventative and treatment programs for people of all ages. Bureaus within this area include: Women Infants and Children (WIC); Communicable Diseases; Family Health and Health Promotion and Risk Reduction. Additionally, the Office of Health Equity reports to the Deputy Secretary for Health Promotion and Disease Prevention.

Bureau of Communicable Diseases – Administers programs to control the spread of communicable diseases and to care for those already infected: coordinates statewide HIV/AIDS prevention and service programs through the Department's six district offices and seven regional community-based AIDS Coalitions; provides testing for tuberculosis and treats those infected, including the use of Direct Observed Therapy (DOT); and counsels and tests for sexually transmitted diseases (STDs). The Bureau also updates required immunization schedules to meet national standards, monitors school age populations, and develops programs to increase immunization levels in the Commonwealth.

Bureau of Family Health – Directs, coordinates, and monitors the implementation of preventive and other family health and nutrition-related programs. The Bureau contracts with local providers for services funded through Maternal and Child Health (MCH) programs and the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC). It also promotes wellness and healthy behaviors among women, infants, and children through broad-based community outreach and support programs.

Bureau of Health Promotion and Risk Reduction – Develops scientifically-based prevention strategies related to cardiovascular disease, cancer, osteoporosis, asthma, arthritis, diabetes risk, and injury through promotion of good nutrition, tobacco use prevention and cessation, sound oral health, physical activity, and general health education services. The Bureau provides screening services for early detection of breast and cervical cancer and collaborates with community-based educational programs about the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment options for chronic disease. The bureau also leads the Department's violence prevention efforts.

Bureau of WIC – Through WIC, pregnant women, mothers, and caregivers of infants and young children learn about good nutrition to keep themselves and their families healthy. WIC provides nutrition services, breastfeeding support, healthcare and social service referrals, and healthy foods to over 253,000 participants every month.

Office of Health Equity – The Office of Health Equity (OHE) was formally integrated into the Pennsylvania Department of Health through an executive order signed in May 2007. The role of the OHE is to: Provide leadership to increase public awareness of health disparities in Pennsylvania; advocate for the development of programs to address health disparities; work with policy makers, insurers, health care providers and communities to implement policies and programs that result in a measurable and sustained improvement in health status of underserved and disparate populations; and collaborate with state agencies, academic institutions, community based organizations, health partners, providers and others in the public and private sectors to eliminate health disparities in Pennsylvania.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR HEALTH RESOURCES AND SERVICES

The Deputy Secretary for Health Innovation implements strategies with the goal of improving health, healthcare delivery, and lowering costs. Bureaus include Health Planning, as well as Managed Care, and offices include Health Research, Health Innovation, and Prescription Drug Monitoring Program. The Deputy Secretary is also tasked with the creation and implementation of the Health Innovation in Pennsylvania (HIP) plan. HIP is a comprehensive, multi-stakeholder statewide initiative to improve the health of all Pennsylvanians by redesigning the way we pay for, deliver, and coordinate health and health care services, by focusing on issues such as Price & Quality Transparency, Rural Health, and Value-Based Payments. The plan includes strategies to advance population health, health information technology, and workforce development. Once implemented the plan will lead to better care, smarter spending, and healthier Pennsylvanians.

Bureau of Health Planning – The Bureau of Health Planning (BHP) consists of two divisions, the Division of Plan Development and the Division of Health Professions Development. The mission of BHP's Division of Plan Development (DPD) is to develop and promote strategies to improve the public's health, support the department in accreditation readiness, and provide comprehensive reports on population health status and health care workforce. The mission of BHP's Division of Health Professions Development (DHPD) is to improve primary medical and dental care service delivery and the distribution of the healthcare workforce in Pennsylvania to meet the needs of medically underserved populations.

Health Research Office – The Health Research Office (HRO) formulates and implements policies and procedures for the management, planning and implementation of the Commonwealth Universal Research Enhancement (CURE) program in accordance with Act 2001-77, the authorizing legislation for CURE, and administers the health research grant and contracts programs authorized by Act 2001-77 and the state legislature. HRO maintains and updates health research progress and performance reports, announcements, and research project summaries on the Department's CURE Web site. The office reviews draft legislation and analyzes impacts of legislation on the CURE program, and monitors the submission of audit reports defined by the CURE program requirements.

Drug Surveillance and Misuse Prevention – To help prevent prescription drug abuse and protect the health and safety of our community, Pennsylvania's Prescription Drug Monitoring Program (PA PDMP) collects information on all filled prescriptions for controlled substances. This information helps health care providers safely prescribe controlled substances and helps patients get the treatment they need. PA PDMP works in tandem with other commonwealth agencies and operates in accordance with Act 191 of 2014, the Achieving Better Care by Monitoring All Prescriptions (ABC-MAP) act.

Bureau of Statistics and Registries – Collects, analyzes, and disseminates a variety of health data to assist in planning, administering, and evaluating programs to improve the health status of Pennsylvanians. The Bureau also provides statistical support services to other units of the Department and to local health improvement partnerships; serves as the repository for vital records; and administers a health research program that awards tobacco settlement funds for biomedical, clinical, and health services research projects.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR QUALITY ASSURANCE

The Deputy Secretary for Quality Assurance assures the delivery of quality health care in most in-patient and out-patient health care facilities in Pennsylvania; approves building, engineering, and construction plans for these facilities; and certifies managed care organizations in conjunction with the Department of Insurance.

Bureau of Community Program Licensure and Certification – Licenses and regulates home health agencies, hospices, certain types of primary care facilities, and intermediate care facilities for persons with intellectual disabilities. The Bureau ensures compliance with state and federal regulations related to certification and Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement. The Bureau also regulates and licenses hearing aid dealers and fitters.

Bureau of Facility Licensure and Certification – Licenses and verifies compliance with state and federal health and safety standards in supervised health care facilities as mandated by law, including hospitals, nursing homes, certain primary care providers, and ambulatory surgical facilities. The Bureau conducts regular on-site surveys to assure health, safety, sanitation, fire, and quality of care requirements and to identify deficiencies that may affect state licensure or eligibility for federal reimbursements under the Medicaid and Medicare programs. It also manages a multi-year contract for the operation of the federally-mandated nurse aide registry and maintains a toll-free Complaint Hotline, where consumers can register complaints about healthcare facilities.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR HEALTH PREPAREDNESS AND COMMUNITY PROTECTION

The Deputy Secretary for Health Planning and Assessment is responsible for monitoring, tracking, and analyzing the health status of Pennsylvania communities. The Office manages the state laboratories and licenses independent clinical labs; supervises emergency medical services throughout Pennsylvania; and oversees epidemiological and statistical data collection, dissemination, and analysis. The Office is also responsible for the coordination and support of the Commonwealth's preparedness, response, recovery, and mitigation activities during public health emergencies.

Bureau of Epidemiology – Conducts epidemiological investigations of ongoing communicable and chronic diseases and cases of disease outbreaks. The Bureau offers professional advice on measures necessary to contain these diseases, develops and implements epidemiologic programs to address public health problems, advises individuals and political jurisdictions on matters of infectious and environmental health, and serves as a state contact for the Center for Disease Control and Prevention. The healthcare associated infection prevention section also falls under the Bureau of Epidemiology, which ensures compliance with the requirements of Act 52 of 2007 and provides consultation, technical assistance and guidance to hospitals, skilled nursing facilities, and ambulatory surgical facilities.

Bureau of Laboratories – Conducts ongoing clinical laboratory investigations into a wide variety of diseases and infections. It develops plans and assists in implementing strategies to detect, control, and treat diseases. The Bureau licenses 6,000 independent clinical labs throughout Pennsylvania and works cooperatively with other state, federal, and independent laboratories.

Bureau of Emergency Medical Services – Develops and coordinates emergency medical services (EMS) throughout the Commonwealth in concert with 16 regional councils and one statewide council. It licenses ambulance services to assure that they meet staffing and equipment standards, collects patient data from ambulance services and hospitals to improve the quality of care, accredits training institutes for EMS personnel and medical command facilities, and certifies emergency medical technicians (EMTs) and paramedics.

Bureau of Community Health Systems – Directs the provision of public health services to the citizens of the Commonwealth through six district offices and 60 county-based state health centers, including health promotion and education, immunization, and the monitoring, tracking, and control of communicable diseases. It oversees the coordination of similar programs with four city and six county health departments, other state and community agencies, professional groups, and community organizations.

Bureau of Emergency Preparedness and Response – Coordinates and supports the Commonwealth's preparedness, response, recovery, and mitigation activities to the public health and medical consequences of natural and man-made disasters and emergencies. The Office ensures that local, state, federal, and private entities are able to mount a unified, coordinated response with seamless interaction among all public health partners. It also coordinates preparedness and response planning, training, and exercise development.

MEG SNEAD

Secretary, Department of Human Services

Meg Snead; born in 1978 in Bryn Mawr, daughter of Lesley and Sean Costello; Radnor H.S., 1997; Univ. of South Carolina (B.A.), gov./intl. studies, 2001; Univ. of Colorado (M.A.), poli. sci., 2006; frmr. public policy mgr.: Colorado Coalition for the Homeless; frmr. exec. policy specialist: Pa. Dept. of Human Services; frmr. secretary and deputy policy sec.: Pa. Office of Policy and Planning, Office of Governor Tom Wolf; apptd. Secretary of Department of Human Services Apr. 17, 2021; married; 2 children.

The state Department of Human Services (DHS) administers a vast array of human-service programs, promotes local social services and planning activities, distributes federal and state funds to local agencies, and develops programs to respond to the human service needs of the Commonwealth's residents.

Annually, the budget for Department programs totals more than $36 billion – the largest among state agencies in Pennsylvania and one of the largest in the nation. Programs provide basic needs including cash, food, shelter, health care, heat, and job-funding assistance for individuals and families. The Department also provides treatment, care, and support services in state-operated facilities and in the community for people with mental illness and developmental disabilities as well as children and families.

The first Department of Welfare was established by the Act of May 25, 1921 (P.L. 1144). This legislation drew together in one agency activities previously performed by the Board of Public Charities, the Commission of Lunacy, the Prison Labor Commission, and others. The Administrative Code of 1929 further defined the powers of the new department.

Acts of June 24, 1937 (P.L. 2003 and P.L. 2015) established a Department of Public Assistance and centralized relief and money distribution elements of state government. These acts also established the 67 county boards of assistance.

The Act of July 29, 1953 (P.L. 1428) transferred supervision of penal and correctional institutions from the Department of Welfare to the Department of Justice.

The former departments of Welfare and Public Assistance became the Department of Public Welfare on June 1, 1958, as authorized by the Act of July 13, 1957 (P.L. 852). On September 24, 2014, House Bill 993 officially changed the name of the Department of Public Welfare (DPW) to the Department of Human Services.

Specialized institutions for juvenile offenders were established by the Act of November 21, 1959 (P.L. 1579). Also, restoration centers for older people were authorized by the Acts of June 19, 1964 (Special Session, P.L. 75 and 77). The legislative base for the Department's programs for people with mental illness and mental retardation was greatly expanded and codified by the Act of October 20, 1966 (Third Special Session, P.L. 96). All existing public welfare laws were consolidated and codified in the Public Welfare Code and Act of June 13, 1967 (P.L. 31), which has largely become the legal base of the Department's operation.

MISSION OF THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Human Services' mission is to assist Pennsylvanians in achieving safe, healthy, and productive lives, while being an accountable steward of commonwealth resources. The overall policy direction of the Department is toward helping people served by DHS programs achieve self-sufficiency, support opportunities for people to live independently and fully participate in their community, and modernize the health care delivery system to promote better long-term health outcomes and cost-efficiency in the Medical Assistance system.

Federal funds are employed to the greatest possible extent. Local, private, and public funds expand the impact of state appropriated dollars.

Citizen participation is an essential ingredient in helping the Department of Human Services to define service needs and develop programs to address these needs. DHS engages with partners at the community level and people receiving services to inform program needs and effectiveness.

EXECUTIVE

The chief executive of the Department is the Secretary of Human Services, who is responsible for overall policy and operation of programs and services.

Deputy Secretaries who have operational, program development, or management-support functions provide direction to the major activities of the Department. The areas of responsibility of the Deputy Secretaries include administration; income maintenance; medical assistance; mental health and substance use disorder; developmental programs; children, youth, and families; child development and early learning; and long-term living.

Program offices are responsible for statewide planning for their respective programs, policy and program development, implementation, monitoring, supervision, program evaluation, and the securing of resources through the state budget process and federal grants

Office of Press and Communications – Provides information about the Department to news-media outlets statewide and coordinates the dissemination of information and other promotional activities consistent with the Governor and Secretary's goals. It also advises the Secretary and Deputy Secretaries on media relations, speeches, public appearances, and the effect of policy decisions.

Office of Legislative Affairs – Provides the Secretary with information on actions under consideration by the Pennsylvania General Assembly and provides members of the Legislature with information about the Department's programs, policies, and regulations. The Office assists in coordinating and directing departmental initiatives with the Legislature and the Governor's Office of Legislative Affairs, answers legislative inquiries, and monitors legislative bills and the General Assembly's reaction to Department regulations.

Office of Legal Counsel – Provides legal advice to senior Department staff, drafts and reviews regulations and contracts, and represents the interests of the Department in administrative hearings, where appropriate, including the Bureau of Hearings and Appeals, the Civil Service Commission, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission, and related offices. It represents the Department, its officials, and employees in state and federal courts.

Office of Policy Development – Responsible for developing major policies within the Department consistent with the Governor's goals and objectives. The Office serves as the Secretary of Human Services' primary advisor regarding policy issues and strategic planning.

Office of Budget – The Office of Budget supports the department's budgetary needs. This includes assisting and ensuring sufficient budgetary support, including appropriate state and federal funding authority, for new programs or program changes.

EXECUTIVE DEPUTY SECRETARY

The Executive Deputy shares responsibility for overall management of the Department of Human Services with the Secretary, acting for the Secretary in his absence, and exercises line management control over the Department's major program offices with responsibility for the direction and coordination of comprehensive program planning, policy formulation, and implementation of statewide programs.

The Executive Deputy assists the Secretary with the establishment of departmental goals and objectives formulating administrative policies and procedures and providing guidance and technical assistance to the program offices in the interpretation, implementation, and evaluation of the Department's various programs.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR ADMINISTRATION

The Office of Administration provides a range of administrative support by way of Shared Services for Health and Human Services which is comprised of the Department of Human Services, the Department of Health, the Pennsylvania Department of Aging and the Department of Drug and Alcohol Programs. Shared Services for Health and Human Services strives to better serve the agencies' administrative needs by enabling staff to cross-train and support efforts across agencies and audit function, bridging gaps to smaller agencies in areas of procurement, and creating a single reporting structure to increase efficiency.

Shared Services for Health and Human Services allows for the delivery of quality services to customers through collaboration, consultation, and communication. The Office of Administration believes that the delivery of these services results in high satisfaction for our customers and valued employees, which is integral to a cohesive operation.

Several bureaus under the Office of Administration currently provide Shared Services. The Bureau of Financial Operations conducts performance audits of DHS programs and audit resolution activities, and establishes and maintains uniform standards to maximize the recovery of funds for the care provided at Commonwealth facilities serving people with mental illness and intellectual disabilities. The Bureau of Procurement and Contract Management is responsible for the overall coordination, strategic planning, and policy development for the Shared Services Agencies' contracting and procurement activities. The Bureau of Administrative Services is responsible for forms and publications, printing services and mailroom operations, signature authorization, agency records coordination, automotive fleet operations, the management of facilities and property, leasing and space, the surplus equipment warehouse, and environmental safety.

Outside of Shared Services, the Bureau of Administrative Services also manages the Guardianship Program, and has responsibility for emergency planning and continuity of operations.

Additionally, the Office of Administration oversees several bureaus that are not currently providing Shared Services. The Bureau of Program Integrity assists in the delivery of health care cost containment strategies and practices; and recovers cash and medical assistance claims against liable third parties, recipients, and probated estates. The Bureau of Hearings and Appeals conducts administrative hearings and adjudicates appeals of DHS-issued benefits, licensure activities, medical assistance provider enrollments and audit findings, Department of Aging actions, Office of Inspector General administrative disqualification hearings, and numerous other issues. The Bureau of Equal Opportunity ensures non-discrimination and equal opportunity in all activities conducted by DHS for employees, customers/recipients of services provided by the agency, human service providers who are licensed by the agency, residents in DHS-owned facilities, contractors who perform work for the agency, and the general public that interacts with DHS.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR INCOME MAINTENANCE

The Office of Income Maintenance is responsible for the administration and determination of eligibility for public assistance programs including cash assistance, Medical Assistance, Supplemental Nutritional Assistance Program (SNAP), Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), and employment and training services. This Office is also responsible for the supervision of the Title IV-D Child Support Enforcement Program, administered through cooperative agreements with the county commissioners and president judges of the County Courts of Common Pleas.

Income Maintenance Caseworkers determine eligibility for individuals and families for cash and other public assistance benefits at state operated county assistance offices across the Commonwealth. Caseworkers and contractors also provide job training, education, and support services to public assistance clients under the Road to Economic Self-Sufficiency through Employment and Training (RESET) program. The RESET program supplies clients with the skills they need to obtain employment and is available for cash assistance and SNAP recipients.

SNAP is a federally-funded program that distributes funds to purchase food to individuals and families with limited income and resources. The program is financed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture Food and Nutrition Service and is administered by the Office of Income Maintenance. Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF), a federal block grant program, is a temporary cash assistance program for families with children. The federally-funded LIHEAP program provides assistance for thousands of Pennsylvania households to help pay for winter heating bills each year. Medical Assistance, also known as Medicaid, is a joint state and federally-funded program that provides health care coverage for eligible individuals and families.

The Supplemental Security Income program is a cash assistance program administered by the federal government through the Social Security Administration for elderly, blind, and disabled people. Pennsylvania supplements the basic SSI grant with state funds. The Commonwealth funds the State Blind Pension program, which provides cash assistance for legally blind individuals whose income or resources exclude them from participation in the federal Supplemental Security Income Program.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR MEDICAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

The Office of Medical Assistance Programs oversees the joint state/federal Medicaid Program, providing access to comprehensive health care services for approximately 2.9 million Pennsylvania residents. Covered Medicaid services include inpatient hospital care; prescription drugs; home health care; outpatient psychiatric care; drug and alcohol clinic visits; and physician, dental, and other medical services and supplies. Individuals who may qualify include children under 21, certain adults including newly eligible adults under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA) as part of Medicaid expansion, pregnant women, some women with breast and/or cervical cancer, older adults 65 and older, and individuals with disabilities. Individuals must meet certain financial eligibility criteria to qualify, determined by an individual's category of assistance.

This Office is responsible for policy development related to services, provider participation and payment, enrolling qualified providers in the program, enforcing provider participation requirements, establishing payment rates or fees, monitoring and oversight, and management of claims processing systems. Most Medicaid enrollees receive their services through our Medicaid managed care program called HealthChoices, and the Office oversees the multiple physical health managed care organizations that provide physical health services. The Office also administers payments to those providers rendering services in the Fee-for-Service delivery system.

This Office also oversees Pennsylvania's eHealth program, and as of 2020, Pennsylvania's Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) which provides comprehensive health care coverage to approximately 186 thousand children under age 19 who are uninsured and not eligible for Medicaid.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR CHILD DEVELOPMENT AND EARLY LEARNING

This Office's mission is to provide families access to high quality services to prepare children for school and life success. The Office of Child Development and Early Learning (OCDEL) assures high quality early care and education opportunities for the Commonwealth's youngest citizens by using data, research and stakeholder guidance. The Commonwealth's commitment to early childhood education as an economic development and education strategy is strengthened through the leadership of this office. OCDEL, a joint office sponsored by the departments of Education and Human Services, enables efficient coordination of the Commonwealth's efforts to deliver effective, high quality early learning services to Pennsylvania's families and children, prenatal to age five and school-age child care.

The services of this Office align with the goals of giving all children a strong start to ensure progress in preparing the next generation of leaders, entrepreneurs, and innovators in Pennsylvania. OCDEL strives to build a strong foundation for children, starting prenatally, through the establishment of a statewide standard for excellence in early care and education, and the creation of financial and technical supports to actualize this goal. There are five bureaus that support OCDEL's mission: the Bureau of Early Learning Resource Center Operations, the Bureau of Certification Services, the Bureau of Policy and Professional Development, the Bureau of Finance Administration and Planning, and the Bureau of Early Intervention Services and Family Supports.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR CHILDREN, YOUTH, AND FAMILIES

The Department works collaboratively with county children and youth agencies and the juvenile courts to provide an array of services to vulnerable children and their families. The major emphasis is to assure that all children have an opportunity for safety, permanency, and well-being, preferably in their own homes. To accomplish this, county children and youth agencies make available services designed to strengthen families and assist parents in caring for their children. These services include counseling, homemaker services, life-skills education, and mental health services. If a child must be removed from his or her home, efforts are made to provide temporary care with close family or if needed with a foster family or small group home in a community setting similar to the child's own. Other placement options include institutional care for children in need of a more structured setting, and adoption for those children for whom a new family is to be legally obtained. The primary goal when a child is removed from their home is reunification whenever possible.

As part of our Juvenile Justice services, in all but the most serious criminal cases, the major thrust is to divert juvenile offenders away from institutionalization and imprisonment close to adult criminals. The Department directly operates residential programs in Youth Development Centers across the state and Youth Forestry Camps. In addition, it provides funding to county and private agencies for the operation of neighborhood group homes, day-treatment centers, and other community-based treatment programs.

Under the state Child Protective Services Act of 1975, the Department works to prevent child abuse and neglect whenever possible. When allegations of child and neglect are made, the county agencies respond quickly and professionally to assess the situation and provide needed services and supports. The Act requires professionals who work with children such as physicians, teachers, social-service professionals, and others to report instances of suspected child abuse to the Department for investigation either electronically through our website or through our toll-free ChildLine hotline (1-800-932-0313) which has been established to receive reports of child abuse and neglect on a 24-hour basis.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR MENTAL HEALTH AND SUBSTANCE ABUSE SERVICES

The Office of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services works to ensure that every individual served by the mental health and substance use disorder treatment and support systems will have the opportunity for growth, recovery, and inclusion in their community; have access to culturally competent services and supports of their choice; and enjoy a quality of life that includes family members and friends. Behavioral health services include community-based and hospital programs with a focus on helping children, adolescents, and adults to remain in their communities. Community-based services are emphasized to assist people who have serious mental illness or serious emotional disturbance to break the cycle of repeated hospital or residential admissions. The range of services includes outpatient, partial hospital, residential, short-term inpatient hospital care, emergency crisis intervention services, counseling, information, referral, and case management services.

Specialized intensive treatment services for individuals needing extended inpatient treatment are available at seven state hospitals where the goal is recovery and community integration. The Office also operates South Mountain Restoration Center, a nursing home that provides long-term care.

The Office also works to transform the children's behavioral health system to a system that is family-driven and youth-guided, implement services and policies to support recovery and resiliency in the Adult Behavioral Health System, and assure that behavioral health services and supports recognize and accommodate the unique needs of older adults.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR DEVELOPMENTAL PROGRAMS

Pennsylvania provides a broad range of support services to people with intellectual disabilities and autism.

The Office of Developmental Programs administers four home and community-based waivers for people of all ages with intellectual disabilities and autism and their families. Service include residential services, employment services, respite care, in-home supports, therapies, transportation and community participation services.

Customized services addressing the needs and requests of individuals and their families are recognized and incorporated into individual support plans to assure people are supported to lives "everyday lives." This person-directed approach of Pennsylvania's service system is recognized as one of the most progressive in the nation.

The Office of Developmental Programs also operates four state facilities throughout the Commonwealth that ensure quality health care; creative and meaningful individual programs; services and therapies; active treatment; and community integration in a safe, clean, and well-maintained environment.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR LONG-TERM LIVING

The Office of Long-Term Living (OLTL) is charged with oversight of the fiscal, policy, and program operations of the long-term living system for the elderly and adults over the age of 18 with physical disabilities.

The Office drives the system changes necessary to reform and rebalance the state's long-term care system and achieve the Governor's vision for long-term living, which is to offer consumers a choice in where they receive long-term living services, while providing high quality supports to individuals in an appropriate and cost-effective environment. The recent implementation of Community HealthChoices, a managed long-term services and supports delivery system, is helping achieve this goal around Pennsylvania. The Office offers an array of services, from community-based options that promote independence and self-direction to institutional services offered by nursing facilities. OLTL's work has already resulted in a more efficient, higher quality system that promotes long-term living system reform as the Commonwealth prepares to meet the demographic and fiscal challenges to meet the needs of those with physical disabilities, along with a growing aging population.

JESSICA ALTMAN

Insurance Commissioner

Jessica Altman: Cornell Univ. (B.S.), policy analysis and mgmt.; Harvard Univ. JFK Sch. of Gov't (M.S.), public policy; fmr. chief of staff: Pa. Insurance Dept.; fmr. policy analyst: US Dept. of Health and Human Svcs. Ctr. for Consumer Info. & Insur. Oversight; bd. mem.: ABC-MAP; mem.: Natl. Assn. of Insur. Comm. (NAIC); chair: Health Insurance and Managed Care Committee; apptd. Insurance Commissioner March 20, 2018.

The Insurance Department, established under the Act of Assembly of April 4, 1873, P.L. 20 and reorganized under the Insurance Department Act of May 17, 1921, P.L. 789, is responsible for administering the laws of the Commonwealth as they pertain to the regulation of the insurance industry and the protection of the insurance consumer. It ensures that the industry is responsive to the needs of the consumer by making available to the consumer reliable insurance coverage at reasonable rates.

EXECUTIVE

The Chief Executive of the Department is the Insurance Commissioner. The Commissioner executes the laws of the Commonwealth pertaining to the regulation of the insurance industry and the protection of policyholders by reviewing insurance rates and policies, monitoring financial conditions and operations of insurance companies, licensing insurance agents and brokers, and investigating and resolving policyholder complaints.

In addition, the Commissioner oversees the Medical Care Availability and Reduction of Error Fund; the Workers' Compensation Security Fund; and the Catastrophe Loss Benefits Continuation Fund. The Commissioner also serves as a member of the Medical Professional Liability Insurance Catastrophe Loss Fund Advisory Board, the Underground Storage Tank Indemnification Board, and the Anthracite and Bituminous Coal Mine Subsidence Board, to name a few.

Office of Chief Counsel – Under the supervision of the Chief Counsel, the Office is charged with providing legal advice to the Commissioner and Department and coordinating legal services to the Department with the Governor's Office of General Counsel. Lawyers are assigned to either the Department's regulatory program areas or to the liquidations and special funds area. The Department lawyers initiate actions to enforce Pennsylvania insurance laws and represent the Department in administrative proceedings and in state and federal courts. Department attorneys also review and draft proposed regulations and legislation. In the liquidations and special funds area, lawyers represent the Commissioner as statutory receiver for domestic insurers, which are placed in liquidation or rehabilitation by order of the Commonwealth Court. Attorneys also provide legal services on a variety of issues to special funds, including the Underground Storage Tank Indemnification Board.

Communications and Press Office – Directs and manages the Department's public information programs through proactive and reactive news media relations, consumer education awareness initiatives, social media campaigns and the development of consumer publications. In addition, the office maintains www.insurance.pa.gov and coordinates public speaking engagements and community event participation.

Legislative Liaison Office – Serves as liaison between the Pennsylvania General Assembly and the Department to coordinate the Department's legislative agenda, in addition to monitoring and analyzing legislation affecting the insurance industry. The Legislative Affairs staff works with legislators to resolve their constituents' insurance problems and responds to concerns of the General Assembly.

Policy Office – Conducts research, gathers data, and identifies trends to develop policy recommendations consistent with the Governor's Administration goals, and is responsive to the needs of the insurance industry and insurance consumers. The Office develops short-range goals and objectives and long-range strategic plans for the Department, which are consistent with priorities established by the Commissioner and Deputy Insurance Commissioners, and which are current with trends in insurance regulation.

Administrative Hearings Office – Receives filings, conducts hearings, and prepares adjudications in matters concerning insurance laws and regulations. Hearings are held on certain insurance policy terminations as well as many other types of cases. The majority of hearings are conducted at the main office in Harrisburg, with some hearings conducted in Philadelphia. All hearings are open to the public.

OFFICE OF LIQUIDATIONS, REHABILITATIONS, AND SPECIAL FUNDS

The Office of Liquidations, Rehabilitations, and Special Funds plans, coordinates, and directs a program to rehabilitate or liquidate financially troubled insurance companies, as well as maintains a list of estates discharged from rehabilitation or liquidation.

tion. Article V of the Insurance Department Act of 1921 requires the Commonwealth Court to appoint the Insurance Commissioner as Statutory Liquidator/Rehabilitator (Receiver) for Pennsylvania domiciled insurance companies ordered into liquidation or rehabilitation. The purpose of this statutory scheme is to protect the interest of Estate claimants by maximizing the assets of insolvent insurance companies and distributing them in a fair, efficient and cost-effective manner. The Office also administers the claims and manages the revenue collection and investment activities for the Catastrophic Loss Benefit Continuation Fund, Workers' Compensation Security Fund, and the Underground Storage Tank Indemnification Fund. The Bureau of Mcare, now a Special Fund, is charged with providing reasonably priced, excess medical malpractice coverage to Pennsylvania health care providers and eligible entities, to assure compliance with the Commonwealth mandatory insurance scheme, to establish a system to provide prompt adjudication of malpractice claims, and to determine fair and reasonable compensation to injured person.

OFFICE OF CORPORATE AND FINANCIAL REGULATION

The Office of Corporate and Financial Regulation monitors the financial condition of insurance entities transacting business in Pennsylvania by analyzing annual and quarterly financial statement filings and reviewing proposed financial transactions; supervises the formation of Pennsylvania insurance companies, risk-assuming preferred provider organizations, health maintenance organizations, associations, and exchanges; oversees the licensing of insurance companies from other states and foreign countries that want to write insurance in Pennsylvania; and licenses continuing care communities, insurance premium finance companies, reinsurance intermediaries, managing general agents, and third-party insurance administrators. The Office also reviews numerous types of corporate filings relating to domestic insurance companies, including amendments of corporate charters, agreements of mergers or consolidations, transfers of assets, re-domestications to and from Pennsylvania, management contracts, filings for approval of changes in control of domestic insurers, corporate restructurings, and mutual-to-stock conversions.

OFFICE OF MARKET REGULATION

The Office of Market Regulation is responsible for researching and resolving consumer complaints; testing and licensing more than 298,000 insurance producers, public adjusters, surplus lines agents, limited lines producers and motor vehicle physical damage appraisers in the Commonwealth. Through investigations and market conduct examinations, the Office looks into alleged violations and enforces statutes and regulations pertaining to insurance producers, companies, and other licensees. Additionally, the Office of Market Regulation serves consumers by investigating complaints, educate consumers on their insurance issues through outreach events, and providing assistance at Disaster Recovery Centers.

OFFICE OF INSURANCE PRODUCT REGULATION AND ADMINISTRATION

The Office of Insurance Product Regulation is responsible for regulating insurance rules, rates charged and policies and related forms sold in Pennsylvania for accident, annuity and health, life, and property and casualty insurance. The Office ensures insurance rates are not excessive, inadequate, or unfairly discriminatory and that insurance policies and related forms comply with Pennsylvania statutes and regulations through its review, approval, and disapproval of approximately 10,000 insurance rate and form filings each year. The Office also licenses rating organizations, oversees medical professional liability self-insurance and promulgates data calls and statistical reports. The Office monitors and administers the 1332 Reinsurance Waiver program, maintains filing checklists, reviews policies and related forms issued in the large group market and offers guidance to the insurers for the Affordable Care Act (ACA) which includes stand-alone dental plans, Student health, and Small Business health insurance rate and form filings.

JENNIFER L. BERRIER

Secretary, Department of Labor & Industry

Jennifer L. Berrier, born in 1980 in Ellensburg, WA, daughter of Larry and Kimberly Berrier; Red Land H.S., 1998; York Coll. of Pa. (B.A.), poli. sci., magna cum laude, 2002; Widener Univ. (J.D.), 2006; frmr. Acting Secretary, Deputy Secretary, Bureau Dir., Asst. Counsel: Pa. Dept. of Labor & Industry; apptd. Secretary of the Department of Labor & Industry June 22, 2021.

The Department of Labor & Industry (L&I) employs more than 4,200 workers in 140 offices statewide. Established in 1913, the Department originally inspected the working conditions in factories around the state. Over time, the Department's responsibilities expanded.

L&I administers benefits to unemployed individuals, oversees the administration of workers' compensation benefits to individuals with job-related injuries, and provides vocational rehabilitation to individuals with disabilities. The Department prepares job seekers for the global workforce through employment and job training services for adult, youth, older workers, and dislocated workers. In addition, L&I enforces various laws and safety standards in the workplace and administers the Commonwealth's programs for community service by young Pennsylvanians.

L&I also promotes economic development and an improved business climate through a variety of initiatives and programs to help Pennsylvania's workforce remain world-class and globally competitive.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE

The Department Secretary is appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The Secretary is assisted by five deputies and an executive director. Several Department agencies report directly to the Executive Deputy Secretary:

Chief Counsel – Provides legal advice and support to the Secretary and senior department staff; drafts and reviews legislation, regulations, and contracts; and represents the interests of the Department, its officials, and employees in state and federal courts, and in administrative hearings where appropriate.

Press Office – Provides information on L&I activities and policy to representatives of the news media and members of the public, responds to queries and initiates public information programs, and generates or coordinates the development of informational materials that facilitate communications within or outside the Department.

Legislative Affairs – Monitors legislative activity affecting the Department, works with the Secretary and deputies to develop departmental legislative activity, and coordinates inquiries from legislators on behalf of their constituents.

Office of Policy, Planning, and Development – Develops long-range goals and new policies and programs through a strategic planning process, coordinates efforts within the Department and with other public and private agencies, evaluates and identifies solutions to problems, and assists in the budget and legislative processes.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

Bureau of Workforce Development Administration (BWDA) – BWDA is responsible for performing program monitoring and oversight of federal and state workforce programs funded by the Workforce Investment Act, the Wagner-Peyser Act, the Trade Act, and the Jobs for Veterans Act, and other federal and state legislation for Pennsylvania adults, dislocated workers, and youth. Additionally, BWDA coordinates and administers workforce-related grants and fiscal functions.

Bureau of Workforce Partnership and Operations (BWPO) – BWPO is tasked with providing workforce program technical guidance and supports the delivery of employment and training services as a partner in the statewide network of one-stop PA CareerLink® centers. This partnership role with the Local Workforce Investment Areas provides universal access, for job seekers and employers, to employment and related services including the public labor exchange and related programs. BWPO also provides Rapid Response services across the state, to assist workers and employers affected by mass layoffs and plant closings. Additionally, BWPO Rapid Response staff coordinate with the BWDA to obtain any additional federal or state aid in response to these emergencies.

Center for Workforce Information and Analysis (CWIA) – CWIA is the state's designated labor market information shop. CWIA produces timely, objective, and credible workforce and economic statistics and analysis to help customers make informed policy, business, and career decisions that strengthen Pennsylvania's economic security. CWIA is also the state's Bureau of Labor Statistics counterpart, maintaining five federal-state cooperative programs. Through these programs, CWIA produces Pennsylvania-specific data on unemployment rate, jobs, wages, occupation, and industry employment, etc. With 90 professional statisticians and data analysts on hand, CWIA is Pennsylvania's leading source of innovative labor market information, research, and outreach for workforce and economic development.

Pennsylvania State Workforce Investment Board (PA WIB) – PA WIB is the Governor's employer-driven workforce development advisor for programs and policies under the authority of the Workforce Investment Act, and serves in an advisory capacity for the implementation of the Governor's workforce development strategy. In addition, the PA WIB works to build consensus at the statewide level and partners with Local Workforce Investment Boards to do the same at the local level.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION PROGRAMS

This Office is responsible for programs that provide benefits to the jobless and that ensure a Pennsylvania workforce ready to meet the challenges and opportunities of a changing economy in cooperation with job training and placement services.

Office of Unemployment Tax Services – Finances the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation system through unemployment compensation tax contributions from employers (as required by state and federal law, and when necessary, from workers).

Office of Unemployment Compensation Service Centers – Responsible for the coordination and administration of unemployment compensation services statewide.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR SAFETY AND LABOR-MANAGEMENT RELATIONS

Office of Labor-Management Cooperation – Works to encourage cooperative relationships between workers and management in plants, schools, and other places of work; acts as a source of technical information; maintains a network of labor-management innovators; and promotes workplace cooperation by, among other activities, highlighting successful cooperative programs in Pennsylvania.

Bureau of Labor Law Compliance – Responsible for the administration, education, and enforcement of labor laws including Prevailing Wage, Minimum Wage, Child and Seasonal Farm Labor, Equal Pay and Wage Collection, and Apprenticeship and Training. The Bureau provides employers and employees with educational outreach seminars, conducts investigations and resolves disputes when complaints are received, establishes and enforces prevailing wage rates and classifications for public construction projects with estimated total costs more than $25,000, and provides for the registration of Standards of Apprenticeship and Training to safeguard the welfare of apprentices while meeting the expanding needs of Pennsylvania's businesses and employers. The Bureau is also responsible for enforcing the Underground Utility Line Protection Act (PA One Call).

Bureau of Mediation – Mediates disputes between unions and employers in the public sector under Act 195, and the private sector under the Mediation Act of 1937; furnishes names of arbitrators for arbitration panels upon the request of either party to a collective bargaining agreement under Act 195; provides grievance mediators upon request; and encourages cooperative relationships between workers and management in plants, schools, and other places of work.

Bureau of Occupational and Industrial Safety – Administers and enforces the Uniform Construction Code for commercial projects in opt-out municipalities and for all state-owned facilities and the General Safety Law. Among other duties, the Bureau ensures safety standards for elevators, boilers, liquefied petroleum gas installations, storage of flammable and combustible liquids, bedding and upholstery articles, and stuffed toys. It also licenses private employment agencies, accredits asbestos and lead-based paint removal training courses, and certifies asbestos and lead-based paint worker occupations Uniform Construction Code officials, and third-party inspection agencies.

Bureau of Disability Determination – Assists the federal Social Security Administration in determining whether applicants are eligible for federal disability benefits under the Social Security law. The Bureau reviews applications and medical evidence before making an initial determination of eligibility.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR ADMINISTRATION

This Deputate is responsible for several programs, PennSERVE, the State Monitor Advocate Office, and the Unemployment Compensation Tax Review Office, that support the Department's services to workers, employers, the public, and L&I employees, and oversees the operations of the Department's offices of Equal Opportunity and Information Technology as well as the bureaus of Human Resources and Administrative Services.

PennSERVE – Encourages Pennsylvanians of all ages – especially youths – to perform service of value to the community and offers technical assistance for those wishing to start such programs. PennSERVE also develops the state plan under the National and Community Service Act of 1990.

Unemployment Compensation Tax Review Office – Administers the unemployment compensation tax appeal system on behalf of the Secretary of Labor & Industry. Through this second-level appeal system, the Unemployment Compensation Tax Review Office conducts independent reviews of determinations made by the Office of Unemployment Compensation Tax Services.

Office of Equal Opportunity – Develops, implements, and maintains a departmental program to aid in representation of minority, female, and disabled employees throughout the Department's workforce. Also, it investigates and resolves discrimination, equal opportunity, and contract compliance complaints involving the Department.

Office of Information Technology – Links Labor & Industry's information technology strategies, technologies, and plans to those of the Governor. Principal functions include strategic planning, departmental information management, telecommunications, policy development and governance, oversight and guidance, technical research, financial development for Information Technology projects, and Information Technology consulting services.

Bureau of Human Resources – Assists management in recruiting, hiring, developing, supporting, and retaining qualified employees and maximize their productivity, as well as assists management in aligning the organization in support of the Department's critical functions.

Bureau of Administrative Services – Provides Department-wide administrative support services including graphic arts, duplication, parking, contract management, maintenance, mail and messenger services, equipment and supply control, warehousing, property management, and management services.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR FOR OFFICE OF VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION

Office of Vocational Rehabilitation – Assists individuals with disabilities secure or maintain employment and independence.

Vocational Rehabilitation Services – Provides individualized services such as counseling and guidance, job training, and physical restoration to eligible individuals with disabilities to help them get or keep a job. It also provides services to businesses who want to hire or retain workers with disabilities.

Hiram G. Andrews Center – A 24/7 state-owned and operated training/education facility, located in Johnstown, designed to offer individualized post-secondary education, career opportunities, and independent life skills to adults with disabilities (physical disabilities, cognitive disabilities, sensory disabilities, etc.).

Office for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing – Provides information, referral, and advocacy to people who are deaf or hard of hearing, and serves as a liaison to the government for the deaf community. It also administers the interpreter statute, which requires minimum standards for interpreters and registration.

Blindness and Visual Services – Provides a variety of specialized, rehabilitative, and prevention of blindness services, including rehabilitation teaching, orientation and mobility instruction, vocational rehabilitation, business enterprises, specialized services, and independent living to Pennsylvanians who are blind or visually impaired.

Independent Living and Assistive Technology – Administers programs that increase access to independent living services and the proliferation of assistive technology through contracts and grants with statewide and local non-profit agencies.

DEPUTY SECRETARY FOR COMPENSATION & INSURANCE

This Office is responsible for several programs that assist those injured on the job.

State Workers' Insurance Fund (SWIF) – Provides workers' compensation insurance and employers' liability to both public and private sector employers, including those refused policies by private insurance firms. The SWIF is subject to underwriting rules, classifications, and rates which are promulgated by rating bureaus and approved by the State Insurance Commissioner. Overseeing operations is the State Workers' Insurance Fund Board.

Bureau of Workers' Compensation – Administers the Workmen's Compensation and Occupational Disease Law to assure that proper benefits are paid to injured workers or their dependents. These functions include the regulation of insurer and self-insurer claims handling. This Bureau has the authority to prosecute employers or carriers who fail to comply with the provisions of the Act. By reviewing all claim documents concerning compensation, the Bureau monitors the compliance feature of the law. In addition, the Bureau provides information to injured employees on their rights under the Act and operates a toll-free telephone service to respond to questions concerning the law.

Workers' Compensation Office of Adjudication – Administers the dispute resolution process for injured workers and their employers. A petition may be filed with the Bureau for adjudication before a workers' compensation judge. In addition, the judges preside over mediations that may be required or voluntarily requested.

Workers' Compensation Appeal Board – Serves as recourse for employers and injured workers who choose to appeal the decisions of the Workers' Compensation Office of Adjudication.

BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS

State Unemployment Compensation Advisory Council – 19 members, including the Secretary of Labor & Industry as chair; 14 appointed by the Governor; and the Chair and Minority Chair of the Senate and House Committees on Labor and Industry and Labor Relations Office. Members receive reimbursement for expenses.

Industrial Board – Six members, five appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The Secretary of Labor & Industry is an ex-officio member and chair. Members receive reimbursement for expenses and per diem compensation.

Labor Relations Board – Three members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate; the Governor designates the chair. Salaries are determined by the Executive Board. The Board administers the Public Employee Relations Act of 1970 (Act 195) governing labor relations between public employees and their employers; Act 88 of 1992: the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Act of 1937 which covers small private sector employers over which the National Labor Relations Board does not exercise jurisdiction; and since 1977, Act 111 of 1968 which regulates bargaining between police officers and firefighters and their public employers.

In implementing these statutes, the Board conducts formal hearings and renders decisions on representation disputes and unfair labor practice charges, conducts elections to determine if employees desire union representation, and in certain public sector cases, may appoint fact finders to help resolve bargaining impasses and may assist in the selection of arbitrators to resolve contract disputes.

State Rehabilitation Board – 11 members; Secretary of Labor & Industry as chair and 10 appointees of the Governor with the Executive Director of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation ex-officio. Members receive reimbursement for expenses.

State Apprenticeship and Training Council – 11 members appointed by the Governor, and one ex-officio members. The Council examines and approves apprenticeship programs and issues journeyman certificates upon completion of such training. Members receive per diem compensation and reimbursement for expenses.

Unemployment Compensation Board of Review – Three members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate; the Governor designates the chair. Salary: chair-$14,000; members-$13,000. The Board hears appeals of decisions made on unemployment compensation eligibility. The referees decide appeals on unemployment compensation determinations at hearings and the Board independently reviews the appeals made from the referees' decisions.

Workers' Compensation Appeal Board – At least three members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate; the Governor designates the chair; Secretary of Labor & Industry, ex-officio. Salaries are set by the Secretary and approved by the Governor. The Board hears appeals on decisions of workers' compensation referees concerning claims for compensation for occupational injuries and diseases and renders decisions on petitions by claimants and insurers affecting compensation agreements.

State Workers' Insurance Fund Board – Three members: the State Treasurer, the Insurance Commissioner, and the Secretary of Labor & Industry, who serves as chair.

Governor's Community Service Advisory Board – 25 members appointed by the Governor; Secretary of Labor & Industry sits as Presiding Officer responsible for selecting the chair of the Board. The Board works with PennSERVE: Governor's Office of Citizen Service to develop a statewide plan for the expansion of community service opportunities. The Board also monitors existing community service programs and forms partnerships with other organizations, public and private, to create new programs.

The Adjutant General's Office, established by the Act of April 11, 1793, is the headquarters of the Dept. of Military and Veterans Affairs, which is an administrative agency under the Governor's jurisdiction. The primary duties of The Adjutant General are the administration, organizing, training, and commanding of the Pennsylvania National Guard, six state-owned Veterans' Homes, and programs for Pennsylvania's nearly 800,000 veterans. Serving under The Adjutant General are an Executive Deputy Secretary, three Deputy Adjutants General (one each for Army, Air, and Veterans Affairs) as well as a Deputy for Administration and a Deputy for Facilities and Engineering.

THE PENNSYLVANIA NATIONAL GUARD

The Guard traces its origins to the "Associators," a militia company organized by Benjamin Franklin in 1747.

The militia existed as an informal service until the Revolutionary War made it obvious that a more formal regulation of the militia was needed. In 1793, when Governor Thomas Mifflin created the Department of Military Affairs (as it was known until 1996), he directed it to provide a "new system for the regulation of the militia." The force continued to be called "militia" until the Legislature changed the name in 1870 to "National Guard."

As his first Adjutant General, Gov. Mifflin chose another Revolutionary War hero, Colonel Josiah Harmar, a Philadelphia native, who was promoted to brigadier general.

Throughout the 19th century, the Pennsylvania militia was called upon many times to quell domestic disturbances. When the Pennsylvania State Police was created in 1905, it became the primary force to enforce civil order at home.

The Guard's experiences with civil disturbances after the Civil War convinced authorities that the system that had evolved over the years resulted in too many undermanned divisions as it was top heavy with officers and unevenly trained and equipped. In 1878, the Legislature voted for a new force structure that effectively reorganized the Guard into one division. The following year, the Pennsylvania Division was organized. It remains the Army's oldest division and was renamed the 28th Infantry Division in 1917. Today, it is a heavy infantry division.

The Guard's first aviation unit was created in Reading in 1921. In 1947, the Air Guard became a separate entity within the National Guard.

Today, 17,000+ Soldiers and Airmen of the PA National Guard make up all types of units – infantry, armor, cavalry, field artillery, engineer, military police, communications, maintenance, transportation, aviation, finance, and public affairs – which fall into these major components: 28th Infantry Division, 213th Regional Support Group, Joint Force Headquarters, Eastern Army National Guard Aviation Training Site, 166th Regional Training Institute, the 111th Attack Wing, the 193rd Special Operations Wing, and the 171st Air Refueling Wing.

In a time of national emergency or at other periods when authorized by law, the President of the United States orders units of the PA Army and Air National Guard into active military service. Starting with its militia predecessors, elements of the PA National Guard have taken part in every conflict in which the United States has been engaged: the French and Indian Wars, the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Mexican-American War, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, both World Wars, the Korean War, the Vietnam War, the Gulf War, Panama, Haiti, the Balkans, Southwest Asia, Afghanistan, Iraq, and Libya.

When not in the service of the United States, the National Guard is a state force, the command of which is vested in the Governor as commander-in-chief.

The Adjutant General designates area responsibilities in the event the PA National Guard, Army or Air, is ordered to state active duty by the Governor for deployment in emergency situations within the Commonwealth. During such periods, the command and employment of National Guard forces is exercised through the Adjutant General.

Established in 1993, the Guard also has a military-to-military partnership with the Baltic Republic of Lithuania, working to develop its armed forces under civil authority.

OFFICE OF VETERANS AFFAIRS

The Office is responsible for the administration and management of all veterans' programs and the Pennsylvania Veterans' Homes within the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs. The Office of Veterans Affairs, by legislative mandate, is the official liaison between federal, state, and local government agencies on all matters concerning veterans' benefits. The Adjutant General administers the Office of Veterans Affairs through the Deputy Adjutant General – Veterans Affairs. There are six Pennsylvania Veterans' Homes located through the Commonwealth which provide individualized long-term health care to qualified PA veterans and their spouses. The Adjutant General, through the Office of Veterans Affairs, is responsible for management of the Homes. In accordance with 51 PA Cons. Stat. 704, a 15-member Advisory Council is established for each Veterans' Home operated by the Commonwealth, which advises The Adjutant General as to the management, operation, and services at their respective Home.

Pennsylvania Soldiers' and Sailors' Home – Located in Erie, authority of the State Legislature P.L. 62 established this Home June 3, 1885. The Home's capacity is 207 beds: 75 nursing care beds, 80 personal care beds, 20 domiciliary beds, and a memory care unit with 32 beds.

Hollidaysburg Veterans' Home – Located in Hollidaysburg, this Home was established by authority of the State Legislature P.L. 211 Sept. 28, 1976. The Home's capacity is 424 beds: 231 nursing care beds, 101 personal care beds, 66 domiciliary beds, and a memory care unit with 26 beds.

The beds are expected to open in August of 2021.

BENEFITS PROGRAMS

The Bureau of Veterans Programs, Initiatives, Reintegration, and Outreach (PIRO) holistically connects Pennsylvania's service members, veterans, and their families to local, state, and federal benefits, programs, and recognition they have earned.

Veterans Temporary Assistance Program – Provides temporary financial aid in an emergency to veterans and their surviving spouses, who reside in Pennsylvania and have a sudden unexpected need for temporary assistance to acquire the necessities of life (food, shelter, fuel, clothing, and medical expenses) under specified conditions. The maximum benefit that may be paid in one 12-month period is $1,600.

Military Family Relief Assistance Program – The Pennsylvania Military Family Relief Assistance Program provides emergency assistance to eligible service members and eligible relatives of eligible service members. The Program is established to provide emergency assistance grants to families of persons who are residents of Pennsylvania and members of the U.S. Armed Forces.

Educational Gratuity Program – Payment of educational gratuities are for children of honorably discharged veterans who have been certified by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (USDVA) as having wartime service-connected disabilities rated as total and permanent, or children of veterans who have died of war service-connected disabilities or died in service during a period of war or armed conflict under specified conditions. Payment will not exceed $500 per term or semester per qualified child to each approved educational institution upon submission by that approved educational institution of proof of matriculation of the applicant. The student must be between the ages of 16 and 23 and be a resident of the Commonwealth five years prior to attending school. The school must be within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Disabled Veterans' Real Estate Tax Exemption Program – Any honorably discharged, 100 percent service-connected, permanently disabled veteran with wartime service who is a resident of the Commonwealth shall be exempt from the payment of all real estate taxes levied upon any building, including a maximum of five acres of land upon which it stands, occupied by the veteran as a principal dwelling, under specified conditions providing they demonstrate financial need. Applicants with an annual income of $88,607 or less are given rebuttable presumption to have a need for the exemption. The exemption must be renewed every five years.

Blind Veterans Pension – Provides for a pension of $150 per month for a person who served honorably in the military of the United States or women's organization officially connected therewith, who gave the Commonwealth as his/her place of residence when entering the military and while performing duties connected with the service suffered an injury or incurred a disease, which resulted in loss of vision under specified conditions.

Amputee and Paralyzed Veterans Pension – Provides for a pension of $150 per month for a person who served honorably in the military of the United States or women's organization officially connected therewith, who gave the Commonwealth as his/her place of residence when entering the military and while performing duties connected with the service suffered an injury or incurred a disease, which resulted in an injury or disease resulting in the loss or loss of use of two or more extremities with a minimum rating by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs of 40% for each of the two limbs.

Disabled American Veterans Transportation Program – Provides appropriations that are disbursed quarterly for the purchase of vans to transport veterans to their appointments to USDVA facilities. The DAV agrees to provide needed transportation for veterans seeking services from a VA Healthcare Facility. Veterans receive this assistance through services coordinated by the Hospital Coordinator (HSC) at the VA Medical Center (VAMC). The HSC schedules the transportation network and provides transportation using DAV-donated vans driven by volunteer drivers.

Burial Details for Veterans – Provides for a payment of $150 per day for an Honor Detail to be present at the internment of veterans at Indiantown Gap, Cemetery of the Alleghenies, and Washington Crossing National Cemeteries. Applications for payment are submitted through the Pennsylvania War Veterans Council.

Grants to Veterans' Service Officer Programs – On December 12, 2007, Senate Bill 915, PN 1436 was signed into law as Act 66 of 2007. The law established a new Veterans' Service Officer Grant Program for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The PA Department of Military and Veterans Affairs (DMVA) administers this program through the Office of the Deputy Adjutant General for Veterans' Affairs.

Driver's License Veteran Designation - PennDOT to issue a Pennsylvania driver's license or identification card that clearly indicates that the bearer is a veteran of the United States Armed Forces. This has been accomplished by creating an icon consisting of the American Flag with the word "VETERAN" beneath it for placement on the front of the bearer's driver's license or identification card. The programmatic responsibility transferred to PennDOT with the enactment of Act 74 of 2020.

Veterans' Trust Fund Grant Program – The Veterans' Trust Fund (VTF) was established in 2012 by Pennsylvania law (51 Pa. C.S. § 1721). The VTF is a special, non-lapsing fund of the Pennsylvania State Treasury. The Department of Military and Veterans Affairs is authorized to solicit and accept donations to the VTF on behalf of the Commonwealth. The mission of the VTF is to assist and support Pennsylvania veterans and their families. The VTF issues grants to statewide charitable organizations that assist veterans, veteran service organizations and County Directors of Veterans Affairs. The VTF provides the funding for the Veterans Temporary Assistance (VTA) program.

Military Records Request Program – The Department of Military and Veterans Affairs stores DD 214/215 discharge documents received from the Department of Defense for Pennsylvania veterans. The DD 214/215 provides the member and the service with a concise record of a period of service with the Armed Forces at the time of the member's separation, discharge, or change in military status.

PA VETConnect - Our regional, community-based outreach initiative is both unique and agile and demonstrates our commitment to leading veteran advocacy within the Commonwealth. We recognize that the Commonwealth is diverse in geography, economic capability and population. The relationships being built by the department with, and between, federal, state, and local veteran advocates are helping to break down silos, increase awareness of services, promote cross-agency communication, and educate veteran advocates on resources that can address the unmet needs of our service members, veterans, and their families. Learn more at www.dmvpa.gov/vetconnect.

Pennsylvania Veterans' Registry – The Veterans' Registry was created to connect Pennsylvania veterans to state and federal benefits and programs to which they are entitled. Pennsylvania's goal is to create a proactive process to ensure veterans receive the benefits and support they may need. The information in the Registry assists DMVA in referring veterans to all of Pennsylvania's programs and services. Additionally, veterans can sign up for the DMVA Digest, the Department's weekly electronic newsletter. Learn more at www.register.dmvpa.gov.

PENNSYLVANIA ARMY NATIONAL GUARD (PAARNG)

The Pennsylvania Army National Guard plays an important role in the nation's defense and supporting the Commonwealth in times of need, with approximately 13,600 members assigned. Pennsylvania National Guard members have participated in every conflict America has faced, from the Revolutionary War through Operations Enduring Freedom, Iraqi Freedom, New Dawn, Enduring Resolve, and Inherent Resolve, as well as supporting ongoing peacekeeping operations in Bosnia and Kosovo. Since 1875, the Pennsylvania Army National Guard has responded to hundreds of state active duty calls in response to natural disasters and other state emergencies. The Pennsylvania Army National Guard has two major units – the 28th Infantry Division and the 213th Regional Support Group.

The 28th Division, headquartered in Harrisburg, is the oldest continuous serving division in the U.S. Army. The major 28th Division organizations and locations are: 2nd Infantry Brigade Combat Team, Washington; 55th Maneuver Enhanced Brigade, Scranton; 56th Stryker Brigade Combat Team, Philadelphia; 28th Combat Aviation Brigade, Fort Indiantown Gap; and 28th Division Headquarters and Headquarters Battalion, Harrisburg. The 213th Regional Support Group, headquartered in Allentown, carries out a number of combat support missions.

The Pennsylvania Army National Guard is home to the 166th Regional Training Institute, the Eastern Army Aviation Training Site, and the Medical Battalion Training Site which trains on average more than 5,500 Soldiers annually from the Active Army, Army Reserves, and Army National Guard in essential Professional Military Education on leadership and Skills (MOS) training.

PENNSYLVANIA AIR NATIONAL GUARD (PAANG)

The Pennsylvania Air National Guard is comprised of approximately 4,100 Airmen serving in several military organizations located across the Commonwealth and serving under the command and operational control of the PA National Guard Joint Force Headquarters located at Fort Indiantown Gap. The force structure consists of a state headquarters and three wings: the 171st

Air Refueling Wing, 111th Attack Wing, and 193rd Special Operations Wing. Each wing is comprised of subordinate groups, squadrons, and flights providing technical skills in areas such as aircraft maintenance, flight operations, engineering, communications/cyber operations, logistics, personnel, security, and medical services as necessary to meet assigned missions. Additional units are assigned to provide global support in the areas of engineering and construction of military base infrastructure, weather observation and forecasting, terminal attack control of fighter/bomber aircraft, airport air traffic control, and to provide manpower for air operations command and control centers. The PA Air National Guard includes the Bollen Air-to-Ground gunnery range and the Air National Guard Band of the Northeast. All of the assigned organizations are based at one of six different Commonwealth locations: Biddle Air National Guard Base (formerly the Horsham Air Guard Station), Pittsburgh International Airport, Harrisburg International Airport, Fort Indiantown Gap, Johnstown, and State College.

To be immediately responsible to its two-fold mission to the federal and state governments, the PA Air National Guard must maintain its forces and equipment in a constant state of high readiness to provide the capability necessary to fulfill all assigned tasks, while at the same time providing continual training for personnel to maintain peak proficiency in their assigned duties.

FORT INDIANTOWN GAP NATIONAL GUARD TRAINING CENTER

On October 1, 1998, management of Fort Indiantown Gap was transferred from the active Army to the Pennsylvania Army National Guard. Fort Indiantown Gap is home of the headquarters of the Pennsylvania National Guard which includes the headquarters for the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs, and the Joint Forces Headquarters of both the Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard.

Fort Indiantown Gap is the busiest National Guard Training Center in the country where more than 130,000 Soldiers, Sailors, Airmen, Marines, foreign militaries, first responders, local law enforcement and other agency personnel train on an annual basis. It was ranked number one in the nation for training throughout for all National Guard Training Centers in 2015-2016 and 2018-2020. It is the primary training site for the Pennsylvania Army and Air National Guard preparing for mobilization as well as domestic support operations here at home. The installation's range complex includes numerous small and heavy caliber firing ranges, artillery and mortar firing points, as well as maneuver areas that provide units of all types with a wide variety of training opportunities. The installation also includes an air-to-ground bombing and strafing complex for fixed wing and rotary wing attack aircraft in the 12,000-acre training corridor nestled between Blue and Second Mountains. The 5,000-acre garrison area south of Blue Mountain is a mixture of World War II vintage and more modern buildings that are the home of National Guard, and Army Reserve units, schoolhouses, and support facilities. Also located in the garrison area is Muir Army Airfield – the sixth busiest airport in Pennsylvania and second busiest heliport in the nation in terms of takeoffs and landings on a daily basis. The airfield primarily supports rotary wing operations.

The base has a new state-of-the-art battalion housing complex, mission command training center, live fire shoot house, live fire breach facility, combined arms collective training facility, and urban assault course as well as numerous live-fire range facilities. Fort Indiantown Gap continues to invest in new facilities and range complexes to better support service members from all active and reserve components of the military. The state-of-the-art mission command training center and simulations center is a premiere facility in the National Guard capable of conducting the Army's live, virtual, constructive, and gaming training strategy. The installation supports mission command training and is capable of hosting division level Warfighter exercises. The Pennsylvania National Guard is investing heavily in renewable energy and energy-saving renovation projects to the older World War II-era buildings to reduce energy costs and to meet the latest environmental standards.

The installation maintains close ties with local communities and offers a variety of activities that are open to the public including: displays of historic aircraft and vehicles, hunting, fishing, a wood yard, community pool, and annual butterfly tours.

Combining modernization with tremendous training capabilities will ensure Fort Indiantown Gap's viability as a world-class training site well into the future.

CHARLES DANIEL HASSELL

Secretary, Department of Revenue

Charles Daniel Hassell, born June 1, 1958, in Erie, son of the late Betty and Charles C. Hassell; Strong Vincent H.S., 1976; Westminster Coll. (B.A.), magna cum laude, socio., 1979; Carnegie Mellon Univ. Heinz Sch. of Urban and Pub. Affairs (M.S.), pub. mgmt., 1981; Harvard Univ. JFK Sch. of Govt. Prog. for Exec., 2001; frmr. budget spec.: Sen. Appropriations Comm.; frmr. dep. sec. fiscal policy & planning/frmr. dep. sec. tax policy/frmr. sec.: Pa. Dept. of Revenue; apptd. Secretary Department of Revenue Apr. 24, 2017; married Ellen; 3 children.

The Department of Revenue originated in 1927 and was reorganized on a functional basis in 1975. Its mission is to administer the tax laws of the Commonwealth in a fair and equitable manner. It also administers the Pennsylvania Lottery, which generates funds for programs that benefit older Pennsylvanians. The Department is responsible for collecting personal income tax, sales and use tax, all corporate taxes, inheritance tax, realty transfer tax, motor/alternative fuel taxes, state and local tavern games tax and all other state taxes. In addition, the Department collects the local sales tax for Allegheny and Philadelphia Counties, the Public Transportation Assistance Fund taxes and fees, and funds for the Pennsylvania Intergovernmental Cooperation Authority (PICA).

The Department also administers the Property Tax/Rent Rebate program and the Public Utility Realty Tax Act reimbursement, prepares the tax expenditure portion of the Governor's Budget, analyzes the policy and fiscal impacts of tax changes and licenses small games of chance distributors and manufacturers.

EXECUTIVE

The Secretary of Revenue is the Department's chief executive, appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The Secretary is a member of the Governor's cabinet and the Board of Finance and Revenue. The Secretary directly supervises the activities of the Department's Office of Chief Counsel, the Communications Office, the PA State Lottery, the Office of Legislative Affairs, the Policy Office, and the Office of Taxpayers' Rights Advocate. In addition, the Executive Deputy Secretary, and four Deputy Secretaries, who assist in directing the activities of various bureaus, report to the Secretary.

TAXATION

The Deputy Secretary for Taxation is responsible for the following bureaus:

Bureau of Business Taxpayer Accounting – The primary purpose of the bureau is to ensure accurate accounting of a taxpayer's balances while aligning to the Department's internal controls and management directives. This includes managing and monitoring all financial transactions within taxpayer accounts for all business taxes. The bureau includes a Business Tax Payment/Refund Division, an Account Maintenance Division, and a Motor and Alternative Fuel Taxes Payment/Refund Division.

Bureau of Individual Taxes – Administers tax programs related to personal income tax and inheritance tax, and administers the Property Tax/Rent Rebate program, funded by Lottery and slots gaming. Other responsibilities of the Bureau include administration of the realty transfer tax and the reporting of writ and marriage license taxes and Commonwealth fines.

Bureau of Registration and Taxpayer Management – Registers business taxpayers across all tax types and maintains taxpayer accounts over the lifetime of the business.

Bureau of Business Tax Return Processing – Ensures processing of all business tax returns while working to increase electronic filing participation. The bureau includes a Sales and Employer Tax Division, Corporation Tax Division, Motor and Alternative Fuel Taxes Division and Miscellaneous Tax Division.

Bureau of Taxation Support – Provides information and support to senior management of the business tax organizations while focusing on returns processing and taxpayer accounting. Also manages special projects (i.e. tax code changes, restricted credit calculations, etc.) and monitors performance and risks across the related business processes.

TAX POLICY

The Deputy Secretary for Tax Policy is responsible for the following bureaus, as well as the Department's Economic Development Office, which liaises with the Department of Community and Economic Development on tax credit and other economic development initiatives:

Board of Appeals – Receives, hears, considers, and renders decisions on administrative appeals filed with the Department and referred to the Board.

Bureau of Audits – Conducts field examinations for all taxes administered by the Department of Revenue.

Bureau of Research – Responsible for forecasting revenue collections, reporting General Fund and Special Fund revenues, and estimating the fiscal impact of legislative proposals and changes in economic conditions.

ADMINISTRATION

The Deputy Secretary for Administration is responsible for the following bureaus:

Bureau of Administrative Services – Responsible for procurement, commodity supply, capital inventory, mail services, building maintenance and renovation, control of tax records, building leases, parking and automotive services, and word processing and secretarial services.

Bureau of Fiscal Management – Manages the Department's expenditures and administers departmental contracts.

Gaming Office – Collects and distributes gaming related taxes, fees and assessments from licensed venues, reconciling reports from the Central Control Computer System, SAP, and each venue on a daily basis.

Bureau of Imaging and Document Management – Responsible for receiving, sorting, prepping, controlling, and banking all remittances submitted to the Department of Revenue. Also, this Bureau is tasked with archiving tax returns, attachments, and checks received by the Department.

COMPLIANCE AND COLLECTIONS

The Deputy Secretary for Compliance and Collections is responsible for the following bureaus:

Customer Experience Center – Assists business and individual taxpayers who contact the Department by phone, e-mail, and written inquiry regarding state tax issues. The CEC also serves as the centralized training point for Department employees and is responsible for spearheading outreach and education efforts.

Bureau of Enforcement and Taxpayer Assistance – Operates district offices throughout the state offering taxpayer assistance and collecting delinquent taxes or returns. All departments field agents also operate under this bureau.

Bureau of Compliance – Administers tax clearance and enforcement programs.

Bureau of Criminal Tax Investigations – Conducts criminal tax investigations, cigarette tax compliance and enforcement, and Property Tax/Rent Rebate fraud investigations.

Bureau of Desk Review and Analysis – Enforces compliance with Pennsylvania tax requirements for partnerships and Pennsylvania S corporations and the partners, shareholders, and owners to which the businesses pass income.

The Secretary of the Commonwealth, head of the Department of State, is appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. By statute, the Secretary is the Chair of the Navigation Commission for the Delaware River and Its Navigable Tributaries, Chairperson of the Board of Property, and a member of the Board of Finance and Revenue, the Pennsylvania Municipal Retirement Board, and the State Athletic Commission. The Secretary is the keeper of the Great Seal of the Commonwealth and has the duty of authenticating government documents through the seal's use. The Secretary is also the Commonwealth's Chief Election Official.

Nearly all the official transactions of the Governor pass through the Secretary's hands. She is custodian of the laws and resolutions passed by the General Assembly and of all proclamations issued by the Governor. Veto messages of the Governor are prepared for publication under her signature.

All commissions, appointments, and proclamations issued by the Governor are countersigned and recorded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth. All death warrants, respites, pardons, remittances of fines and forfeitures, and commutations of sentences are recorded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth furnishes, upon request and payment of fees as fixed by law, certificates of matters of public record in the Department or certified copies of public papers or documents on file, and authenticates the official capacity of state, judicial, and county officers, and notaries public – appointed or elected who are commissioned by the Governor.

Elections and Commissions – Bureau of Campaign Finance and Civic Engagement; Bureau of Election Security and Technology; Bureau of Election Services and Notaries

Campaign Finance and Civic Engagement – The Secretary of the Commonwealth is responsible for compiling and publishing campaign finance expense forms; administering the registration and reporting required by the Lobbying Disclosure Act; engaging with Pennsylvania citizens and stakeholders representing the various areas of Elections and Commissions; coordinating the Governor's Civic Engagement Award; and providing information and available services to limited-English proficient voters via the department's Language Access Plan.

Election Security and Technology – Under the direction of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in coordination with the Office of Administration Information Technology and various federal and state security and law enforcement agencies, the security of Pennsylvania's election infrastructure is maintained and enhanced. The Bureau manages, modernizes, and conducts data analysis relative to various election software applications; examines and re-examines voting machines and electronic voting systems and the Secretary of the Commonwealth approves or disapproves voting machines for use in this Commonwealth.

Election Services – The Secretary of the Commonwealth is the custodian of the election returns for national, state, judicial, legislative, and such county officers that receive commissions, and compiles and publishes the returns of the elections; prescribes the forms of nomination petitions and papers, and all other forms and records required by the Pennsylvania Election Code; certifies to the county boards of elections for primary and general elections the names of the candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, presidential electors, United States Senators, Representatives in Congress, and all state officers, including Senators and Representatives, judges of all courts of records, delegates and alternate delegates, and members of state committees; receives and determines the sufficiency of nomination petitions, certificates, and papers of these candidates; issues certificates of election to successful candidates unless otherwise prescribed by law; receives reports from county boards of elections and may demand such additional reports on special matters as deemed necessary; and prescribes the form and wording of constitutional amendments to be submitted to the electors of the state at-large.

Commissions – The department issues commissions to all state officials who are elected by popular vote, including judges of the various courts, certain county officers, and magisterial district judges.

Appointed officials such as departmental officers, trustees of state hospitals, state board members, police officers, officers appointed by the Governor to fill vacancies in elective offices, etc., are commissioned upon written order from the Governor for a term fixed by law.

Notary Public – Notaries public are appointed, commissioned, and disciplined by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Legislation – The Department of State oversees recording and filing all legislation enacted by the General Assembly. All acts and resolutions are filed and recorded in this Department. The department prepares bond issues certified under the Great Seal to be sent through Budget to Treasury.

Bureau of Corporations and Charitable Organizations

Corporations – Under the Associations Code of the Commonwealth, every proceeding for the organization of corporations, both for-profit and not-for-profit, and every ancillary transaction relating to such corporations including, but not limited to, amendment of articles, restatement of articles, merger, division, change in registered office, change in share structure, increase or decrease in capital stock, conversion or dissolution, and change in corporate officers (if a not-for-profit corporation), is under the jurisdiction of the Department of State and is required to be filed therein.

Those businesses registering with the Department include for-profit business corporations, professional corporations, not-for-profit corporations, municipal authorities, limited partnerships, limited liability companies, foreign associations registering to do business in Pennsylvania, and individuals and associations conducting business under an assumed or fictitious name.

Trademarks or service marks may be registered in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. The Department is the central filing agency for secured transactions under the Uniform Commercial Code where the collateral is personal (not real) property. Financing statements and subsequent ancillary transactions are recorded in the Department.

Charitable Organizations – The Bureau is charged with the registration and regulation of more than 13,000 charities, as well as professional solicitors and fundraising counsel, under the Solicitation of Funds for Charitable Purposes Act. The Act requires organizations soliciting in Pennsylvania for charitable purposes to register with the Commonwealth and file financial disclosure reports. The Bureau works with the Attorney General's Office on enforcement procedures, which are followed when charitable organizations violate the law.

Bureau of Professional and Occupational Affairs – Twenty-nine licensing boards and commissions within the Bureau have powers to perform under the licensure laws of the Commonwealth. Among these are such matters as processing of applications for licenses, authorizing the issuance of licenses, monitoring licenses, suspending and revoking licenses of licensees for unethical or incompetent behavior, approval and disapproval of professional schools, and authorizing examinations. The names of the licensing boards are Board of Accountancy; Architects Licensure Board; Board of Auctioneer Examiners; Board of Barber Examiners; Board of Certified Real Estate Appraisers; Board of Chiropractic; Board of Cosmetology; Board of Crane Operators; Board of Dentistry; Board of Funeral Directors; Board of Landscape Architects; Board of Massage Therapy; Board of Medicine; Navigation Commission for the Delaware River and Its Navigable Tributaries; Board of Nursing; Board of Nursing Home Administrators; Board of Occupational Therapy Education and Licensure; Board of Optometry; Board of Osteopathic Medicine; Board of Pharmacy; Board of Physical Therapy; Board of Podiatry; Registration Board for Professional Engineers, Land Surveyors, and Geologists; Board of Psychology; Real Estate Commission; Board of Social Workers, Marriage and Family Therapists, and Professional Counselors; State Board of Examiners in Speech-Language Pathology and Audiology; Board of Vehicle Manufacturers, Dealers and Salespersons; and Board of Veterinary Medicine.

The State Athletic Commission – This is a departmental commission in the Department of State that consists of three members appointed for terms of four years. The Secretary of the Commonwealth and the Chair of the Medical Advisory Board sit as ex-officio members. The Commission regulates athletic agents, professional and amateur boxing, kickboxing, professional wrestling, and mixed martial arts. The Medical Advisory Board to the Commission consists of five members appointed by the Commission, with the chair of the board appointed by the Governor.

Safety and Security Comm., International Assn. of Chiefs of Police, Pa. Chiefs of Police Assn., National Assn. of Internal Affairs Investigators, Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 43; nominated to serve as Commissioner, Pennsylvania State Police, Mar. 24, 2018 and confirmed: June 4, 2019; married: Janet; 2 children.

The Pennsylvania State Police was created as an executive department of the state government by the Act of May 2, 1905, and was the first organization of its kind in the United States. The Department is headed by a Commissioner of State Police, appointed by the Governor and by three Deputy Commissioners.

By special acts of the Legislature, the State Police force and its members are authorized and empowered to make arrests without warrant for all violations of the law which they may witness, and to serve and execute warrants issued by the proper local authorities. These powers are extended throughout all the political subdivisions of the Commonwealth. Members of the force have all the powers and prerogatives conferred by law upon members of the police force of cities of the first class and upon constables of the Commonwealth, and to act as game protectors and as forest, fish, or fire wardens.

In addition, the Pennsylvania State Police shall have the power and duty:

- to assist the Governor in the administration and enforcement of the laws of the Commonwealth;
- with the approval of the Governor, to assist any administrative department, board, or commission of state government to enforce the laws applicable to such department, board, or commission, or any organization hereof;
- whenever possible, to cooperate with counties and municipalities in the detection of crime, the apprehension of criminals, and the preservation of law and order throughout the state;
- to aid in the enforcement of all laws relating to game, fish, forests, and waters;
- to collect and classify information useful for the detection of crime and identification and apprehension of criminals. Such information shall be available for all police officers within the Commonwealth, under such regulations as the Commissioner may prescribe;
- to enforce the laws regulating the use of the highways of this Commonwealth, and to assist the Department of Revenue in the collection of motor license fees, fees for titling vehicles and tractors, operator's license fees, the taxes on cigarettes and liquid fuels, and the issuance of certificates of title and motor and operator's licenses; and
- to search without warrant any boat, conveyance, vehicle, or receptacle, or any place of business when there is good reason to believe that any law has been violated, the enforcement or administration of which is imposed or vested in the Department of Revenue.

The present authorized strength of the Pennsylvania State Police is 4,719, which includes 238 troopers assigned to the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to patrol the toll road, and 141 troopers assigned to the Bureau of Gaming Enforcement.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE

Communications Office – Is responsible for media relations, coordinating community service/public information officers and internal communications for the Pennsylvania State Police, and issues press releases, answers inquiries, and arranges interviews, press conferences, and public events for the Commissioner, and other staff as appropriate. The Office oversees marketing activities for the Department and the publication of all printed materials available to the public; coordinates press and public education activity throughout the Department, including troop Public Information Officers; and serves as liaison between the Department and the Governor's Office on all facets of communications. The Office is located in Department Headquarters and includes a civilian Communications Director, Press Assistant, Digital Media Director, and a uniformed Public Information Officer.

Office of Chief Counsel – Advises the Commissioner and senior staff on state and federal statutes, regulations, and other legal documents; provides policy input and counsel to assist the Commissioner in carrying out the Department's mission and mandates in a lawful manner; represents the Department in courts of law and before regulatory agencies; and reviews proposed legislation for legality in conjunction with the Office of State and Federal Regulations.

Policy and Legislative Affairs Office – Serves as liaison between the Department, the General Assembly, and, as appropriate, with the U.S. Congress in concert with the Governor's Washington Office, and assists in developing proposed legislation and in promoting law enforcement-related initiatives of the administration. The Office works with members of the Legislature responding to inquiries on behalf of their offices and their constituents, and explains and promotes Department programs and policies.

Executive Services Office – Provides security for the Governor and Lt. Governor of Pennsylvania.

ADMINISTRATION

The Deputy Commissioner of Operations has direct authority over field operations, the Bureau of Emergency of Special Operations, the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, the Bureau of Liquor Control Enforcement, the Bureau of Patrol, the Executive Service Section, and the Bureau of Gaming Enforcement. Field operations consist of four Area Commands, 16 State Police Troops and the Executive Services Detail.

The Deputy Commissioner of Staff has direct authority over the Bureau of Communications and Information Services, the Bureau of Forensic Services, the Bureau of Records and Identification, the Bureau of Research and Development, the Bureau of Staff Services.

The Deputy Commissioner of Administration and Professional Responsibility has direct authority over the Bureau of Integrity and Professional Standards, the Bureau of Training and Education, the Department Discipline Office, the Equality and Inclusion Office, the Member Assistance Program, and the Municipal Police Officers' Education and Training Commission.

The facilities, manpower, equipment, and expertise of the Pennsylvania State Police are available to all police departments in Pennsylvania.

Bureau of Patrol – Develops and directs traffic law enforcement and patrol strategies to improve highway safety and manages the safety programs of the Department Motor Carrier Inspectors and Weight Enforcement Officers, Collision Analysis and Reconstruction Specialists, and Drug Recognition Experts.

Bureau of Criminal Investigation – Directs and coordinates the Department's criminal investigation activities related to general crimes, organized crime, public corruption, computer crime, fugitive apprehension, and other criminal offenses and groups. The Bureau also provides direction and control for all state police undercover drug and intelligence investigations, and works in coordination with other local, state, and federal investigative agencies to combat street gangs, investigate domestic and international terrorist groups, and interdict the flow of illicit drugs and other contraband.

Bureau of Liquor Control Enforcement – Responsible for the investigation and enforcement of the provision of Act 14, Liquor Code, and such rules and regulations promulgated by the Liquor Control Board.

Bureau of Research and Development – Responsible for the accreditation and strategic planning process; develops Department policies, procedures, and organizational structure; evaluates and tests equipment; manages resource allocation; administers grant acquisition; compiles and prepares statistical data; and administers the Uniform Crime Reporting program for the Commonwealth.

Bureau of Forensic Services – Supports and operates six nationally accredited forensic crime laboratories throughout the state and a DNA laboratory, provides forensic assistance and consulting to law enforcement agencies, provides training concerning crime scene preservation and collection and preservation of evidence, and conducts research to improve and develop new forensic procedures and techniques.

Bureau of Communications and Information Services – Maintains the Commonwealth Law Enforcement Assistance Network (CLEAN) for use of law enforcement agencies across the Commonwealth, and is responsible for management of the statewide radio system, providing critical two-way communications capabilities for 19 state agencies and public safety organizations.

Bureau of Records and Identification – Directs, controls, and supports all the recordkeeping functions of the Department for the Commonwealth including the Central Repository, firearms records of sale, Pennsylvania State Police reports, Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS), and the instantaneous background check of gun purchases.

Bureau of Integrity and Professional Standards – Investigates allegations of misconduct by Department personnel and all instances of the use of physical force or shooting incidents involving members, conducts in-depth inspections of Department personnel and installations, and evaluates Department policies and procedures to determine their effectiveness.

Bureau of Gaming Enforcement - Created by Title 4 of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Statutes and responsible for enforcement of the criminal laws of the Commonwealth at licensed gaming facilities, fingerprint applicants for gaming and horse racing licenses and permits, and take appropriate law enforcement action on referrals from the Pennsylvania Gaming Control Board.

Department Discipline Office - Informs the Executive Command Staff as to the effectiveness of the concepts and compliance with the provisions of the disciplinary system on the part of all personnel while ensuring the administration of discipline is fair, impartial, and consistent. The DDO coordinates, evaluates and processes all formal disciplinary actions submitted. All applicable reports submitted are carefully reviewed to ensure adequate facts are contained to justify any intended disciplinary action.

Equality and Inclusion Office - The EIO was created in 2016 and consists of the following sections, Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Section. The EEO Section ensures appropriate documentation of all allegations of harassment or discrimination by conducting an EEO Section supervisory inquiry or coordinating with the Director, Internal Affairs Division, Bureau of Integrity and Professional Standards, to conduct an internal investigation.

Office of Community Engagement - The OCE consists of the Heritage Affairs Section (HAS) and the Community Affairs Section (CAS). The OCE builds and maintains relations and trust between the Department and the diverse communities of the commonwealth. Additionally, the HAS works with municipal, state, and federal agencies; local governments; and community organizations by engaging minority and underserved communities in meaningful dialogue, reducing police-community problems, which can contribute to social unrest or major confrontations.

Member Assistance Program - A confidential peer-based internal Employee Assistance Program that advocates for the mental and emotional welfare of all Pennsylvania State Police personnel and their families. MAP consists of a statewide network of Peer Contacts who volunteer their time to help anyone in need of assistance relating to stress, depression, substance abuse, family and relationship issues, grief, illness, financial issues and other challenges that both jobs and life can bring. MAP Peers listen and provide confidential resources when needed. MAP also coordinates and oversees the Pennsylvania State Police Chaplaincy Program that provides spiritual support and guidance for personnel and their families.

Bureau of Staff Services – Develops fiscal plans; prepares the budget; coordinates the Department's application for Federal Funds; prepares requisitions; maintains supplies and the Department's automotive fleet; and coordinates and plans space allocation, leases, bid proposals, and specifications for facilities.

Bureau of Training and Education – Directs the administration of state and municipal police training at the Academy in Hershey and at four regional training centers located throughout the Commonwealth.

Bureau of Emergency and Special Operations – Coordinates the delivery of specialized law enforcement services to the Department and other police and law enforcement agencies. These functions include aviation, canine drug enforcement, special emergency response teams (SERT), explosives detection and disposal, and other technical and tactical operations.

The Municipal Police Officers' Education and Training Commission – MPOETC was established by Act 120, June 18, 1974, as amended (hereafter referred to as the Act). MPOETC's primary responsibility is to set the training and eligibility requirements for prospective and current police officers covered under the Act. To accomplish this, MPOETC regulates and certifies police academies and police training instructors, who teach MPOETC mandated curriculum(s) in "basic police training" and "in-service training." Basic police training is the training received while in the police academy; in-service training is the required annual updates that an officer must complete to keep their certification active. When a prospective police officer has completed their training, and is employed by a police department, the individual applies to MPOETC for certification, and must demonstrate completion of appropriate training, psychological and physical fitness for duty, and completion of firearms and lifesaving qualifications. These requirements are set forth in 37 Pa. Code Chapter 203, Subchapter B. A police officer cannot enforce the laws of the Commonwealth or carry a firearm until the individual is certified by MPOETC. See 53 Pa. C.S. § 2167(a). MPOETC thus provides uniform standards for the more than 22,000 police officers who are employed by approximately 1,100 diverse police departments throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. MPOETC also regulates police academies, curricula and instructors, and handles grant allocations as well.

MPOETC currently consists of 20 statutorily designated Commissioners appointed by various entities. The Commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police is the Chairman of the Commission, and both enlisted and civilian personnel under his supervision provide the staff necessary to carry out the daily operations of MPOETC.

The Act mandates that MPOETC shall be composed as follows: the Commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police who shall serve as Chairman of the Commission, the Secretary of Community and Economic Development, the Attorney General, the police commissioner of a city of the first class or his designee. The following members shall be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives: a member of the Senate, a member of the House of Representatives. The following members shall be appointed by the Governor: a borough official, a first-class township official, a second-class township official and a city official, four (4) incumbent chiefs of police from the various municipalities of this Commonwealth, at least one (1) to be a chief of a borough police department, at least one (1) to be a chief of a township police department, and at least one (1) to be a chief of a city police department. One (1) Federal Bureau of Investigation special agent-in-charge, one (1) educator qualified in the field of law enforcement, one (1) member representing the public at-large, and two (2) noncommissioned police officers.

YASSMIN GRAMIAN

Secretary, Department of Transportation

Yassmin Gramian, PE; Univ. of Michigan (B.A. and Masters), civil engineering; fmr. sr. v-pres.: international engineering firm; sr. v-pres.: global arch., civil engineering, and construction mgmt. firm; fmr. bd. mem.: PhilaPort, American Cncl. of Engineering Co. of Pa., March of Dimes Annual Transportation, Building & Const. Awards Lunch., Transportation Mgmt. Assn. of Chester Co., Policy Comm. of Greater Valley Forge Transportation Mgmt. Assn., Bridge Comm. of Assn. of Pa. Constructors; apptd. Acting Secretary, Department of Transportation Dec. 6, 2019.

Act 120 of 1970 created the Department of Transportation, effective July 1, 1970.

The Department was given the responsibility to develop programs to assure adequate, safe, and efficient transportation facilities and services at the lowest reasonable cost to the citizenry. Coordination of transportation services by local government and private enterprise is encouraged, as is cooperation of federal, state, and local government bodies in the achievement of transportation goals. These goals include providing needed facilities for the movement of people and goods, stimulating technological advancement in transportation facilities, providing leadership to identify and solve transportation problems, and developing and applying inter- and multi-modal approaches to transportation policy and programs.

The Department assumed all of the powers and duties formerly performed by the Department of Highways, the bureaus of Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety in the Department of Revenue, the Mass Transit Division in the Department of Community Affairs, and the Aeronautics Commission in the Department of Military Affairs. Of special importance among these responsibilities are those relating to certificates of title, licensing of operators, registration and licensing of motor vehicles, administrative enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Code including the Point System, and administration of aviation and airport development programs within the Commonwealth.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE

The Secretary of Transportation is the chief executive officer of the Department. Her responsibilities include the development, maintenance, and operation of a balanced transportation system that includes highways, mass transit, rail service, aviation and ports.

The secretary is assisted by a workforce of about 12,000 men and women in the department's central office and 11 engineering districts. As representatives of the secretary, they are custodians of nearly 40,000 miles of highways (the fifth largest state-maintained network in the nation), 25,000 bridges; more than 550 facilities including District Offices, County Offices, Welcome Centers, and Driver License Centers that include 4,100 buildings; and 25,000 pieces of equipment. They are responsible for administering more than 11 million motor vehicle registrations and eight million operator licenses. In addition, the department plays a direct role in the administration of financial and management assistance for 73 public transit providers, 37 fixed route systems (some of which also provide shared-ride/demand response service), 37 shared-ride only systems, and 2,572 local municipalities and 67 county governments.

All of these activities are financed from a budget which derives its principal sources of revenue from liquid fuel taxes, motor license fees, and federal aid, with additional financing for non-highway programs from the General Fund, the Public Transportation Trust Fund, and the Lottery Fund.

Organizationally, the Department is composed of five major offices headed by five deputy secretaries. These offices, in turn, include 18 bureaus, five offices, 52 divisions, 11 engineering districts, and 58 county maintenance offices.

Reporting directly to the Secretary are the Office of Legislative Affairs, the Policy Office, and the Press Office.

Deputy Secretary for Administration – Directly responsible for the bureaus of Fiscal Management, Equal Opportunity, Office Services, Human Resources, Innovations, Business Solutions and Services, IT Project Development and Delivery, and Infrastructure and Operations, and the Information Systems and Technology Office.

Deputy Secretary for Planning – Directly responsible for the Center for Program Development and Management, the Bureau of Planning and Research, and the Public-Private Transportation Partnership Office.

Deputy Secretary for Multi-Modal Transportation – Directly responsible for the bureaus of Aviation, Public Transportation, and Rail, Freight, Ports and Waterways.

Deputy Secretary for Driver and Vehicle Services – Directly responsible for the bureaus of Motor Vehicles, Driver Licensing, and Support Services, and the offices of Information/Fiscal Services and Risk Management.

Deputy Secretary for Highway Administration – Directly responsible for the bureaus of Project Delivery and Maintenance and Operations, 11 engineering districts, 58 county maintenance offices, and the Business Leadership and Administrative Services Office.

POWERS

Powers and Duties of the Department:

- to develop and maintain a continuing comprehensive and coordinated transportation planning process;
- to foster efficient and economical public transportation services;
- to prepare plans for preservation and improvement of commuter railroad systems;
- to develop more efficient bus transportation services;
- to develop plans and programs for all modes of urban transportation, including (in addition to commuter rail and motor bus) rapid rail, trolley coach, surface rail, corridor rail, and other innovative modes of urban transportation;
- to coordinate the activities of the Department with those of other public agencies;
- to plan, build, and maintain state-designated highways, bridges, and other transportation facilities;
- to enter into contracts for designing, constructing, repairing, or maintaining state-designated highways, bridges, and other transportation facilities;
- to prepare and submit every even-numbered year to the State Transportation Commission a recommended program for the next 12 fiscal years. Each two years thereafter, the Department reviews and adjusts its construction program;
- to appear or intervene as a party before the Public Utility Commission when transportation problems are being considered by the Commission;
- to consult with appropriate officials regarding the environmental hazards and the construction, sanitary, recreation, and social considerations that may arise in the location, design, or reconstruction of any transportation facility; and
- to represent the transportation interests of the Commonwealth before any federal agency or commission which determines national or regional transportation rates, routes, or policies.

Upon the submission of the preliminary plan or design to the Department for any transportation route or program requiring the acquisition of right-of-way, the Department follows hearing procedures required by the federal government for federal-aid transportation programs. At these hearings, the Department considers the following effects of the transportation route or program: residential and neighborhood character and location; conservation, noise, air, and water pollution; multiple use of space; replacement housing; displacement of families and businesses; recreation and parks aesthetics; public health and safety; fast, safe, and efficient transportation; civil defense; economic activities; employment; fire protection; public utilities; religious institutions; and the conduct and financing of government. Additional considerations include natural and historic landmarks, property values, education, engineering right-of-way and construction costs, maintenance and operating costs, and operation and use of existing transportation routes and programs during construction and after completion.

State Transportation Commission (STC) – The STC, established by Act 120 of 1970, is comprised of 15 members. The chair is the Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation. Four members are from the General Assembly – the majority and minority chair of the Senate and House Transportation Committees. The remaining 10 members are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for a term of six years. They receive per diem compensation and reimbursement for expenses. The Commission's charge is to determine and evaluate the condition and performance of the Commonwealth's transportation system and to assess the resources required to preserve, restore, extend, and expand transportation facilities and services to conserve Pennsylvania's communities and to ensure economic development in the Commonwealth.

The Commission sets policy direction with respect to the development of the Commonwealth's Twelve-Year Transportation Program. Input is solicited from the public and interested parties. The Twelve-Year Transportation Program is biennially adopted by the Commission as the blueprint for improving Pennsylvania's transportation system. This program is then submitted to the Governor, the General Assembly, and the Secretary of Transportation.

The STC conducts quarterly business meetings and continues to refine its public participation strategy to enhance public involvement in the development of the Twelve-Year Transportation Program.

State Transportation Advisory Committee (TAC) – The TAC, established by Act 120 of 1970, is comprised of 30 members. It consists of the following members: the Secretary of Transportation; the heads (or their designees) of the Department of Agriculture, Department of Education, Department of Community and Economic Development, Public Utility Commission, Department of Environmental Protection, and the Governor's Policy Office; two members of the State House of Representatives; two members of the State Senate; and 19 public members, seven appointed by the Governor, six by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and six by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The chair of the Committee is annually designated by the Governor from among the public members.

The Advisory Committee has two primary duties. First, the Committee "consults with and advises the State Transportation Commission (STC) and the Secretary of Transportation on behalf of all transportation modes in the Commonwealth." In fulfilling this task, the Committee assists the Commission and the Secretary "in the determination of goals and the allocation of available resources among and between the alternate modes in the planning, development, and maintenance of programs, and technologies for transportation systems." The second duty of the Advisory Committee is "to advise the several modes about the planning, programs, and goals of the Department and the State Transportation Commission." The Committee undertakes in-depth studies on important issues and serves as a valuable liaison between PennDOT and the general public.

The TAC conducts five business meetings annually.

It includes 30 members: seven ex-officio members (the Secretary of Transportation; the Director of the Governor's Office of Policy Development; the Chair of the Public Utility Commission; the Secretaries of Community and Economic Development, Education, Environmental Protection, and Agriculture); two members of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker and two members of the Senate appointed by the President Pro Tempore; and 19 additional public members, seven appointed by the Governor, six by the Speaker, and six by the President Pro Tempore.

Goldberg, Representative Shelby Labs, William Lehr Jr., Hon. William F. Morgan, Norman E. Stull, Catzie Vilayphonh, Tim Warfield Jr., James A. West Jr., Jen Holman Zaborney

On January 26, 1966, Governor William D. Scranton signed enabling legislation for the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts (PCA). Under the provisions of Act No. 538, the Council is charged with “the encouragement and development of the various arts” in the Commonwealth, as well as ascertaining how these resources “including those already in existence and those which should be brought into existence, are to serve the cultural needs and aspirations of the cultural needs and aspirations of the citizens of the State.” The Council is directly responsible to the Governor.

The mission of the Council is to strengthen the cultural, educational, and economic vitality of Pennsylvania’s communities through the arts. State arts funding comes from the citizens of Pennsylvania through an annual state appropriation for grants-to-the-arts. The Council also receives funding from the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

Directly, and through national, regional, and community initiatives, the Council serves as a leading partner in public and private efforts to engage the full potential of the arts to build community, motivate learning, support jobs, promote public objectives, and spark innovation. To this end, the PCA awards state and federal funds to arts organizations, programs and projects throughout the Commonwealth; supports teaching artist residencies in schools, Pennsylvania Senior Centers, Veterans Homes, and other healthcare settings; and offers valuable research and information services on a range of topics, including arts marketing, capacity building, and community development through arts strategies. Where special needs or opportunities exist, the Council takes direct action and has originated programs and partnerships such as the Preserving Diverse Cultures Division, Strategies for Success, the Folk & Traditional Arts Infrastructure, and the Creative Communities Pilot Initiative.

The PCA maintains an ongoing commitment to diversity and sustainability, with a cross-cutting objective to promote equitable access for all Pennsylvanians to participate fully in a creative life.

The Council consists of 19 members: 15 private citizens and four members of the General Assembly. The citizen members are appointed to three-year terms by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, and serve without compensation. From these members, the Governor also appoints the chair and vice-chair of the Council, who serve at the Governor’s pleasure. Citizen members hold office until their successors have been appointed and confirmed. No member is eligible for reappointment during the one-year period following the expiration of his/her second successive term.

Two of the legislative members are appointed from the House of Representatives by the Speaker, and two from the Senate by the President Pro Tempore. Legislative members are selected equally from the major political parties. For the purposes of Act 538, such members of the Legislature constitute a joint interim legislative committee on the arts, the Council, and its appropriation.

The Council sets the mission and goals for the agency, evaluates the agency’s progress toward these goals, formulates policy, and makes final decisions on the use of funds. The Council has final authority in granting funds. It meets at least three times a year, and Council meetings are open to the public. The Council is specifically directed by its enabling legislation to “avoid any actions which would interfere with the freedom of artistic expression or with the established or contemplated cultural programs in any local community.”

The PCA reaches all 67 Pennsylvania counties with more than 1,600 grants and services per year. A rigorous statewide process for grant applications utilizes citizen review panels, as necessary, to ensure informed local and state perspectives and facilitate sound decision making. Panel members serve without compensation.

A professional staff, headed by an Executive Director, administers the Council’s decisions. The staff serves as a resource for arts-related information for state and federal government, the public, and the arts field; administers the Council’s programs, partnerships and initiatives; advises applicants on the Council’s responsive funding programs; and provides technical assistance to communities, individuals, arts organizations, and partners.

Bur. of Admin.; frmr. bd. mem.: Hbg. Area Intl. Pub. Mgmt. Assn. for Human Resources; apptd. Executive Director, State Civil Service Commission May 2005; married Wanda; 2 children.

The State Civil Service Commission, a three-member, bipartisan, independent administrative commission, was created by the Act of June 6, 1939, P.L. 250, as amended; by the Acts of Aug. 5, 1941, P.L. 781; May 21, 1943, P.L. 600; Mar. 20, 1945, P.L. 44; and June 25, 1947, P.L. 930. The Act of Aug. 5, 1941, P.L. 752, known as the Civil Service Act, created the State Civil Service Commission to administer the merit system in the Commonwealth. Act 71 of 2018 was enacted and transferred merit service recruit-to-hire employment functions to the Governor's Office of Administration effective March 28, 2019.

Purpose – The purpose of Act 71 of 2018 is to create and sustain a modern merit system of employment within the Commonwealth workforce that promotes hiring, retention and promotion of highly qualified individuals, ensuring that government services are efficiently and effectively delivered to the public.

Administration – The Commission is an administrative bipartisan agency comprised of three members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for staggered six-year terms. Not more than two members are of the same political affiliation. The Governor designates one of the members as chair and per Act 76 of 2011 at least one member must be a veteran. Act 71 provides the Executive Director direct and supervise agency operations and communications, and exercise certain powers and duties under the direction of the Commission. As the administrative head of the agency, the Executive Director reports to the Commissioners.

Powers and Duties – The Commission is required to establish and adopt rules to effectuate the applicable provisions of Act 71 of 2018; to require observance of the provisions of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder; to hold public hearings and render decisions on appeals; and record findings of fact and conclusions of law, upon request or on its own motion, in cases of demotion, furlough, suspension, discrimination, or other matters. As requested by the Governor or the Legislature, the Commission has the authority to conduct investigations relating to the enforcement and effect of the provisions of the Act.

Administrative Services Office – Provides procurement of materials and equipment, maintains inventory control; provides a wide variety of office support services, including mail distribution and duplication of documents; prepares the agency's annual budget submittal; develops program measures and program revision requests; monitors expenditures and fiscal procedures; and processes Right-To-Know requests.

Audits and Exemptions Office – Conducts performance and compliance audits of appointments, changes in employment and promotions of jobseekers and employees in the classified service in compliance with the provisions of Act 71 of 2018 and regulations as promulgated by the Office of Administration; audits compliance of veterans' preference and exempts positions from the classified service.

Legal Services Office – Supports the State Civil Service Commissioners in their role as administrative law judges presiding over appeals of disputed personnel actions and provides legal advice to the Commissioners and Executive Director to assist in the conduct of duties and responsibilities.

Agencies and Offices Served – Civil Service procedures originally applied only to personnel in the Department of Public Assistance, the Bureau of Employment Security, the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, and the State Civil Service Commission. On September 10, 1956, the Executive Board of the Commonwealth, by resolution and amendments thereto during the next six years, added approximately 13,000 professional and technical positions to the civil service program. On August 26, 1963, the Civil Service Act was amended, increasing coverage to approximately 45,000 employees and providing a single, uniform, modern legislative system for all merit service employees. A sample of state agencies now participating in the merit system employment program include the Departments of Aging, Agriculture, Banking and Securities, Community and Economic Development, Conservation and Natural Resources, Corrections, Education, Environmental Protection, General Services, Health, Human Services, Insurance, Labor & Industry, Military and Veterans Affairs, Revenue, State, and Transportation; the Governor's Office, Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, Milk Marketing Board, PA Parole Board, State Tax Equalization Board, Civil Service Commission, Fish and Boat Commission, Game Commission, Historical and Museum Commission, Public Utility Commission, Emergency Management Agency, Municipal Retirement System, Public School Employees' Retirement System, and State Employees' Retirement System. Local offices receiving contractual merit system services include Emergency Management Agencies, Pennsylvania Housing Authorities, Mental Health/Intellectual Disabilities County Agencies, Children and Youth County Agencies, Drug and Alcohol County Agencies, and Area Agencies on Aging.

GREGORY C. FAJT

Member, Board of Claims

Gregory C. Fajt, born Nov. 30, 1954, in Greensburg, son of Henry and Marie Fajt; St. Vincent Coll. (B.S.) acct., 1977; Duquesne Univ. Sch. of Law (J.D.), 1984; CPA, 1982; attorney, appt. Pa. House of Reps.: 1990, 1992, 1994 from Allegheny co.; legal cncl.: Joy Technologies Inc.; partner: Leech Tishman Fuscaldo and Lampl, LLC; sec. Pa. dept. of Revenue; chief of staff: Pa. Gaming Control bd., chair: 2009-2011, comm.: 2011-2017; appt. Member, Board of Claims Oct. 2017.

The Board of Claims is both a quasi-judicial and an independent administrative agency. The Board was created October 5, 1978, according to Legislative Act 260, and supersedes the former Board of Arbitration of Claims. By statute, the administrative services for the Board of Claims shall be provided by the Department of Auditor General. (See "Powers and Duties" of the Auditor General.) An executive secretary, counsel, and supporting staff are appointed by the Board.

Administration – The Board is composed of three members: an attorney, who serves as Chief Administrative Judge and chair; a civil engineer; and a citizen of the Commonwealth. Appointments to the Board are made by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. Each member shall be appointed for a term of eight years.

The powers and duties of the Board, originally set forth in the Act of May 20, 1937, were restated and revised by Act 142 of 2002, as amended. Act 142 provides, among other things, that the Board of Claims has exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine certain claims against the Commonwealth arising from contracts to which the Commonwealth is a party. Act 142 also provides the Board with concurrent jurisdiction to hear and determine claims arising from Commonwealth contracts in which the Commonwealth is the claimant. Appeals from decisions of the Board are to the Pennsylvania Commonwealth Court.

Established by law in 1978, the Pennsylvania Commission on Crime and Delinquency (PCCD) serves as the justice planning and policymaking agency for the Commonwealth. PCCD's mission is to enhance the quality, coordination, and planning within the criminal and juvenile justice systems, to facilitate the delivery of services to victims of crime, and to increase the safety of our communities. By bringing together a wide range of experts in these fields, PCCD coordinates the collective examination of problems, proposes solutions, and evaluates the impact of those solutions.

PCCD facilitates partnerships among federal, state, and local policymakers; fosters interagency coordination and cooperation; develops and coordinates policy issues; provides statewide criminal statistical and analytical services; fosters community-based initiatives in the areas of delinquency prevention and offender reintegration; promotes the use of information technology and information sharing to enhance operational effectiveness in criminal justice agencies; and grants federal and state funds to provide monies to support best practices and innovation.

The agency is specifically tasked with providing services to the victims of crime (e.g., administration of the state's Crime Victims' Compensation Fund; Children's Advocacy Centers; etc.); implementing Act 115 of 2019 specifically related to sentences of probation with restrictive conditions of supervision; administering support for County Adult Probation Services pursuant to Act 114 of 2019; coordinating training for sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and constables per their respective statutes; and administering the school safety and security program.

The Environmental Hearing Board, originally created by the Act of December 3, 1970, P.L. 834, began to function on February 15, 1972. From then until January 1, 1989, the effective date of the Environmental Hearing Board Act, Act of July 13, 1988, P.L. 530, the Board was an integral part of the Department of Environmental Resources, although the three Board members were appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. The 1988 Act established the Board as an independent quasi-judicial agency with five members functioning as full-time administrative law judges. Like their predecessors under the 1970 Act, Board members are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for six-year terms. One of the members, designated by the Governor, serves as Chair and Chief Judge.

The Board has jurisdiction to entertain appeals from orders, permits, licenses, or decisions of the Department of Environmental Protection. It functions like a court, holding hearings and issuing adjudications, or otherwise disposing of the appeals by final order. While the case load fluctuates from year to year, an average of 100 to 150 appeals are filed annually since the effective date of the 1988 Act.

Currently, the Board has four members. Offices are in Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Erie, and Norristown. The Board operates under a budget of $2.59 million with an authorized staff of 12.

The Commission was created by Act 170-1978 and amended by Act 9-1989, the Public Official and Employee Ethics Act, to administer and enforce the provisions of that law. The law provides that public office is a public trust and any effort to realize personal financial gain through public office is a violation of that trust. The Act was passed to strengthen the faith and confidence of the people of Pennsylvania in their government. The Act established the State Ethics Commission to administer and enforce the provisions of the Act and to provide guidance regarding the standards established by the Act. In 2006, with the enactment of the Lobbying Disclosure Law and amendments to the Race Horse Development and Gaming Act, the Ethics Commission was vested with additional duties. In 2016, with the enactment of the Medical Marijuana Act, the Commission was vested with additional duties. Also in 2017, with the enactment of the Video Gaming Act, the Commission was vested with additional duties.

The State Ethics Commission is comprised of seven members who are cognizant of the responsibilities and burdens of public service. Three Commission members are appointed by the Governor, only two of whom may be of the same political party. One member each is appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Minority Leader of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, and the Minority Leader of the House. All are appointed without confirmation. Commission members are eligible to serve two full three-year terms.

Commission members and employees may not hold or campaign for any other public office, hold office in any political party or political committee, actively participate or contribute in any political campaign, have served as an officer in a political party for one year prior to appointment, influence any decision by a governmental body except as a member of the Commission, or be employed by the Commonwealth or a political subdivision in any other capacity.

The Commission's powers and duties include the following:

- render opinions to present and former public officials and public employees as to their obligations under the Ethics Act; the Lobbying Disclosure Law, The State Horse Racing Commission (Act 114 of 2016), Gaming Act, Video Gaming Act and the Medical Marijuana Act;
- investigate alleged violations of the Ethics Act, and the Lobbying Disclosure Law;
- receive and review Financial Interest Statements of persons required to file;
- prescribe rules and regulations to implement the provisions of the Ethics Act;
- prescribe financial disclosure forms for filing;
- make statements available for public inspection and copying;
- maintain a master index of statements filed with the Commission;
- prepare and publish an annual report;
- accept and file information voluntarily supplied that exceeds the requirements of the Act;
- enforce the reporting and registration provisions of the Lobbying Disclosure Law; and
- maintain a list of all public officials and executive-level public employees under the Gaming Act, Act 114 of 2016, the Video Gaming Act and the Medical Marijuana Act.

The Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission is one of the oldest governmental conservation agencies in the nation, dating back to 1866. Act 1991-39, signed into law on December 12, 1991, changed the name of the Fish Commission to the Fish and Boat Commission. The Commission consists of ten members serving four-year terms. Eight members represent specific geographic locations, while the ninth and tenth are members-at-large and must be experienced boaters.

The Commission sets rules and regulations governing fishing and boating in and on all inland and boundary waters of the Commonwealth. In addition to managing and protecting the state's aquatic resources, the Commission also is mandated with the responsibility for all of the state's reptiles and amphibians.

As an independent state agency, the Commission is supported by anglers' and boaters' dollars generated through the sale of fishing licenses and boat registrations.

ADMINISTRATION

Executive Director – Appointed by the ten member Commission. The Executive Director is the Commission's chief executive officer as well as chief waterways conservation officer, and has charge of all activities under the jurisdiction of the Commission. The Director is a member of the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission, Mid-Atlantic Fishery Management Council, Pennsylvania Environmental Quality Board, Water Resources Council, and Wild Resource Conservation Board, and an ex-officio member of the Boating Advisory Board and the Northeast Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies.

Executive Office – Administers the operations and activities of the entire Fish and Boat Commission with the Executive Director serving as the Commission's chief waterways conservation officer. The Executive Director is supported by the the Office of Policy and Planning; the Human Resources Office; the Office of Chief Counsel; the Bureau Director of Law Enforcement; the Executive Secretary; the Deputy Director of the Office of Administration, including the Bureau Director of Administration and the Bureau Director of Information Technology; the Deputy Director for Field Operations, including the Bureau Director of Fisheries; the Bureau Director of Hatcheries; the Bureau Director of Outreach, Education and Marketing; and the Bureau of Engineering.

Bureau of Administration – Provides support services for all Commission operations, including warehousing, federal aid, personnel, budget, and procurement. The Bureau is also responsible for the issuance of about one million fishing licenses, 360,000 boat registrations, and other permits required by law and regulation.

Bureau of Boating – Directs boating awareness, safety, and education efforts related to boating. Promotes the creation and enhancement of boating access areas on waters across the Commonwealth in cooperation with other boating advocacy agencies and water trail managers. Coordinates operations of the PFBC Boating Advisory Board.

Bureau of Outreach, Education, and Marketing – Directs outreach, education, and marketing programs; media productions, including Pennsylvania Angler & Boater magazine; and website content and development.

Bureau of Engineering – Directs the planning, survey, design, construction, and maintenance of Fish and Boat Commission facilities and property.

Bureau of Fisheries – Directs the research, propagation, management, and protection of fish, fisheries, habitat, reptiles, amphibians, and certain threatened and endangered species in the Commonwealth. In addition, the Environmental Services Division reviews permits and provides input to the Department of Environmental Protection and other agencies, and the Bureau oversees the Commission's habitat improvement efforts.

Bureau of Hatcheries – Fourteen state fish hatcheries culture over five million trout (adult and fingerlings) and 40 million warm/cool water fish for stocking into Pennsylvania waters. The Bureau operates a water quality lab and a fish health lab, and coordinates the Cooperative Nursery Program (volunteer-run fish hatcheries). Owned by the state and operated by the Commission, these stations are strategically located across the Commonwealth to take advantage of high-quality water supplies and to maximize fish stocking logistics.

Bureau of Information Technology – Provides full support for all components of an information technology network and data store that are needed to sustain the business requirements of the Commission. The Bureau also provides overall direction, support, and management of all aspects of the Commission's information technology infrastructure, including network architecture, Inter/Intranet application Web development, Geographical Information Systems (GIS), and telecommunications.

Bureau of Law Enforcement – Directs the enforcement of fish laws, boating laws, and certain water pollution laws of the Commonwealth. In addition, within the scope of Fish and Boat Commission activities, it directs the enforcement of Title 18 (relating to crimes and offenses) and laws relating to misdemeanors and felonies; directs review of permits for mine drainage, stream encroachments, and highway and bridge construction; enforces laws; and conducts other Commission programs.

(Act No. 180, approved Apr. 25, 1949, provides for a Pennsylvania Fish Commission with power to appoint an Executive Director. C.A. French, the Commissioner of Fisheries at the time of the approval of this Act, was appointed Executive Director of the new Commission Apr. 25, 1949.)

The Pennsylvania Game Commission, an independent administrative agency created by legislative action June 25, 1895, is responsible for the scientific management of all wild birds and mammals in the Commonwealth. As an independent agency, its authority stems from the Game and Wildlife Code.

ADMINISTRATION

The Board of Game Commissioners is composed of eight members, each of whom serves at least one four-year term without compensation, following appointment by the Governor and confirmation by the Senate. Each member is appointed from one of eight geographical districts in the Commonwealth.

The Game Commission is not supported by state tax money. The primary source of income is the sale of hunting licenses. Annually, about 900,000 hunters and trappers purchase licenses to hunt and trap in Pennsylvania.

The Commission maintains a central office in Harrisburg and six regional offices throughout the state.

The Harrisburg office contains an executive office and six administrative bureaus, in addition to the Ross Leffler School of Conservation, the Game Commission's training school.

Executive Office – Consists of the Executive Director and two Deputy Executive Directors who are the chief administrators of the Commission. It also is responsible for field and administration programs.

Bureau of Administrative Services – Responsible for procurement of all materials and supplies, the sale of hunting licenses, and all automotive operations.

Bureau of Wildlife Management – Employs trained wildlife biologists holding advanced degrees in wildlife management. They study the state's wildlife species to develop the most effective management practices and prepare guidelines that are reviewed by the executive office and presented to the Commission for adoption. This Bureau also is responsible for propagating game birds.

Bureau of Wildlife Protection – Responsible for enforcing the Game and Wildlife Code.

State Game Wardens carry out Commission programs on a local basis. Most districts are composed of approximately 300 square miles. One game warden, assigned to each district, is responsible for enforcing the game laws and public relations activities. Deputy game wardens assist game wardens in executing their duties.

Bureau of Wildlife Habitat Management – Oversees habitat improvement projects on State Game Lands to benefit wildlife and public hunting and trapping opportunities.

The land manager, responsible for an area of two or more counties, supervises habitat management programs for development of Commission lands and privately-owned land under lease by the Commission, and provides training, guidance, and supervision of the Commission's habitat-maintenance crews.

The Game Commission has several programs to provide lands for public hunting. Foremost is the acquisition of State Game Lands. This program began in 1920 and more than 1.6 million acres had been purchased by 2020.

This Bureau also coordinates leasing and management of mineral, oil, and gas resources under State Game Lands.

Bureau of Information and Education – Provides information for sportsmen and the general public on Game Commission programs and wildlife management practices. This is accomplished through the publication of Game News magazine, news releases, television public service announcements, educational television programs, displays, exhibits, and multimedia presentations. The Bureau also houses the Hunter-Trapper Education and Conservation Education programs.

Bureau of Automated Technology Services – Provides data processing and office automation support for all operating bureaus, regional offices, and field staff. The Bureau is an electronic storehouse of information for the agency.

Bureau of Marketing and Strategic Communications – Uses new and effective ways to connect with hunters and wildlife enthusiasts. Oversees the Game Commission's social media and certain other digital communications, works to recruit, retain and reactivate hunters and trappers, and employs traditional marketing techniques to create awareness of the agency's messages and information through the most cost-effective methods.

Field Administration – The state is divided into six regions for the administration of field duties. The Northwest Office is in Franklin, the Southwest Office in Bolivar, the Northcentral Office in Jersey Shore, the Southcentral Office in Huntingdon, the Northeast Office in Dallas, and the Southeast Office in Reading.

Established by Act 71 of 2004, the Pennsylvania Gaming Control Board is charged with overseeing casino gaming in the Commonwealth, including approving licenses for gaming entities, suppliers, and manufacturers; occupation permits for employees of those entities, suppliers, and manufacturers; and regulations necessary to ensure the integrity of gaming in Pennsylvania. It has general jurisdiction over all casino gaming activities in the Commonwealth.

The Board has seven members: three appointed by the Governor, including the Chair, and one each appointed by the heads of the four legislative caucuses. Gubernatorial appointees serve staggered three-year terms. Legislative appointees serve two-year terms.

Most board actions require a "qualified" majority consisting of all four legislative appointees, plus one gubernatorial appointee. In the event that a legislative appointee recuses himself or herself from a vote, a "qualified" majority consisting of three legislative appointees plus one gubernatorial appointee is necessary for action to be taken.

The Treasurer of the Commonwealth, the Secretary of Revenue, and the Secretary of Agriculture are ex-officio, non-voting members of the Board.

PENNSYLVANIA HEALTH CARE COST CONTAINMENT COUNCIL

225 Market Street, Suite 400
Harrisburg, PA 17101

JOSEPH MARTIN

Executive Director,
Pennsylvania Health Care Cost Containment Council

Joseph Martin, born Feb. 8, 1952, in New York City; Bish. Reilly H.S., 1970; att. Nassau CC, HACC; Challenge/Discovery Prog., Prescott College.; fmr. press sec./dir. of comm./educ.: Pa. Health Care Cost Containment Cncl., 1991-2009; apptd. Executive Director, Pennsylvania Health Care Cost Containment Council Nov. 2009.

The Pennsylvania Health Care Cost Containment Council (PHC4) is an independent state agency formed under Pennsylvania statute (Act 15, as amended by Act 3 of 2009) to address quality improvement and rapidly growing health care costs. The Council's strategy is to stimulate competition in the health care market by:

- giving comparative information about the most efficient and effective health care providers to individual consumers and group purchasers of health services; and
- giving information to health care providers that they can use to identify opportunities to contain costs and improve the quality of care they deliver.
- Act 15, as amended by Act 3, specifically assigns the Council three primary responsibilities:
- to collect, analyze, and make available to the public data about the cost and quality of health care in Pennsylvania;
- to study, upon request, the issue of access to care for those Pennsylvanians who are uninsured; and
- to review and make recommendations about proposed or existing mandated health insurance benefits upon request of the legislative or executive branches of the Commonwealth.

The Council collects more than four million inpatient hospital discharge and ambulatory/outpatient procedure records each year from hospitals and freestanding ambulatory surgery centers in Pennsylvania. The Council also collects data from managed care plans on a voluntary basis.

Since its inception, PHC4 has released internationally renowned, groundbreaking reports on hospital performance, hospital acquired infections, physician-specific cardiac surgery results, readmissions, preventable hospitalizations, hospital charges, and payments. These reports are widely distributed through the Council's Website at www.phc4.org, and can be found in most public libraries throughout the state. The Council has also produced hundreds of standard and customized reports and data sets through its Special Requests Unit for a variety of users including hospitals, policymakers, researchers, physicians, insurers, and other group purchasers.

The Council is governed by a board of 30 voluntary members, appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the State Senate, the Speaker of the State House of Representatives, and the Governor, respectively.

Chair: Mike Peifer Vice Chair: Wayne D. Fontana Members: Ryan Aument, John Blake, Mike Carroll, Angel Cruz, Sheryl Delozier, Arthur Haywood, Vincent J. Hughes, Mark Longietti, Steven Mentzer, Jennifer O'Mara, Kristin Phillips-Hill, Mario M. Scavello, Curtis Sonney, Timothy R. Thyreen, Robin L. Weissmann, Secretary of Education

The Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency (PHEAA) was created by an Act of the Pennsylvania General Assembly on August 7, 1963. This Act was followed by a voter referendum on November 5, 1963 that approved the Act and amended the Pennsylvania Constitution to authorize, for the first time, grant and loan-making to individuals pursuing postsecondary education.

PHEAA was established as an independent public corporation to improve postsecondary education opportunities of Pennsylvania residents attending approved institutions of higher education. PHEAA identified and committed to its core mission, "Creating Access to Education," and set out to provide financial aid to that end through a variety of programs.

To fulfill its public service mission, PHEAA has grown into a national financial aid services organization with approximately $500 billion in assets under management (as of January 31, 2020), serving millions of students and thousands of schools through its guaranty, servicing, grant, and financial aid processing systems. PHEAA's earnings are used to support its public service mission and to pay its operating costs, including administration of the Pennsylvania State Grant Program, public outreach, and other state-funded student aid programs. PHEAA conducts its student loan servicing activities nationally as American Education Services (AES) and FedLoan Servicing.

The Pennsylvania State Grant Program was established in 1966, and shortly thereafter programs administered by PHEAA were expanded to include a multi-million dollar federal funds matching program designed to capture increasing amounts of new federal dollars.

Since inception, this program has provided more than $11.4 billion in grant awards to Pennsylvania students with financial need. With a maximum award of $4,123, this program is providing approximately 140,000 grant awards to students during the 2018-19 academic year, including the preceding summer semester.

Every dollar appropriated to PHEAA for Pennsylvania student aid programs goes directly to students since PHEAA pays all costs to administer the program from its business earnings. This saves taxpayers approximately $19.2 million annually.

PHEAA administers several other important student aid programs for the Commonwealth, including the Ready to Succeed Scholarship Program, the Pennsylvania Targeted Industry Program (PA-TIP), the Higher Education of the Disadvantaged Program (ACT 101), and the Institutional Assistance Grant (IAG) Program.

Administration – Sixteen members of the General Assembly serve on the 20-member Board of Directors. Eight members are appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and eight members are appointed by the Speaker of the House. Three members representing the education and business communities are appointed by the Governor. The Secretary of Education serves as a member ex-officio. Board members serve without remuneration, but are reimbursed for their expenses in accordance with strict policies.

In June 2009, the Agency was selected by the U.S. Department of Education as one of four entities to service a portion of the nation's growing federally-owned student loan portfolio. Building on PHEAA's 50 years of student aid experience, FedLoan Servicing was established to support the U.S. Department of Education's ability to service student loans owned by the federal government. FedLoan Servicing is dedicated to supporting borrowers with easy and convenient ways to manage their student loans.

Using funds appropriated by the General Assembly, the Agency awards State Grants to students based on the students' demonstrated financial need. By authority of the Veterans Education Act of 1971, the Agency was given the responsibility of administering a program of educational benefits for veterans of the Vietnam conflict. In 1972, authority was given for a program to provide scholarship aid to dependents of service people who were or are missing in action or were prisoners of war.

In cooperation with educational institutions, community-based organizations, and the federal government, work-study programs and other matching funds programs enable students who require further assistance to receive help with their educational costs.

The passage of the Institutional Assistance Grants Act in 1974 allows eligible private institutions of higher education to receive state funds based on the number state grant recipients enrolled at an eligible institution during the academic year. There are approximately 88 institutions that are currently eligible to receive IAG funding.

PHEAA also administers the Pennsylvania Targeted Industries Program (PA-TIP), which provides grant awards to students interested in working in the energy, advanced materials, diversified manufacturing, agriculture or food production fields. This $6 million program is funded by PHEAA and provides need-based grant awards up to the equivalent of the maximum State Grant award.

PHEAA, in close cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Education, began administering the new Ready To Succeed Scholarship Program (RTSS) in the fall of 2014-15, with a $5 million appropriation from the General Assembly to provide awards to high achieving students whose annual family income does not exceed $110,000.

PHEAA's 13 Higher Education Access Partners, strategically located throughout the Commonwealth, conduct community financial aid events, promote the agency's career and college-planning websites and support awareness of state and federal grants. Access Partners also work specifically with lower-income students and secondary schools with low college attendance rates – all while strengthening relationships with like-minded organizations to create greater awareness of the importance of higher education.

The Pennsylvania Higher Educational Facilities Authority (PHEFA) was created by the Act of December 6, 1967 (P.L. 678), for the purpose of financing the construction and improvement of colleges or universities within the Commonwealth. Since its establishment, PHEFA has issued more than $23 billion in tax-exempt financing for Pennsylvania's colleges and universities.

Administration – PHEFA is a public corporation and public instrumentality of the Commonwealth. Under the Act, the Authority consists of the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the State Treasurer, the Auditor General, the Secretary of Education, the Secretary of General Services, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Minority Leader of the Senate, and the Minority Leader of the House of Representatives. Pursuant to 24 P.S. §791.3 of the Act, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Minority Leader of the Senate, and the Minority Leader of the House of Representatives may designate a member of their respective legislative body to act as a member in their stead on the Authority Board. PHEFA is administered by an executive director and staff.

Financing – PHEFA finances projects through the issuance of bonds, the principal and interest of which are paid by the annual lease/loan payments collected from colleges and universities. PHEFA has no general liability with respect to these obligations and has no beneficial interest in the related assets held by trustees. Acting solely in an agency capacity, PHEFA serves as a financing conduit, bringing the ultimate borrower and the ultimate lender together.

The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission (PHMC) was created by Act No. 446 and approved June 6, 1945, amending the Administrative Code to consolidate the functions of the Pennsylvania Historical Commission, the State Museum, and the State Archives. The Commission is an independent administrative board, consisting of nine citizens of the Commonwealth appointed by the Governor, the Secretary of Education ex-officio, two members of the Senate appointed by the President Pro Tempore and Minority Leader, and two members of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker and Minority Leader. The Executive Director is appointed by the Commission to serve at its pleasure.

As the official agency of the Commonwealth for the stewardship of Pennsylvania's historic heritage, PHMC serves as a leading partner in public and private efforts to preserve, research, and interpret the Commonwealth's history. The powers and duties of the Commission fall into these principal fields: care of historical manuscripts, public records, and objects of historic interest; museums; archaeology; publications; historic sites and properties; historic preservation; grants; geographic names; and the promotion of public interest in Pennsylvania history.

Executive Office – Coordinates agency policy and programs and acts as the liaison with the Governor's staff, the General Assembly, and the public. Staff includes the Executive Director, the Director of External Affairs, and Chief Counsel.

Bureau of the Pennsylvania State Archives – Responsible for the collection, care, preservation, interpretation, and promotion of the documented history of Pennsylvania. The Bureau staff administers a wide range of public history, archival, and records management programs, and provides services to the general public, for the scholarly community, and in support of other Commission activities and regional, county, and local historical organizations.

Bureau of Historic Sites and Museums – Preserves and interprets the culture and history of Pennsylvania through the administration of historic sites and museums, including Partner Properties and Placed Properties owned by PHMC and operated in partnership with local organizations.

Administered Sites – Brandywine Battlefield Park, Cornwall Iron Furnace, Drake Well Museum and Park, Eckley Miners' Village, Ephrata Cloister, Erie Maritime Museum, Landis Valley Village and Farm Museum, Old Economy Village, Pennsbury Manor, Pennsylvania Anthracite Heritage Museum and Scranton Iron Furnaces, Pennsylvania Lumber Museum, Pennsylvania Military Museum, and Railroad Museum of Pennsylvania.

Partner Properties – Bushy Run Battlefield, Conrad Weiser Homestead, Daniel Boone Homestead, Fort Pitt Museum, Graeme Park, Hope Lodge, Joseph Priestley House, Somerset Historical Center, and U.S. Brig Niagara.

Placed Properties – Curtin Village, The Highlands, Mather Mill, and Peace Church.

Bureau of the State Museum – The State Museum was established in 1905 to collect, preserve, and interpret the history, culture, and natural heritage of Pennsylvania. Housed in its current location since 1965, the major curatorial sections include Archaeology; Community and Domestic Life; Military, Industrial, and Political History; Fine Arts; Natural Science; Astronomy; Paleontology; and Geology. Collections are acquired and preserved for both exhibition and study. The Museum presents long-term and changing exhibitions, all relating to the history and art of Pennsylvania. The Planetarium and Curiosity Connection®, a children's play area, provide learning and entertainment. Visitor services, interpretation and educational programming, special events, lectures, festivals, and performances are available.

State Historic Preservation Office – Develops, coordinates, and administers a comprehensive program to identify, protect, and enhance buildings, structures, districts, and neighborhoods of historical and architectural significance in public and private ownership throughout the Commonwealth. The Bureau provides federally mandated professional staff to support the activities of the State Historic Preservation Office, designated by the Governor, to receive federal historic preservation funds and implement the National Historic Preservation Program throughout the Commonwealth with the assistance of the Historic Preservation Board. The Bureau also administers grants for museums and local history projects. The Bureau has three divisions: Preservation Services, Archaeology and Protection, and Grant Programs and Historical Markers.

Bureau of Management Services – Responsible for providing overall administration, management, and marketing support to Commission programs through its three divisions: Fiscal and Office Support Services, Marketing and Media, and Architecture and Preservation. Management and support are provided by the implementation and maintenance of a comprehensive personnel program, including equal employment and affirmative action programs, procurement, financial grant administration, fiscal and revenue management, construction projects, marketing, publications, and web.

PAST AWARD PROGRAMS

Pennsylvania Founder's Award® – In 1997, the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission initiated the Pennsylvania Founder's Award® to recognize and honor a living Pennsylvanian who, through his/her accomplishments, exemplifies William Penn's principles of rights of the individual, religious toleration, representative government, public support for education, and free enterprise.

Past recipients of the Pennsylvania Founder's Award®:

- 1998 – Honorable K. Leroy Irvis, former Speaker of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives
- 1999 – Fred Rogers, originator and star of the children's television program Mister Rogers' Neighborhood
- 2000 – Honorable William Warren Scranton, former Governor of Pennsylvania
- 2001 – Joe Paterno, Pennsylvania State University, teacher, football coach, and philanthropist
- 2002 – Elsie Hilliard Hillman, activist, volunteer, leader, and philanthropist
- 2003 – Honorable George M. Leader, former Governor of Pennsylvania

Commonwealth Treasure Award® – The Commonwealth Treasure Award®, initiated by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission in 1997, recognizes a historic site, structure, artifact, or record within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It must be of national historical significance, with special connection to the Pennsylvania story; must be in need of increased and continuing public support for its interpretation and protection; and must have at least one existing dedicated constituent organization.

Past recipients of the Commonwealth Treasure Award®:

- 1997 – Brandywine Battlefield, Chester and Delaware Counties
- 1998 – Pennsylvania State Capitol, Harrisburg, Dauphin County
- 1999 – Meadowcroft Rockshelter, Avella, Fayette County

The Pennsylvania Housing Finance Agency (PHFA) was created in 1972 to provide affordable homeownership and rental housing options for older adults, low- and moderate-income families, and people with special needs. Through its financing programs for home mortgages, rental housing, and various related support programs throughout Pennsylvania communities, PHFA promotes community stabilization, revitalization, and economic development while enhancing the availability of high quality, affordable homes and apartments for commonwealth citizens. It does this by providing mortgage capital to homebuyers, to developers of rental housing for older adults, people with disabilities, and families with modest incomes, and by funding special initiatives to address housing and community needs and supportive services.

Since its creation, it has generated more than $15.2 billion of funding for more than 182,570 single-family home mortgage loans, helped fund the construction of 138,000 rental units, distributed more than $121 million to support local housing initiatives, and saved the homes of more than 50,400 families from foreclosure. Funding for these initiatives comes from a number of sources, including the sale of PHFA securities to private investors throughout the nation, program fees, federal and state program administration, and tax credits. PHFA's administrative expenses are predominantly paid for by fee and investment income. A substantial part of its investment earnings is used to subsidize housing and related support programs.

Act 91 of 1983 created the Homeowners' Emergency Mortgage Assistance Program, which is administered by PHFA and funded by state appropriations, program repayments, and other grant and foundation sources. When funding is available, this program provides loan assistance to eligible homeowners facing foreclosure due to circumstances beyond their control who have a reasonable prospect of repaying their mortgages.

ADMINISTRATION

PHFA is governed by a board, comprised of the State Treasurer; the secretaries of Banking and Securities, Community and Economic Development, and Human Services; six private citizens appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of a majority of the Senate; and four members who serve at the pleasure of the Majority and Minority Leaders of the Pennsylvania House and Senate. Gubernatorial appointees serve a term of six years or until a successor is appointed and confirmed.

PHFA staff includes an Executive Director, Chief Counsel, and Division Directors, as well as specialists in the fields of finance, supportive services, homeownership counseling, market analysis, architecture, engineering, housing development and management, loan underwriting and servicing, construction, communications and law.

PHFA is committed to the policy that all people shall have equal access to its housing programs and employment without regard to race, religion, gender, national origin, family status, disability, or age.

PROGRAMS

PHFA operates programs in four broad categories: multifamily rental housing, single-family homeownership, homeownership and housing counseling, and foreclosure abatement through the Homeowners' Emergency Mortgage Assistance Program. Additional initiatives and specialized programs targeting special community needs are led from time to time and up-to-date information may be available about these programs on the PHFA website at www.PHFA.org.

Multifamily Rental Housing Programs

PennHOMES – This program provides support loans to multifamily housing properties designed to provide affordable units to income-qualified people and families. It is funded through PHFA unrestricted fund balances and through state housing and redevelopment assistance program funds and federal HOME program funds made available through contract with the state Department of Community and Economic Development (DCED). PHFA monitors the operation of these properties throughout the life of the loans (generally 40 years).

Federal Programs – Pursuant agreements with DCED, the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the United States Department of Agriculture Rural Development (RD), PHFA receives federal program funds available to the Commonwealth for the development and operation of multifamily rental housing projects.

Construction and Permanent Mortgage Loan Programs – PHFA also provides loans to support qualified properties through the issuance of tax exempt or taxable bonds. These properties may be preservation transactions, moderate rehabilitation, substantial rehabilitation, or new construction. PHFA is approved to participate in various federal loan and insurance programs.

Federal Low-Income Housing Tax Credit Program – The Low-Income Housing Tax Credit Program is a federally-authorized housing initiative that allows owners of, and investors in, qualifying rental developments to receive tax credits as a dollar-for-dollar reduction of their federal income tax liability. PHFA is the administrator of this program for the commonwealth. An allocation from PHFA provides tax credits to the developer annually over a 10-year period. The development must maintain affordability to low-income residents for a minimum of 40 years. PHFA monitors the developments during the affordability period for compliance to the program.

Supportive Services Program – PHFA-financed properties may be qualified to participate in one of several PHFA-sponsored supportive service programs that assist residents in moving toward self-sufficiency or maintaining independence through on-site service coordinators or partnerships with relevant service providers. Additional supportive service initiatives, including tenant rental voucher programs, community services, and education and training programs, are administered by PHFA through cooperative agreements with the Pennsylvania departments of Human Services and Community and Economic Development and HUD.

Single-Family Homeownership Programs

PHFA offers home purchase and refinance loans with competitive interest rates and lower fees that carry a fixed interest rate for 30 years.

HFA Program - PHFA offers a conventional loan product designed specifically for HFAs (housing finance agencies). This product offers a fully amortized, 30-year, fixed-rate term for up to 97% of the home's sale price. With the HFA Preferred™ loan, mortgage insurance is provided by one of several private mortgage insurance companies when the borrower puts down less than 20% toward the purchase of the home. The amount paid for the insurance is lower than what is typically required. Borrowers obtaining the HFA Preferred™ for purchase transactions may receive a PHFA grant of $500 to be used toward down payment and/or closing costs. This grant does not require repayment and may also be combined with the Keystone Advantage Assistance Loan.

Keystone Home Loan Program - This program has specific income and purchase price limits for each county. In some cases, there is a first-time homebuyer requirement, but that requirement is waived in 39 targeted counties and specific census tract areas. PHFA also funds loans that are guaranteed or insured by the federal government (FHA, VA, and RD), which generally have more flexible qualification standards than conventional loans. Conventional loans provide up to 97% of the home's sale price.

Keystone Forgivable in Ten Years Loan Program (K-FIT) - K-FIT is a forgivable loan that is used in conjunction with the Keystone Home Loan Program only. It provides down payment and/or closing cost assistance. K-FIT provides 5% of the lesser of the purchase price or appraised value. There is no cap amount on financing. It is a second lien loan that is forgiven at 10% per year for a ten-year period.

Keystone Government Loan Program - This program provides first-mortgage financing on loans insured/guaranteed by FHA, RD, or VA. The Keystone Government Loan (K-Gov) program has no first-time homebuyer requirement, no specific PHFA income limits or purchase price limits.

Keystone Advantage Assistance Loan Program - This program provides an interest-free second mortgage loan to help with the costs associated with the purchase of a home. Qualified borrowers can receive up to 4% of the lesser of the purchase price or appraised value, up to a maximum of $6,000. It is an interest free loan with principal payments monthly and amortized over a 10-year term. Keystone Advantage can be used to cover the down payment and/or closing costs in conjunction with all PHFA mortgage loan programs.

Mortgage Credit Certificate - A PHFA Mortgage Credit Certificate (MCC) allows homebuyers to claim a tax credit for up to 50% of the mortgage interest paid per year, capped at $2,000 annually. It is a dollar-for-dollar reduction against a federal tax liability. The MCC is available to homebuyers using PHFA's HFA Preferred™ or Keystone Government loan programs, and it may also be combined with a Keystone Advantage Assistance Loan.

HOMEstead Program - Homebuyers eligible for the HOMEstead Program may qualify for up to $10,000 in down payment and closing cost assistance in the form of a non-interest, second mortgage loan. HOMEstead funds are forgiven at 20% per year over a five-year period. The first mortgage is provided by PHFA at the same rate as the Keystone Home Loan Program. Borrowers must generally be purchasing their first home and must not exceed the applicable income and purchase price limits. The property must also meet certain requirements as set by HUD.

Access Modification Loan - The Access Home Modification Program provides a second loan in conjunction with a PHFA first mortgage for up to $10,000 to assist people with disabilities, or who have a family member(s) living in the household with disabilities, who are purchasing a home that needs accessibility modifications. This program provides a deferred payment loan with no interest and no monthly payments. Homebuyers with a physical disability or a physically disabled household member who are receiving an Access Modification Loan may also be eligible for up to $15,000 in a non-interest, down payment and closing cost assistance loan through the Access Down Payment and Closing Cost Assistance Program.

Refinance Options - The HFA Preferred™ and FHA/VA Streamline Refinance programs provide refinance options for homeowners seeking to lower their current monthly mortgage payment on their primary residence:

- HFA Preferred™ Program - This program provides a refinance option for homeowners seeking to lower their current monthly mortgage payment on their primary residence. Cash back is limited to $2,000 or 2% of the balance of the new PHFA loan, whichever is less.
- FHA Streamline Refinance Loan product allows eligible homeowners to refinance their existing FHA loan to reduce their current monthly mortgage payment.
- VA Interest Rate Reduction Refinancing Loan (IRRRL) allows eligible veteran homeowners to refinance their existing VA-guaranteed loan to a lower interest rate and reduce their current monthly mortgage payment.

Homeownership Counseling Program

Comprehensive Homeownership Counseling Initiative (CHCI) – PHFA's CHCI trains and certifies organizations to provide homebuyer workshops, pre-settlement counseling, and pre-purchase counseling to prospective homeowners throughout the state. The agency offers homeownership education, budgeting, credit, financial and technical assistance, property inspections, rehabilitation, and maintenance. More than 70 organizations participate.

Foreclosure Abatement Program

Homeowners' Emergency Mortgage Assistance Program (HEMAP) – HEMAP provides temporary financial assistance, in the form of mortgage loans, to homeowners in danger of losing their homes to foreclosure due to circumstances beyond their control. The program is administered in accordance with guidelines published at 12 Pa. Code Chapter 31.201, et seq. To qualify for funding under HEMAP, homeowners must meet various statutory criteria, including but not limited to the following: The property must be a one- or two-family owner-occupied residence; the homeowner's financial hardship must be due to circumstances beyond his/her control (such as job loss, medical emergency, etc.); there must be a reasonable prospect that the homeowner will be able to resume responsibility for full mortgage payments within 24 months from the date of the mortgage delinquency; the property must not be encumbered by more than two mortgages, other than a mortgage filed by the agency to secure repayment of the mortgage assistance loans, or by other liens or encumbrances that would unreasonably impair the security of the agency's mortgage; and the maximum assistance provided may not exceed $60,000. Repayment amounts are based on the household income, but the homeowner must pay a mandatory minimum of at least $25 each month per mortgage assisted to repay the HEMAP loan. The applicant must comply with the recertification process at least annually for an updated review of the financial situation and must refinance to repay the loan when financial stability is attained. HEMAP is funded through repayments and funds from the commonwealth, so it is subject to the availability of funds.

Other Information

In addition, PHFA offers a number of training seminars, workshops, and educational programs to help those interested in affordable housing. It also conducts studies, sponsors research, and produces reports about affordable housing and related issues.

Additional information is available from PHFA's website at: www.PHFA.org.

The Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission enforces the civil rights laws of the Commonwealth. Created in 1955, the Commission administers two laws: the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act (originally the Pennsylvania Fair Employment Practice Act) and the Pennsylvania Fair Educational Opportunities Act.

Commission policy is established by 11 commissioners who are appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of a majority of the members of the Senate. The Commission is independent and non-partisan, with no more than six of its 11 members being from any one political party. Commissioners adopt rules and regulations to effectuate the purpose of the law.

The Commission's goal is to eliminate unlawful discrimination in employment, housing, commercial real estate, public accommodations, and education. Discrimination is unlawful when based on race; color; religion; ancestry; age (40 and above); sex; national origin; familial status; handicap or disability; the use, handling, or training of support animals because of a disability.

The Commission conducts two principal programs: a compliance program in which discrimination cases are investigated and resolved, an educational outreach program in which staff members provide information training and guidance to employers, owners, and managers of housing, business proprietors, educators, and others to comply with the law and promote equal opportunity. The Commission also works with a network of public and private agencies to address community tensions that may arise following hate crimes or other public expressions of bias.

Executive offices are located in Harrisburg. Complaints are received and investigated at regional offices located in Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, and Philadelphia.

The Pennsylvania Commission on LGBTQ Affairs is the first of its kind in the nation. It was established by an Executive Order from Governor Tom Wolf in August 2018. Its goal is to advise the Governor and state agencies regarding policies, programs, and legislation that impact LGBTQ communities and to serve as a resourceful intermediary between LGBTQ communities and state government. It is composed of appointed commissioners from across the Commonwealth, each acting as a representative and advocate for LGBTQ communities.

INDEPENDENT REGULATORY REVIEW COMMISSION

333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

George D. Bedwick

Chair, Independent Regulatory Review Commission

George D. Bedwick, born Sept. 16, 1947, in Wilkes-Barre, son of the late Joseph and Agnes Bedwick; Gar Mem. H.S., 1965; King's Coll. (B.A.), magna cum laude, gov. & pol., 1969; Dickinson Sch. of Law (J.D.), 1972; frmr. maj.: U.S. Army Reserve; frmr. leg. dir./leg. cnsl.: Pa. House of Rep.; frmr. bd. mem.: Pa. Ind. Dev. Authority; apptd. Member, Independent Regulatory Review Commission Jan. 2009; re-apptd. Chair, 2020.

Chair: George D. Bedwick Vice Chair: John F. Mizner Members: John J. Soroko, Murray Ufberg, Dennis A. Watson

The Independent Regulatory Review Commission was created by Act 181 of 1982 (the Regulatory Review Act) to provide oversight and review of proposed and existing regulations issued by all departments, boards, commissions, agencies, or other authorities of the Commonwealth, excluding the Legislature, the Fish and Boat Commission, the Game Commission, and any court, political subdivision, or municipal or local authority. The Commission's mission under the Regulatory Review Act is to encourage the resolution of objections to a regulation and the reaching of a consensus among the Commission, the standing committees, interested parties, and the promulgating agency.

The Commission determines if regulations are in the public interest by evaluating conformity of regulations with the underlying statutory authority and legislative intent. The Commission also evaluates regulations in terms of economic and fiscal impact; protection of the public health, safety, and welfare; clarity, feasibility and reasonableness; the use of acceptable data; and impacts on small businesses.

The Commission acts as a clearinghouse for complaints, comments, and recommendations pertaining to regulations from members of the General Assembly, standing committees, and the regulated public. The regulatory review process requires agencies to justify their use of regulatory authority so that regulations are not unduly burdensome or adverse to the best interests of the private and public sectors of the Commonwealth.

The PLCB was created on Dec. 1, 1933. The agency was responsible for setting up a system of state-run stores to sell wine and spirits, for issuing liquor licenses to hotels, restaurants, and clubs, and finally enforcing the laws and regulations concerning the sale of alcohol in the state. On January 2, 1934, the first 63 state stores and five warehouses opened for business. In 1987, the legislature passed a law transferring the enforcement of the Liquor Code from the PLCB to the Pennsylvania State Police where it remains today.

In 2016, the most comprehensive changes to Pennsylvania's Liquor Code since Prohibition were signed into law, transformatively changing the beverage alcohol landscape in Pennsylvania. Among the most significant changes brought about by Act 39 of 2016 were direct shipping of wine to residents; wine-to-go sales at restaurant and hotel licensees, including grocery, convenience, and mass merchant retailers; Pennsylvania Lottery sales and expanded Sunday and holiday hours at Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores; and new marketing opportunities. The mission of the PLCB is to responsibly sell wine and spirits as a retailer and wholesaler, regulate Pennsylvania's alcohol industry, promote alcohol education and social responsibility and maximize financial returns for the benefit of all Pennsylvanians.

The PLCB regulates the manufacture, importation, sale, distribution and disposition of liquor, alcohol and malt or brewed beverages in the commonwealth. The agency issues licenses to private individuals or entities that wish to engage in wholesale operations of beer, either as an importing distributor or as a distributor. The agency is responsible for wholesale operations of wine and spirits, which licensees may pick up from state-operated Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores or licensee service centers, or have wine and spirits delivered from PLCB distribution centers.

The Board operates a statewide system of nearly 600 Pennsylvania Fine Wine & Good Spirits stores, including more than 100 Premium Collection stores and an e-commerce retail website, and employs 5,000 people full- and part-time. Pennsylvania is the largest control state in the nation and, as such, is one of the largest purchasers of liquors and wines in the U.S.

The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board comprises three members appointed by the Governor and confirmed by a two-thirds vote in the State Senate. No more than two board members may be from the same political party as the Governor. Members are appointed to staggered four-year terms ending at midnight on the third Tuesday in May. Actions and orders of the Board require the approval of at least two members. The Board appoints an Executive Director.

Regulation of the milk industry in Pennsylvania was originally organized on a temporary basis by Act No. 37 of 1934 and Act No. 43 of 1935. This regulation was made permanent under Act No. 105, P.L. 417, Apr. 28, 1937, as amended. In 1968, the Milk Control Commission became the Milk Marketing Board. On July 10, 1980, the Board's scope was broadened by addition of Act 104 of 1980, the Milk Producers' Security Fund Act.

The Board was created to supervise and regulate the entire milk industry of the Commonwealth, including production, manufacture, processing, storage, transportation, disposal, distribution, and sale of milk and milk products for the protection of the health and welfare of the inhabitants.

ADMINISTRATION

The Milk Marketing Board consists of three members, one of whom is designated as chair by the Governor. The members are appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate.

The Board regulates all aspects of marketing milk from the dairy farm to the consumer. Thus, it licenses milk haulers and processors, certifies milk weighers and samplers, and verifies laboratory procedures, as well as establishing prices. With the advent of the Commonwealth Attorney's Act (Act No. 164 of 1980), the Board has exercised its option and retained a chief counsel.

One bureau and three divisions are maintained to properly supervise these varied functions.

Legal Division – Provides legal advice to the Board and the Board's staff, represents the Board in court, represents the staff in citation matters and price hearings, prepares regulations and Official General Orders, and generally assists in the interpretation and enforcement of the laws administered by the Board.

Enforcement and Accounting Division – Represents the Board in the field. This Division implements all orders and policies of the Board and enforces compliance with the Milk Marketing Laws and Regulations. The Division also gathers and interprets financial and accounting information used by the Board in hearings and other administrative proceedings.

Support Services Division – Responsible for all central headquarters functions. This Division is responsible for all staff support functions of the agency including clerical and computer support. This Division consists of three units: Management Information Systems, Licensing and Bonding, and Administrative Services. Licensing is the major revenue generating source for the agency and the Bonding Unit administers the program that provides security for producer payments. The Board's computer database is maintained by the Management Information Systems Unit. All audit documents, license fee and bond calculations, delinquency reports, and numerous other reports needed for agency enforcement functions are generated through the computer system. The day-to-day necessities of the agency (procurement, budget, personnel, supplies, inventory, filing, telephones, travel) are provided by the Administrative Services Unit.

Bureau of Consumer Affairs – Consults with representatives of consumer groups; disseminates information relative to the activities of the Board; acts as a liaison to the General Assembly, and federal, state, and local agencies involved in the dairy industry and in milk marketing; supplies pertinent data to news media and other interested parties; and makes any recommendations found necessary as a result of such consultations with consumer groups.

The Pennsylvania Municipal Retirement System is a multi-agent public employee state retirement program created by the Pennsylvania General Assembly in 1974. Responsibility for the organization and administration of the System is vested in the 11-member Pennsylvania Municipal Retirement Board.

Since its inception with the passage of the Pennsylvania Municipal Retirement Law (Act of 1974, P.L. 34, No. 15), the System has existed to administer sound, cost-effective pension plans on a contracted basis for local government employees. This includes accounting services, actuarial valuations, employee consulting, and asset management. Any Pennsylvania county, city, town, township, borough, municipal authority, or institution supported and maintained by a municipality may participate.

The System offers two benefit approaches: defined benefit and cash balance. The annual benefit is dependent upon the individual municipality's contracted benefit package because the System offers flexible pension plan design based on each municipality's individual needs.

The Pennsylvania Municipal Retirement Board is comprised of members from the following positions and organizations: the State Treasurer and the Secretary of the Commonwealth serve by virtue of statute; eight members are appointed by the Governor after being nominated by their respective organizations – one member each represents the Pennsylvania League of Cities, Pennsylvania Municipal Authorities Association, Pennsylvania State Association of Boroughs, Pennsylvania State Association of County Commissioners, Pennsylvania State Association of Township Commissioners, Pennsylvania State Association of Township Supervisors, municipal firemen, and municipal police; one position is filled by a retired member of the Pennsylvania Municipal Retirement System. Interested individuals submit an application, and the Governor appoints someone from the list of applicants.

The Patient Safety Authority was established under Act 13 of 2002, the Medical Care Availability and Reduction of Error ("McCare") Act, as an independent state agency. It operates under an 11-member Board of Directors, six appointed by the Governor and four appointed by the Senate and House leadership. The eleventh member is a physician appointed by the Governor as Board Chair.

The Authority is charged with taking steps to reduce and eliminate medical errors by identifying problems and recommending solutions that promote patient safety. Under Act 13, Pennsylvania hospitals, ambulatory surgical facilities, birthing centers, and certain abortion facilities must report all adverse medical events (called "Serious Events" in the Act) and near-misses (called "Incidents" in the Act) through the Pennsylvania Patient Safety Reporting System (PA-PSRS), a secure, Web-based data collection and analysis system. In turn, the Authority analyzes data to identify trends, suggests improvements to enhance patient safety, and issues recommendations to medical facilities on a facility-specific or statewide basis for purpose of reducing the number and severity of serious events and incidents. The Authority issues an Annual Report and quarterly and supplementary Patient Safety Advisories, which are accessible on the Authority's Web site, and promotes patient safety and other best practices among health care facilities and providers.

The Authority's role is non-regulatory and non-punitive, distinguishing it from other state agencies involved in regulating and/or licensing health care facilities or individual providers.

The Authority is funded through the Patient Safety Trust Fund, moneys for which come from an annual surcharge on licensing fees charged to those medical facilities that are required to report to the Authority.

Chair: Eric Menzer Vice Chair: Patrick McDonnell Secretary/Treasurer: Dennis Davin Members: M. Joel Bolstein, Lisa Boscola, Anthony DeLuca, Donald Gennuso, Tim Moury, Donna Oberlander, Joe Pittman, Jen Swails, Curt Topper

PENNVEST was established in 1988 by Act 16 of that year. In addition to other duties, it took over the facilities and responsibilities of the Water Facilities Loan Board in the then Department of Environmental Resources, which was authorized under Act 167 of 1982. Since its inception, PENNVEST has been capitalized by more than $1.8 billion in Commonwealth funds and an additional $2.32 billion in federal dollars. PENNVEST has used these financial resources to make loans and grants totaling more than $9.1 billion during its lifetime.

PENNVEST is an independent agency of the Commonwealth. The Board consists of the Governor; the secretaries of Environmental Protection, Community and Economic Development, General Services, and Budget; two Senators, one each to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Minority Leader of the Senate; two members of the House of Representatives, one each to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Minority Leader of the House of Representatives; and four persons to be appointed by the Governor, one of whom shall be a registered engineer in the Commonwealth, one of whom shall be a representative of water supply and sewage treatment systems industries, one of whom shall be a representative of a local government association, and one of whom shall be an at-large member. The four members appointed by the Governor shall serve for a term of two years and shall be eligible for reappointment. The Authority was given the power by Act 16 to provide financial assistance to the owners and operators of substandard and deteriorated sewer, water, and storm water systems throughout the state. PENNVEST also provides assistance to deal with problems caused by non-point source pollution. The Act empowers PENNVEST to receive money from state funds, federal funds, and proceeds from the sale of general obligation bonds, as well as proceeds from interest and principal repayments from its loans.

PHILADELPHIA REGIONAL PORT AUTHORITY

3460 North Delaware Avenue
Philadelphia, PA 19134

JEFFREY S. THEOBALD
Philadelphia Regional Port Authority

Executive Director CEO,

Jeffrey S. Theobald, born Mar. 18, 1953, in Pontiac, Mich.; fmr. sr. v. pres.: Global Operations Amer. Pres. Lines (APL); fmr. CEO: Ports Amer. Outer Harbor; bd. mem.: Maritime Exchange; mem.: Amer. Assn. of Port Authorities; apptd. Executive Director, Philadelphia Regional Port Authority Aug. 2016; married; 3 children.

The Philadelphia Regional Port Authority (known since May 2017 as PhilaPort, the Port of Philadelphia) was established by an act of the General Assembly (1989, July 10, P.L. 291, No. 50) "The Act," as the successor agency to the Philadelphia Port Corporation. As an independent agency of the Commonwealth it is charged with the management, development, promotion, and maintenance of port and port-related facilities and projects within an established regional port zone along the Delaware River. Its principal goals are to enhance waterborne commerce, promote economic growth, and create jobs. It accomplishes these goals by owning, developing, financing, constructing, equipping, and maintaining facilities and entering into operating leases with individual stevedoring companies.

The Act provides that the powers of PhilaPort shall be exercised by a governing body composed of 11 members who shall be residents of the Commonwealth, who shall not be elected public officials. Four of the members shall be appointed by the Governor, and one shall be appointed by each of the following: the President pro tempore of the Senate, the Minority Leader of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Minority Leader of the House of Representatives. Three members shall be appointed by the Governor, one from each list of at least three nominees, each list prepared and submitted by the Mayor of Philadelphia, and the governing bodies of the Delaware and Bucks Counties, Pennsylvania.

The terms of the members of the board are set by the Act, although all appointees serve at the pleasure of their respective appointing authorities. The gubernatorial appointees serve a term of four years, the appointees by officers of the General Assembly serve concurrently with the terms of their respective appointing authorities, and the appointees named by the Governor for the City of Philadelphia and Bucks and Delaware Counties serve for two years. In the event of a vacancy, the appointing authority is required to appoint a replacement for the remainder of the unexpired term for which the vacancy exists. The Chairman, who is appointed by the Governor from among all the members of the board, serves for a term of two years, or until his respective successor is appointed.

PhilaPort has broad powers to exercise its responsibilities throughout the Port District, which includes the counties of Bucks and Delaware and the City of Philadelphia, and is not subject to local zoning ordinances or regulations in so acting. These powers include the right to acquire, purchase, lease, transfer, and dispose of property; to borrow money and issue notes, bonds, and other evidence of indebtedness; and to service the payment of such bonds by pledge of its revenues, rentals, and receipts. It reserves the power to eminent domain in furtherance of its purposes within a defined port zone in proximity to the Delaware within the Port District. PhilaPort has no power to pledge the credit or taxing power of the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof and has no power to levy taxes. The stated terms of the members of the Authority are as follows:

The Port of Pittsburgh Commission promotes the commercial use and development of the inland waterway-intermodal transportation system and strives to integrate that system into the economic, recreational, environmental, and intermodal future of the residents and industries of Southwestern Pennsylvania. The Commission serves a 12-county port district in Southwestern Pennsylvania on the navigable portions of the Allegheny, Monongahela, and Ohio Rivers, which includes Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Blair, Butler, Clarion, Fayette, Greene, Indiana, Lawrence, Washington, and Westmoreland Counties. The port handles more than 30 million tons of cargo each year and supports 136 river terminal facilities throughout the port district. It is served by twelve barge companies, six regional and six long haul.

The Commission works with industry and government to attract new businesses that can benefit from waterway transportation and it provides support for efforts to leverage federal funding for the US Army Corps of Engineers to maintain and modernize the aging lock and dam infrastructure in the port district. It also plays a fiduciary role in federal grant programs, and it structures private revenue-backed bond issues..

The Board of the Port of Pittsburgh Commission consists of four legislative and 11 gubernatorial appointees, including four citizens at-large, three from nominees of the regional planning commission, one from counties not in the Commission, and one each from industry nominees from the Waterways Council, the Waterways Association, and the River Terminal Operators' Association. The members and the expiration of their office are as follows:

PENNSYLVANIA PAROLE BOARD

1101 South Front Street, Suite 5100
Harrisburg, PA 17104-2517

THEODORE W. JOHNSON

Chairman, Pennsylvania Parole Board

Theodore W. Johnson; born May 25, 1953 in Erie; Cathedral Prep H.S.; Edinboro Univ. (B.S.), social work, 1977; Carlow Univ. (MS); frmr. dep. Dir. The Program for Offenders, Inc.; frmr. Chief Probation Officer for the U.S. District Court in Western PA; frmr. officer for Allegheny and Erie County probation offices; awds: U.S. District Court's Director's Award for Leadership-2009; apptd. Chairman, Pennsylvania Parole Board February 2019; 5 children.

Chairman: Theodore W. Johnson Members: Khadija T. Diggs, Leo L. Dunn, C. James Fox, Mark D. Koch, Anthony Moscato, Linda Pastroff Rosenberg

The Pennsylvania Parole Board, an independent state correctional agency, was established by the Act of August 6, 1941, P.L. 861, and amended by the Act of May 27, 1943, P.L. 767; Act 501, December 27, 1965, P.L. 1230; Act 134, October 9, 1986, P.L. 1424; Act 164, December 18, 1996, P.L. 1098; Act 143, December 21, 1998, P.L. 1077; and Act 171, December 21, 1998, P.L. 1298 and codified by Act 33, August 11, 2009, 61 Pa.C.S. §6102-6153. This Act and its subsequent amendments established a uniform parole system and provided for assistance in the improvement of adult probation services in the Commonwealth. On February 16, 2020, Act 115 of 2019 officially changed the name of the Pennsylvania Board of Probation and Parole to the Pennsylvania Parole Board. This act also removed the Board's responsibility to enforce all probation laws.

Administration – The Board membership was increased in 1996 from five to nine full-time members. Members are appointed by the Governor, with the consent of a majority of the Senate members, to serve staggered, renewable, six-year terms. Board members are prohibited from engaging in any other employment or political activities.

Duties/Responsibilities – The Board is authorized by statute to grant parole and to supervise all offenders sentenced by the courts to a maximum sentence of two years or more; to revoke the parole of technical parole violators and those convicted of new crimes; and to release from parole persons under supervision who have served their sentence in compliance with the conditions governing their parole.

Guidelines have been established to structure the Board's discretion in making parole decisions, and consideration is given to factors such as the nature of the offense, prior criminal history, employment potential, emotional stability, history of family violence, adjustment to prison, and input from the sentencing judge, prosecuting attorney, and victims, and any other factors that may be relevant. Additionally, these factors are reviewed in light of the best interest of promoting the safety of the public.

The Board has the authority to revoke parole and return an individual to prison. Hearing procedures have been established to ensure that the parolee is provided adequate due process rights consistent with the decisions of the United States Supreme Court and the appellate Courts of Pennsylvania.

EXECUTIVE OFFICES

The Chairman is the chief executive of the Board and is responsible for the overall administration of program operations and services. The Chairman represents the Board on a number of statutorily constructed committees, including the Advisory Committee on Probation and the Commission on Crime and Delinquency. The Office of Chief Counsel serves as the legal advisor to the Board. Communications and media relations are handled by the Special Assistant to the Chairman. Correspondence with legislative offices is handled by the Office of Policy and Legislative Affairs.

OFFICE OF HEARING EXAMINERS

This Office is responsible for conducting parole interviews and various parole hearings in state, county, and community correction facilities. This Office assists in training Board staff on the violation and revocation processes, and other procedures.

OFFICE OF BOARD SECRETARY

This Office functions to attest to acts of the Board and affix the official seal of the Board to certificates of the Chair. This Office maintains records for the interview and hearing process. This Office oversees the production of all Board decisions to grant, deny, or revoke parole. It acts as a liaison between the Board and the Department of Corrections at the Joint Resolution Committee meetings where issues are discussed with regards to case decisions. This Office monitors individuals in the Witness Protection Program and the Interstate Corrections Compact and prepare their cases for parole review. Juvenile Lifer cases are monitored for the period of parole interview to parole release within this Office.

Division of Case Management

This division is responsible for the Board's records from creation and maintenance to the archiving of files upon closure. Staff is responsible for preparing dockets to ensure all information is available when the inmate is interviewed. This division is responsible for processing of files through the distribution of Board decisions through mail and email to the institutions for dissemination to the inmates. This division responds to inquiries about parole decisions and policies and procedures of the Board.

Division of Case Analysis

This division is responsible for data entry of all Board decisions regarding inmates eligible for parole and reparole consideration. Technicians in this area are also responsible for time calculations and data entry for violators. The director assists the Board Secretary with the Joint Resolution Cases.

Division of Quality Assurance

This division is responsible for implementation of new case processing procedures. The parole manager reviews cases and works with individuals to train on areas of need. This division responds to petitions for administrative review on issues such as the order of service of sentences, credit as applied to the inmate's maximum sentence, and reparole review dates. The parole manager assists the Board Secretary with Witness Protection Program and Interstate Corrections Compact cases.

Homecare Assoc.; frmr. dir. constituent svcs.; frmr. sec. of intergovernmental affairs; appointed Executive Director, State Public School Building Authority and Pennsylvania Higher Educational Facilities Authority December 2019.

President: Tom Wolf Vice Presidents: Scott Martin, Curtis G. Sonney, Lindsey M. Williams Treasurer: Stacy Garrity Secretary: Curtis M. Topper Members: Timothy L. DeFoor, Napoleon J. Nelson, Noe Ortega

The State Public School Building Authority (SPSBA) is a public corporation and governmental instrumentality of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, created by the Act of July 5, 1947 (P.L. 1217) for the purpose of financing the construction and improvement of public schools, community colleges, career and technical centers, and intermediate units. Since its establishment, SPSBA has issued more than $9 billion in tax-exempt financing for Pennsylvania's public school districts, community colleges, career and technical centers, and intermediate units.

Administration – Under the Act, the Authority consists of the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the State Treasurer, the Auditor General, the Secretary of Education, the Secretary of General Services, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Minority Leader of the Senate, and the Minority Leader of the House of Representatives. Pursuant to 24 P.S. §791.3 of the Act, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Minority Leader of the Senate, and the Minority Leader of the House of Representatives may designate a member of their respective legislative body to act as a member in their stead on the Authority Board. SPSBA is administered by an executive director and staff.

Financing – SPSBA finances projects through the issuance of bonds, the principal and interest of which are paid by the annual lease/loan payments collected from the borrower. SPSBA has no general liability with respect to these obligations and has no beneficial interest in the related assets held by trustees. Acting solely in an agency capacity, SPSBA serves as a financing conduit, bringing the ultimate borrower and the ultimate lender together. SPSBA also administers a Revolving Loan Fund, which allows schools to borrow money from SPSBA to finance small capital projects. These funds are loaned at a fixed rate of interest for a maximum of ten years.

Projects – Under the provisions of the SPSBA Act and the Public School Code, all school projects must be approved by the Pennsylvania Department of Education. Projects financed for longer than five years and more than $100,000 must also be approved under the Local Government Unit Debt Act of the Department of Community and Economic Development.

Married; 1 daughter.

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (PUC) is an independent administrative commission established by the Legislature in 1937 to "supervise and regulate" all public utilities doing business in the Commonwealth.

In creating the PUC, the Pennsylvania Legislative Act of March 31, 1937 (and the Public Utility Law of May 28, 1937) abolished the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which had been established by the Public Service Law of July 26, 1913 (effective Jan. 1, 1914).

The Commission is comprised of five full-time members appointed by the Governor for five-year staggered terms, and subject to confirmation by a majority vote of the Senate.

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission balances the needs of consumers and utilities; ensures safe and reliable utility service at reasonable rates; protects the public interest; educates consumers to make independent and informed utility choices; furthers economic development; and fosters new technologies and competitive markets in an environmentally sound manner.

Currently, under the Public Utility Code, the Commission regulates public utility entities furnishing in-state services for compensation of electricity, natural gas, telephone, water, wastewater collection and disposal, steam heat, transportation of passengers and property by train, bus, truck, taxicab, limousine, transportation network company and transportation of gas and oil by pipeline.

Recent legislation has charged the PUC with addressing the valuation of municipal and authority-owned water and wastewater systems acquired by water and wastewater utilities regulated by the Commission; providing for permanent statewide authority for transportation network companies, often described as ride-hailing services; implementing oversight of Pennsylvania's Underground Utility Line Protection Act, known as the "One Call" Law; interpreting and implementing geographical limits on solar photovoltaic systems that qualify for the solar share requirement of the Alternative Energy Portfolio Standards; providing for alternative ratemaking for natural gas distribution, electric distribution and water/wastewater companies; and implementing the oversight of water, wastewater and storm water services by entities created by Pennsylvania cities of the second class, specifically the Pittsburgh Water and Sewer Authority.

The Commission annually processes thousands of applications and other documents, including consumer complaints and questions about such subjects as amount of bills, fuel surcharges, billing procedures, late payments, penalties, meter readings, and general service problems.

The PUC funds an authorized complement of 516 employees, including attorneys, rate and service analysts, auditors, economists, engineers, motor transit and railroad specialists, communications specialists, safety inspectors, and enforcement investigators. They work together with administrative, fiscal, computer, and clerical personnel in 12 offices and bureaus that report to an Executive Director: Regulatory Affairs, Communications, Special Assistants, Legislative Affairs, Investigation & Enforcement, Audits, Law, Technical Utility Services, Secretary, Administrative Law Judge, Consumer Services, and Administration.

The PUC is headquartered in Harrisburg, and has regional offices in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Scranton.

With the enactment of Act No. 33 (P.L. 90) House Bill No. 1180 on March 3, 1972, the Commission became fully funded by assessment of companies providing utility service in Pennsylvania. Subject to budgetary approval, the PUC may assess utilities up to three-tenths of one percent of gross intrastate revenue to cover the cost of regulation. Each utility is billed by the Commission for its share of an approved budget for the following fiscal year. All assessments and fees received, collected, or recovered under Act No. 33 are paid into the General Fund of the state Treasury through the Department of Revenue for use solely by the Commission. The Commission's state-funded budget for the Fiscal Year 2018-19 is $73.5 million.

As a member of the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC), the PUC cooperates with other state and federal regulatory agencies in fulfilling its regulatory role.

SEXUAL OFFENDERS ASSESSMENT BOARD

1101 South Front Street, Suite 5700
Harrisburg, PA 17104

MEGHAN M. DADE

Executive Director, Sexual Offenders Assessment Board

Meghan M. Dade, born Sept. 6, in New Haven, Conn., daughter of Richard and Jeanne Thomsen; Guilford H.S., 1987; Tufts Univ. (B.A.) magna cum laude, child study, 1992; Univ. of Pa. Law Sch. (J.D.), 1997; frmr. litig./assoc.: Montgomery, McCracken, Walker & Rhoads, LLP; frmr. sr. policy mgr.: Gov. Office of Policy & Planning; married Steven Dade; 3 children.

Administration – The Sexual Offenders Assessment Board (SOAB) was originally established in 1995 under Pennsylvania's Megan's Law (Act 24 of 1995). Pennsylvania's Megan's Law, which was amended in 2018 (Act 29 of 2018), requires the SOAB to assess all sex offenders convicted under the law. The SOAB is composed of an independent group of professionals, including psychiatrists, psychologists, and criminal justice experts, who are experts in the evaluation and treatment of sex offenders. The SOAB members are appointed by the Governor and serve four-year terms. The SOAB members are supported by a small administrative staff and a team of investigators who conduct comprehensive background investigations of the convicted sex offenders and prepare written reports that serve as the informational foundation for the SOAB members' assessments. The SOAB's Executive Director serves as the administrator of the Board and its employees.

Powers and Duties – Pennsylvania law requires the SOAB to conduct assessments of convicted sex offenders on behalf of two entities – Pennsylvania courts and the Pennsylvania Parole Board. The court-ordered assessments are conducted post-conviction and pre-sentencing, and are designed to assist the court in determining whether an offender meets the legal criteria to be classified as a Sexually Violent Predator. Sexually Violent Predators are subject to lifetime registration with the Pennsylvania State Police, active community notification of their residence, and mandatory lifetime counseling with providers approved by the SOAB. The SOAB also conducts risk assessments of convicted sex offenders who are under parole consideration to assist the Parole Board in its decision-making process. These assessments are designed to provide the Parole Board with an independent, expert opinion on the offenders' risk of re-offending sexually, and also to provide recommendations for the treatment, management, and supervision of the sex offenders if they are released from incarceration. In addition, Act 21 of 2003 authorizes the SOAB to conduct assessments of certain juvenile sex offenders who are aging out of the juvenile justice system to determine whether they are too dangerous to return to the community and are in need of civil commitment for involuntary sex offender treatment in a secure setting.

STATE EMPLOYEES' RETIREMENT SYSTEM

30 North Third Street, Suite 150
Harrisburg, PA 17101-1716

TERRILL J. SANCHEZ

Executive Director/Board Secretary,
State Employees' Retirement System

Terrill J. Sanchez; born in Coal Twp.; Shamokin H.S.; Lock Haven Univ., (B.S.), comp. sci.; frmr. dep. exec. dir.: Pa. Public Sch. Employees' Retirement System (PSERS); frmr. dep. exec. dir., operations: PSERS; frmr. chief tech. officer: PSERS; frmr. exec. dir.: Justice Network, Commonwealth of Pa.; frmr. chief info. officer: Dept. of Health; frmr. bd. mem.: Pa. Assn. of Public Employee Retirement Systems; mem.: Client Adv. Bd., Empower Retirement; apptd. Executive Director, State Employees' Retirement System 2018; married: Dan, 2 children.

Chair: David R. Fillman Members: Glenn E. Becker, John M. DiSanto, Dan B. Frankel, Stacy Garrity, Vincent J. Hughes, Gregory K. Jordan, Paul Schemel, Mary A. Soderberg, Gregory C. Thall, Richard Vague

The State Employees' Retirement System (SERS) was established by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in 1923. SERS' enabling legislation, the State Employees' Retirement Code, was recodified in 1959 and again in 1974. Significant amendments to the retirement code were enacted in 2001, 2010 and 2017. The SERS Board is charged with administering four retirement plans, including a cost-sharing, multi-employer Internal Revenue Code (IRC) 401 Defined Benefit Plan, an IRC Section 401 Defined Contribution Plan, a hybrid plan that combines the defined benefit and defined contribution plans into one, and a supplemental, voluntary-participation IRC 457 Deferred Compensation Plan. These plans serve the employees of the Commonwealth and certain independent agencies.

SERS serves nearly 240,000 active, retired, and inactive vested members. As of December 31, 2020, the SERS fund totaled nearly $34.5 billion in assets. SERS has a complement of slightly more than 200 permanent positions. It is headquartered in Harrisburg and operates seven regional field offices throughout the commonwealth.

THE STATE EMPLOYEES' RETIREMENT BOARD

The Retirement Code establishes the board as an independent administrative board, with authority to make all decisions with respect to the implementation of the Retirement Code and the management of the State Employees' Retirement Fund.

As specified by the retirement code, the board consists of 11 members: the State Treasurer, and the Secretary of Banking and Security, both ex-officio; two state Senators; two members of the state House of Representatives; and five members appointed by the Governor, one of whom must be an annuitant of SERS, subject to confirmation by the state Senate.

The retirement code vests the board with responsibility for managing SERS. There are four areas of responsibility: administration, benefits, funding, and investments.

Administration – One of the most important duties of the board with respect to the day-to-day administration of SERS is the appointment of the Executive Director and Board Secretary, who is designated by the Retirement Code as the chief administrative officer of SERS. The retirement board delegates to the Executive Director responsibility for almost all administrative functions.

The agency is organized into the following offices: Executive Office, Investment Office, Office of Member Services, Office of Finance and Administration, Office of Information Technology, Legal Office, Communications and Policy Office, Internal Audit Division, and Human Resources Division.

Benefits - Plan benefits are defined by the State Employees' Retirement Code, in conjunction with the IRC, and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Fifth Amended and Restate Deferred Compensation Plan, effective Dec.1, 2014. The Defined Benefit Plan features normal, early, and disability retirement benefits, death benefits, and a refund provision for non-vested members who leave state service. Members are vested after working five years in most cases and 10 years in some cases. Both employees and employers contribute toward the plan. In the Defined Contribution Plan, participants select from 10 investment options. Plan participants are vested after working three years. Both employee and employer contribute toward the plan. The Hybrid Plan is a combination of the above two plans. Most SERS members can also participate in a supplemental Deferred Compensation Plan that lets participants defer part of their compensation toward an investment account. Participants have 10 investment options. Only the employee contributes toward this plan.

Funding – SERS' defined benefit plan is funded through three sources: employee contributions, employer contributions, and investment earnings. Pursuant to the retirement code, most commonwealth employees contribute to the retirement fund at the rate of 6.25 percent of their gross compensation.

The amount contributed annually to the retirement fund by the commonwealth and the independent agencies as employer contributions is determined each year by the board with the assistance of SERS' actuary, pursuant to the requirements of the retirement code. The amount of employer contributions is expressed as a percentage of payroll.

Investments – The goal of the investment program is to earn as high a rate of return on the retirement fund as possible, with appropriate levels of risk and liquidity. The retirement code provides that the members of the board have exclusive control and management of the retirement fund, with full power to invest the same under the "prudent investor" standard.

DANIEL I. GREENSTEIN

Chancellor, State System of Higher Education

Daniel I. Greenstein, born August 16, 1960; Univ. of Pa. (B.S.), (M.S.); London School of Economics; Univ. of Oxford (D.Phil); frmr. sr. lecturer in modern history, Glasgow Univ.; frmr. founding dir.: Arts and Humanities Data Service, London; frmr. exec. dir.: Digital Library Federation, Washington, D.C.; frmr. vice provost, strategic planning, programs and accountability: University of California System; frmr. dir., postsecondary success strategy: Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation; apptd. chancellor: Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education, September 2018; married: Melissa; 2 children.

Board of Governors – Chair: Cynthia D. Shapira Vice Chairs: Donald E. Houser, David H. Maser, Marian D. Moskowitz, Thomas S. Muller, Samuel H. Smith, Neil R. Weaver Members: Rep. Tim Briggs, Nicole Dunlop, Alex Fefolt, Tanya I. Garcia (designee for Secretary Noe Ortega), William “Bill” Gindlesperger, Allison Jones (designee for Gov. Tom Wolf), Sen. Scott Martin, Noe Ortega (Secretary of Education), Rep. Brad Roae, Sen. Judith L. Schwank, Larry C. Skinner, Stephen L. Washington, Jr., Gov. Tom Wolf, Janet L. Yeomans

Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education, created by Act 188 of 1982, comprises 14 publicly owned universities in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Established on July 1, 1983, the State System is guided by a 20-member Board of Governors, 11 of whom are appointed by the Governor of Pennsylvania and confirmed by the Senate. The Board also includes the governor or his designee, the secretary of education or his designee, four legislators and three students.

The Chancellor is appointed by the Board of Governors and serves as the chief executive officer of the State System. The Chancellor is responsible to the Board for the overall administration of all facets of the System. Under the Chancellor's direction, the university presidents, line officers, and support staff provide System-wide management in such areas as academic policy and planning, business affairs, faculty and staff affairs, legislative policy, institutional research, legal affairs, capital planning, equal educational opportunities, and advancement.

As established by the founding legislation, the primary mission of Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education "... is the provision of instruction for undergraduate and graduate students to and beyond the master's degree in the liberal arts and sciences, and in the applied fields, including the teaching profession."

The state universities spent the first 100 years of existence training teachers for Pennsylvania's K-12 schools. The Normal School Act of 1857 established regional teacher training institutions throughout the Commonwealth. The School Code of 1911 called for the state purchase of all normal schools, and by 1921 the current configuration of 14 publicly owned universities was established. The 14 normal schools evolved from state normal schools, to state teachers colleges, to state colleges. When Act 188 created Pennsylvania's State System of Higher Education, the 13 former state colleges joined Indiana University of Pennsylvania to achieve university status.

The 14 state-owned universities are Bloomsburg, California, Cheyney, Clarion, East Stroudsburg, Edinboro, Indiana, Kutztown, Lock Haven, Mansfield, Millersville, Shippensburg, Slippery Rock, and West Chester Universities of Pennsylvania. The State System universities also operate four branch campuses in Oil City (Clarion), Freeport and Punxsutawney (Indiana), and Clearfield (Lock Haven), and several education centers, including the McKeever Environmental Learning Center, the Dixon University Center in Harrisburg and in Center City in Philadelphia.

The 14 State System universities combined enroll the largest number of Pennsylvania residents among all four-year colleges and universities in the Commonwealth. With more than 95,000 degree-seeking students and thousands more who are enrolled in certificate and other career-development programs, the State System is a vital contributor to the Pennsylvania economy, generating an estimated $6.7 billion of economic activity annually. Collectively, the 14 universities offer more than 2,300 degree and certificate programs in more than 530 academic areas. Students study in associate, baccalaureate, master's and doctoral programs. The universities are fully accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Academic programs are also individually accredited by appropriate national professional organizations. State System university alumni number more than 800,000, and the vast majority of them live in Pennsylvania. The State System has a combined university campus of 4,698 acres. The physical plant includes more than 860 buildings for classrooms, residences, and administrative offices and student support services.

Bridge, Tunnel & Turnpike Assoc.; frmr. dep. sec. for adm.: PennDOT; frmr. dir.: Amer. Infrastructure; apptd. CEO, Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission Feb. 1, 2013; married MacKenzie; 4 children.

BACKGROUND

Act 211 of May 21, 1937 — the “Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission Act” — created the PTC and assigned it the responsibility “to facilitate vehicular traffic between the eastern and western sections of the Commonwealth by providing for the construction, operation and maintenance of a turnpike.” Known as America’s First Superhighway, the original, 160-mile section of the Pennsylvania Turnpike opened Oct. 1, 1940.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission (PTC) consists of five members, four of whom are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate of Pennsylvania for four-year terms. The fifth member is the State Secretary of Transportation.

ADMINISTRATION

The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission (PTC) operates and maintains 554 miles of toll highways, 1,160 bridges and five tunnels in the Commonwealth. It oversees nearly 90 toll-plaza and interchange facilities, 23 maintenance facilities, 17 service plazas, two training facilities, two regional offices, and a headquarters campus. It is financed from a budget which derives its principal revenue source from the collection of tolls. With approximately 1,300 employees, the PTC generated $1.3 billion in annual toll revenue from 190.5 million vehicles in fiscal year 2020.

The Chief Executive Officer (CEO) oversees fulfillment of the PTC’s mission, to responsibly operate and manage a safe, reliable, and efficient toll road system; serve as a transportation services leader; and foster innovation to better serve our customers. Organizationally, the CEO reports to the PTC Chair. Reporting directly to the CEO are the Chief Operating Officer, five Section Chiefs, the Communications and Public Relations Department, and the Policy and External Affairs Department.

Chief of Compliance, Legislative, and Cultural Affairs — Responsible for the Advisory Services, Diversity and Inclusion, Internal Audit, Legislative Affairs, and Special Investigations business units.

Chief Counsel — Responsible for the Legal, Legal Right of Way, and Property Management business units.

Chief Engineer — Responsible for the Engineering-Construction, Engineering-Design, and Facilities Operations business units.

Chief Financial Officer — Responsible for the Financial Administration; Accounting and Financial Reporting; and Procurement and Logistics business units.

Chief Technology Officer (Information Technology) — Responsible for developing, implementing, maintaining, and supporting enterprise-wide information-management technologies. It includes five business units: Enterprise Business Solutions; Geo-Analytics; Information Security; Technology and Innovation Management; and Technology Infrastructure.

The Chief Operating Officer (COO) is responsible for four key organizational units.

- Assistant Chief Operating Officer (Toll Collection Operations) — Responsible for Interchange Operations and Electronic Toll Collection (ETC). Interchange Operations is responsible for operation/maintenance of interchange buildings and grounds. Electronic Toll Collection is responsible for ETC Systems Technology (operation/maintenance of in-lane systems) and ETC Customer Service Operations (E-ZPass/Toll By Plate programs and Customer Service Center).

Acting Victim Advocate, Office of Victim Advocate Mar. 15, 2021; married Rick; 4 children.

Administration – The Office of Victim Advocate (OVA) was created and housed in the Parole Board by the Victim Advocate Law, Pa. Act 8 of the 1995 Special Legislative Session on Crime. It was reestablished under the Crime Victims Act, Pa. Act 111 of 1998, the Act of November 24, 1998, P.L. 882. The purpose of the Office of Victim Advocate is to represent the rights and interests of crime victims before the Parole Board and the Department of Corrections and within the juvenile and criminal justice systems. The Victim Advocate is appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, and serves a renewable six-year term. The Victim Advocate represents victim issues through Pennsylvania's Commission on Crime and Delinquency Victim Services and Advisory Committees, Interstate Adult and Juvenile Committees, and the Senior Citizen Advisory Committee. Pa. Act 188 of 2004, the Domestic and Sexual Violence Victim Address Confidentiality Act establishes the Address Confidentiality Program within the Office of Victim Advocate.

Powers and Duties – The Victim Advocate Law authorizes and imposes upon the Office of Victim Advocate the duty to represent the interests of crime victims within the juvenile and criminal justice systems, to represent registered crime victims before the Parole Board and the Department of Corrections, to supervise victim notification duties, to assist in and coordinate the preparation of testimony by the crime victims prior to a release decision, and to address the interests of all victims before the Parole Board and Department of Corrections. Further, upon the request of a registered victim, the Office of Victim Advocate will either petition the Parole Board to impose a special condition of parole on the offender or deny parole to the offender. Pa. Act 188 of 2004 authorizes the Office of Victim Advocate to create a legal confidential substitute address for domestic violence, sexual abuse, or stalking survivors. The Victim Advocate advocates for victims and victims' rights in general and provides policy advice to the legislature and the Governor's administration concerning victim issues.

Victim Services – In addition to the duties discussed above, the Office of Victim Advocate provides the following services to victims of crime in cases where the court has rendered jurisdiction of the offender to the Department of Corrections and/or the Parole Board: notification of the potential for inmate release and opportunity to provide testimony; notification of the inmate's movement within the correctional system, including inmate's death, if applicable; assistance with collection of restitution; referrals for crime victims to local programs; basic crisis intervention and support; general information on the status and location of the inmate, as allowed by law; and notification of the expiration of an inmate's maximum sentence or date of execution, if applicable. Notification support and accompaniment services are also provided to victims of crime whose offenders are appearing before the Board of Pardons.

Capital Case Services – The Victim Advocate is authorized by law to choose up to four victims/family members of homicide victims to witness an execution in capital cases. A range of notification and support services are provided to registered victims in capital cases, including preparation and accompaniment of those victims who choose to witness the execution.

Address Confidentiality Program – This program provides a legal substitute address that can be used by eligible registrants to keep their location information confidential. This substitute address is used for the receipt of first class mail at no additional expense to the registrant. This address may be used to fulfill the address requirements of court and government records, such as driver's licenses, traffic tickets, vehicle registrations, employment security, school records, worker's compensation, and court petitions.

Victim Offender Dialogue Program – The dialogue program for victims of violent crime provides a survivor with the opportunity to meet with their offender, and gives the offender a chance to accept responsibility for the crime. This provides the victim and the offender an opportunity to engage in a dialogue about the offense with one other. The program utilizes specially trained community volunteers from across the commonwealth.

Impact of Crime Classes and Victim Awareness Education Classes – The Impact of Crime Class, offered throughout the Pennsylvania Department of Corrections (DOC), is a voluntary, interactive, and educational program designed to raise inmates' awareness about the impact of crime on victims and increase inmates' level of accountability and empathy for those they harmed, while providing a healing platform for victims of crime to tell their stories. Victim Awareness class (Pa. Act 143) is a legislatively-mandated education course developed to teach inmates convicted of a violent crime about the physical, financial, and emotional impact of their crime on victims and the community.

COMMISSION FOR WOMEN

*Office of Governor Tom Wolf
 508 E Main Capitol Building
 Harrisburg, PA 17120*

MORIAH HATHAWAY*Executive Director, Commission for Women

Moriah Hathaway, born Jan. 27, 1997, in Morgantown, WV, daughter of Sharon and James Hathaway; Shippensburg Univ. (B.A.), poli. sci., 2019; frmr. spec. asst.: Gov. Office of Intergovernmental Affairs; apptd. Executive Director, Commission for Women July 25, 2020; married: Bailey Welch.

The mission of the Pennsylvania Commission for Women is to identify and advance the diverse needs and interests of Pennsylvania women and girls; to inform, educate, and advocate for its constituents; and to provide opportunities to empower women and girls to reach their highest potential. The Commission monitors women's educational and employment needs, promotes job training and upward mobility for women, and encourages the operation and support of small businesses owned and operated by women.

INTERSTATE AGENCIES

To promote shared interests and encourage mutual cooperation with other states, Pennsylvania has entered into a number of interstate compacts and agreements. Such arrangements serve to foster the continued planning and protection of joint resources and to discourage the fragmentation and duplication of the respective states' programs.

Agreement on Detainers – The purpose of this agreement is to facilitate expeditious and orderly disposition of charges pending against a prisoner. Helps determine the proper status of any detainees based on untried indictments, information, and complaints. Nationwide eligibility, federal participation is specified.

Agreement on Qualifications of Educational Personnel – This interstate agreement facilitates movement among the states of teachers and other professional educational personnel, and establishes procedures for the employment without reference to their state of origin. Eligibility is nationwide in scope.

Appalachian States Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact – This Compact was enacted to assure interstate cooperation for the proper management and disposal of low-level radioactive wastes and is aimed at reducing the volume of low-level radioactive waste. The Commission conducts research and recommends regulations and prepares contingency plans in the event the regional facility is closed and enters into temporary agreements for emergency disposal.

Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Compact – This Compact establishes a commission to promote better utilization of fisheries along the Atlantic seaboard. In 1980 the Commission assumed the responsibility for administering the Interstate Fisheries Management Program, which is a cooperative state-federal project involved in managing the interjurisdictional fisheries of the Atlantic coast.

Chesapeake Bay Commission – This Compact is a tri-state legislative advisory group created in 1980 and composed of 21 legislators, executive branch appointees and citizens from Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania. The purpose of the commission is to advise the state legislatures on matters of concern regarding the restoration and management of Chesapeake Bay. The commission is also a signatory to the 1987 Chesapeake Bay Agreement along with the governors of Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania, the mayor of the District of Columbia and the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. In that capacity, the commission is obligated to move forward initiatives of the multi-jurisdictional Chesapeake Bay Program.

Civil Defense and Disaster Compact – The Civil Defense and Disaster Compact authorizes entry into supplementary bilateral or multilateral agreements to establish a basic legal framework for mutual defense aid and disaster assistance.

Compact for Education – This Compact establishes a commission to serve as an information center on educational matters and to provide a forum for the development of educational policy. Compact eligibility is nationwide in scope.

Compact on Mental Health – This Compact provides for the care and treatment of mentally retarded persons regardless of residence requirements, and authorizes supplementary agreements for joint or cooperative use of mental health resources. Compact eligibility is on a nationwide basis. Virginia revoked its ratification of the compact, but participates informally.

Compact on Placement of Children – The Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children is statutory law in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the Virgin Islands. Developed in 1974, the compact was designed to ensure protection and services to children placed across state lines. The compact is a binding contract between member Jurisdictions and establishes uniform legal and administrative procedures governing the interstate placement of children. Interstate Compact law applies when private adoptions occur across state lines. It also applies to private parent placements of children in residential treatment facilities, group homes, and other licensed facilities. State agencies and courts must also comply with Compact law when placing, their wards in treatment facilities, in foster homes or with the child's relatives who live in another state.

Delaware River Basin Compact – This Compact establishes a commission as a regional multipurpose water resources regulatory agency. The United States is a party to the compact as well as having granted congressional consent to the agreement among states.

Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Compact – This Compact establishes a commission to acquire, construct, and administer toll and free bridges across the Delaware River between New Jersey and Pennsylvania. There were supplementary amendments in 1947, 1951, and 1963.

Delaware River Port Authority Compact – This Compact establishes a commission to construct bridges, develop port facilities shared in common by both states, enhance economic development in the region, promote commerce in the port district, develop and maintain a rapid transit system, and unify the ports of Philadelphia and Camden through the establishment of a subsidiary corporation. In 1952, 1964, and 1992, Congress consented to amendments that are included in the description of the compact.

Delaware Valley Urban Area Compact – This Compact was originally known as the Delaware Valley Area Compact, it establishes a commission to plan for orderly development of a nine county Philadelphia Camden Trenton metropolitan region.

Driver's License Compact – The Driver License Compact is an interstate compact used by States of the United States to exchange information concerning license suspensions and traffic violations of non-residents and forward them to the state where they are licensed known as the home state. Its theme is One Driver, One License, One Record. The home state would treat the offense as if it had been committed at home, applying home state laws to the out-of-state offense. The action taken would include, but not be limited to, points assessed on a minor offense such as speeding and suspension of license or a major violation such as DWI/DUI. It is not supposed to include non-moving violations like parking tickets, tinted windows, loud exhaust, etc.

Emergency Management Assistance Compact – The Emergency Management Assistance Compact (EMAC) provides for mutual assistance between the states entering into the compact in managing any emergency or disaster that is declared by the governor of the affected state or states, whether arising from natural disaster, technological hazard, man-made disaster, civil emergency aspects of resources shortages, community disorders, insurgency, or enemy attack. This compact shall also provide for mutual cooperation in emergency-related exercises, testing, or other training activities using equipment and personnel simulating performance of any aspect of the giving and receiving of aid by party states or subdivisions of party states during emergencies, such actions occurring outside actual declared emergency periods. Mutual assistance in this compact may include the use of the states' National Guard forces, either in accordance with the National Guard Mutual Assistance Compact or by mutual agreement between states.

Great Lakes Basin Compact – This Compact establishes a commission to advise and make recommendations to the member states concerning regional water resources matters. These including comprehensive water use, economic development, and maintenance of a high quality environment.

Great Lakes-St. Lawrence River Basin Water Resources Compact – The purpose of this Compact is to bring together states in order to protect, conserve, restore, improve and effectively manage the Waters and Water Dependent Natural Resources of the Basin under appropriate arrangements for intergovernmental cooperation and consultation because current lack of full scientific certainty should not be used as a reason for postponing measures to protect the Basin Ecosystem; to remove causes of present and future controversies; to provide for cooperative planning and action by the Parties with respect to such Water resources; to facilitate consistent approaches to Water management across the Basin while retaining State management authority over Water management decisions within the Basin; to facilitate the exchange of data, strengthen the scientific information base upon which decisions are made and engage in consultation on the potential effects of proposed Withdrawals and losses on the Waters and Water Dependent Natural Resources of the Basin; to prevent significant adverse impacts of Withdrawals and losses on the Basin's ecosystems and watersheds; to promote interstate and State-Provincial comity; and to promote an Adaptive Management approach to the conservation and management of Basin Water resources, which recognizes, considers and provides adjustments for the uncertainties in, and evolution of, scientific knowledge concerning the Basin's Waters and Water Dependent Natural Resources.

Interpleader Compact – This Compact allows courts to acquire personal jurisdiction over adverse claimants to property located anywhere within the compacting states. All states, U.S. jurisdictions, and foreign jurisdictions are eligible to participate. The compact relates to multiple claims against "stakeholders" (banks, insurance companies, etc.) that may be liable for duplicate payments of the same account or policy paid out to the wrong person. The compact brings all claims together in a single action.

Interstate Compact for the Adult Offender Supervision – This Compact was developed in 1998 and enacted by at least 35 states from 2000 through 2002, this interstate compact regulates the movement and supervision between states of offenders currently under community supervision. It is designed to better ensure public safety and to create a more effective and efficient means of transferring and tracking offenders between states. This new compact revises an existing compact originally developed in 1937.

Interstate Compact for Juveniles – This Compact establishes cooperative procedures for out of state supervision of juveniles and provides procedures for their return. Compact eligibility is nationwide in scope. In addition to the basic compact, a substantial number of jurisdictions have also enacted optional supplemental amendments dealing with runaways, rendition, and out of state confinement.

Interstate Compact for Mutual Military Aid in an Emergency – The purposes of this compact are to provide for mutual military aid and assistance in an emergency by the military forces of a signatory state to the military forces of the other signatory states, or of the United States, including among other military missions, the protection of interstate bridges, tunnels, ferries, pipelines, communications facilities and other vital installations, plants and facilities; and the military support of civil defense agencies; to provide for the fresh pursuit in case of an emergency, by the military forces or any part or member thereof of a signatory state into another state, of insurrectionists, saboteurs, enemies or enemy forces or persons seeking or appearing to seek to overthrow the government of the United States or of a signatory state, and to make provisions for the powers, duties, rights, privileges and immunities of the members of the military forces of a signatory state while so engaged outside of their own state.

Interstate Compact on Adoption and Medical Assistance – This Compact assures the continued provision of all of the benefits of an adoption subsidy agreement, regardless of the state of residence of the child. ICAMA is designed to prevent and overcome artificial barriers that may prevent adoptive families from receiving medical assistance mandated by adoption agreements. ICAMA provides that the state where the adoptive family resides will furnish Medicaid program services to the special needs child, if the child came from a compact member state. Forty eight states and the District of Columbia, including Missouri, are ICAMA members.

Interstate Compact on Educational Opportunity for Military Children – This Compact addresses perceived inequities facing schoolchildren of military parents when they are required to relocate across state lines. Specifically, it would allow the laws of the "sending" state to apply to transferring students from military families in the schools of the "receiving" state for such policies as graduation requirements, Advanced Placements (AP), and age of student enrollment.

Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children – This Compact provides a legal and administrative means to permit child placement activities to be pursued throughout the country in much the same way, and with the same safeguards and services, as though they were being conducted in a single state. The compact requires notice and proof of the suitability of a placement before it is made; allocates specific legal and administrative responsibilities during the continuance of an interstate placement; provides a basis for enforcement of rights; and authorizes joint actions in all party states to improve operations and services. All U.S. jurisdictions and Canadian provinces are eligible. Consent of Congress is not required until a Canadian province seeks joinder.

Interstate Compact to Conserve Oil and Gas – This Compact establishes a commission whose purpose "is to conserve oil and gas by the prevention of physical waste thereof from any cause." All oil and gas producing states are eligible to participate. Provision is also made for associate member status. The compact is unique in that renewal of congressional consent is required quadrennially.

Interstate Corrections Compact – This Compact enables administrative and judicial officers to enter into contracts and agreements for cooperative care, treatment, and rehabilitation of offenders sentenced to or confined in prisons and other correctional institutions. Compact eligibility is nationwide in scope. This national compact should not be confused with regional correction compacts in New England and western states.

Interstate High Speed Rail Network Compact – This compact was originally created to enable Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia to jointly conduct a feasibility study to establish high-speed rail passenger service between the major cities in each state. The existing compact was established in 1981 and consisted of five states (Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Pennsylvania). By 1991, New York and Missouri had become members. The compact is also referred to as the Interstate High Speed Rail Compact, Midwest High Speed Rail Compact, and High Speed Rail Compact.

Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Compact – The purposes of this Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Compact are, through means of joint and cooperative action among the Compacting States to promote and protect the interest of consumers of individual and group annuity, life insurance, disability income and long-term care insurance products, to develop uniform standards for insurance products covered under the Compact, to establish a central clearinghouse to receive and provide prompt review of insurance products covered under the Compact and, in certain cases, advertisements related thereto, submitted by insurers authorized to do business in one or more Compacting States, to give appropriate regulatory approval to those product filings and advertisements satisfying the applicable uniform standard, to improve coordination of regulatory resources and expertise between state insurance departments regarding the setting of uniform standards and review of insurance products covered under the Compact, to create the Interstate Insurance Product Regulation Commission; and to perform these and such other related functions as may be consistent with the state regulation of the business of insurance.

Interstate Mining Compact – This Compact establishes a commission to promote sound conservation practices, adopt standards for restoration of mined land, and develop mineral and other natural resources. Associate memberships are available.

Middle Atlantic Forest Fire Protection Compact – The principal purposes of this Compact are: (a) to promote interstate comity among and between the signatory states; (b) to provide adequate storage capacity for impounding the waters of the Merrimack River and its tributaries for the protection of life and property from floods; and (c) to provide a joint or common agency through which the signatory states, while promoting, protecting and preserving to each the local interest and sovereignty of the respective signatory states, may more effectively cooperate in accomplishing the object of flood control and water resources utilization in the basin of the Merrimack River and its tributaries.

Multistate Lottery Agreement – The purpose of this Compact is to establish a multi-state lottery system.

New Jersey-Pennsylvania Turnpike Bridge Compact – This Compact provides for construction of a bridge across the Delaware River.

Nonresident Violator Compact – This Compact assures nonresident motorists receiving citations for minor traffic violations in a party state the same treatment that would be accorded to resident motorists. Procedures under the compact are reasonable and provide due process protection, but they also make it difficult for the person who violates law to escape from the consequences. The compact is also designed to enhance law enforcement service and deterrence time spent on the highways. This compact was developed through a Council of State Governments project in cooperation with the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators (AAMVA), the National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws and Ordinances, and the U.S. Dept. of Transportation. For full text and description, see CSG's 1978 Suggested State Legislation. Consent of Congress is not required, although implicit consent probably flows from the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1958 (72 Stat. 635).

Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Compact – This Compact establishes a commission for the purpose of maintaining waters in the river basin in a satisfactory condition, available for use as public and industrial water supply after reasonable treatment, suitable for recreational use, and capable of maintaining healthy aquatic communities, with the guiding principle being that pollution from one state shall not injuriously affect the various uses of the interstate waters.

Potomac Valley Compact – This Compact establishes the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin (ICPRB) to cooperatively preserve water quality and to conserve water and related land resources of the Potomac River Basin. ICPRB is a non-regulatory agency that promotes water quality and related land protection among the Potomac Basin states through watershed-based approaches. In 1979, the Commission created the Cooperative Water Supply operations on the Potomac (CO OP), which provides water usage forecasts and coordinates water management of the Upper Potomac Reservoirs and with the operations of the water utilities in the Washington metropolitan area.

Pymatuning Lake Compact – This Compact establishes a recreation district, provides for water conservation, and establishes concurrent Ohio and Pennsylvania penal jurisdiction over the waters of Pymatuning Lake.

Susquehanna River Basin Compact – This Compact Establishes a federal interstate administrative commission to engage in comprehensive planning, development, and management of water and related resources of the Susquehanna River Basin. The commission has promulgated regulations regarding consumptive uses of water, groundwater withdrawals and water conservation. The commission expects to add regulations on surface water withdrawals exceeding 100,000 gpd. and registration of water withdrawals exceeding 10,000 gpd. The U.S. government is a full member of the compact.

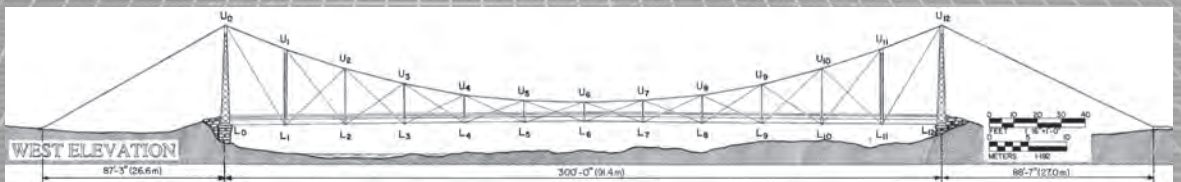

Wheeling Creek Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention District Compact – This Compact establishes a commission for the purpose of administering programs of flood control and preservation of natural resources and recreational facilities in the Wheeling Creek watershed.

Wildlife Violator Compact – This Compact provides a means through which the party states may participate in a reciprocal program to issue and enforce wildlife citations. Enables a member state to recognize and suspend wildlife license privileges of someone who has violated the wildlife laws in another member state. Establishes a board of compact administrators which is composed of one representative from each member state. The administrator shall be appointed by the head of the licensing authority in each state. The compact becomes effective upon adoption by at least two states. It does not reference congressional approval.

COURTS OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

BRIEF HISTORY, COMPOSITION, AND POWERS AND DUTIES

Pennsylvania's judiciary began as a disparate collection of courts, some inherited from the reign of the Duke of York and some established by William Penn. A number of attempts were made through the years by the General Assembly and by the governor and Provincial Council to create an organized, unified judiciary, establishing courts and jurisdictions, setting session dates and court rules, providing sentencing requirements; however, these attempts were almost always disallowed by the Crown. Finally, a bill passed in 1722 (and never rejected) set a framework for a court system that would remain basically intact until the Pennsylvania Constitution of 1776.

The Judiciary Act of May 22, 1722, was the colony's first judicial bill with far-reaching impact. It established the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, providing for "three persons of known integrity and ability," who would sit twice yearly in Philadelphia and ride the circuit at other times; and it created Courts of Common Pleas in Philadelphia, Bucks, and Chester counties and county Courts of Quarter Sessions.

Aside from minor alterations, the court system in Pennsylvania did not change again until the Pennsylvania Constitution of 1776. This constitution continued the Supreme Court and county Courts of Common Pleas; created the Courts of Sessions and Orphans' Courts in each county; and provided for the election of justices of the peace in every ward, township and district in the Commonwealth.

In addition to the Supreme Court, Common Pleas Courts, "Orphan's" courts and justices of the peace, a new constitution in 1790 added for each county Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Gaol Delivery, (i.e., criminal courts), Register's Courts, and Courts of Quarter Sessions of the Peace. It also grouped counties into judicial districts, called circuits, and placed presidents at the heads of the districts. All jurists, including justices of the peace, would be appointed by the governor and would hold their offices "during good behavior."

Constitutional changes in 1838 and 1874 effected small changes in the makeup and jurisdiction of the judiciary and in the tenure of the jurists. A constitutional amendment in 1850 provided for the election of all jurists. In 1895, the General Assembly created the Superior Court to ease the work of the Supreme Court, giving each appellate court separate jurisdictions.

The Constitution of 1968 initiated the most sweeping changes in Pennsylvania's judiciary in nearly a century. It created the Commonwealth Court to reduce the workload of the Superior and Supreme courts by hearing cases brought against and by the Commonwealth; completely restructured the minor court system; organized the judiciary into the Unified Judicial System, consisting of the Supreme, Superior, and Commonwealth courts; Common Pleas Courts; Philadelphia Municipal Court; and magisterial district courts, with provisions for any future courts the law might establish; and established the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts, headed by the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania, to oversee the administrative work of the judiciary.

Judges: Qualifications, Election, Tenure, Vacancies

Before justices and judges can be appointed or elected to their positions, they must meet certain basic requirements such as citizenship, residency, and age. In addition, all but magisterial district judges must be members of the Bar of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Jurists are also subject to strict standards of conduct, and they may be removed, suspended, or otherwise disciplined for misconduct in office. These standards are specified in the Pennsylvania Constitution; the "Code of Judicial Conduct" in the Pennsylvania Rules of Court, which applies to appellate and trial court jurists; the "Rules of Conduct, Office Standards and Civil Procedures for Magisterial District Judges"; and such other court rules and orders as have been promulgated by the state Supreme Court.

Judicial elections occur in odd-numbered years. With the exception of minor courts judges, all justices and judges within the Unified Judicial System are elected to 10-year terms. Magisterial district judges and judges of the Philadelphia Municipal Court are elected to terms of six years. Vacancies occurring before an election may be filled by gubernatorial appointment, subject to Senate confirmation, until such time as an election is held.

Judges and justices may serve an unlimited number of terms and are re-elected at the pleasure of the electorate. The "merit retention" provision of Pennsylvania's constitution allows all but magisterial district judges to run for re-election on a "yes-no" vote, without ballot reference to political affiliation. This provision was designed to remove judges from the pressures of the political arena once they begin their first elective term of office. Magisterial district judges run in regular elections.

With the passage by voters of a constitutional amendment in November of 2016, the mandatory retirement age for judges was changed from 70 to 75 years. Retired judges may, with the approval of the Supreme Court, continue to serve the Commonwealth as senior judges. This service helps ease court backlogs.

Chief Justice and President Judges

President judges are elected or designated in each district's Common Pleas Court, in the Commonwealth and Superior courts, and in the Philadelphia Municipal Court. In courts with seven or fewer judges, the commissioned judge with the longest continuous elective service holds this position. The same is true for the Chief Justice of Pennsylvania. In courts of eight or more judges, the president judge is elected to a single five-year term by his or her peers. The president judge may not serve consecutive terms, but may serve nonconsecutive ones.

THE SUPREME COURT

About

Established by the General Assembly's Judiciary Act of May 22, 1722, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is the oldest appellate court in the nation, predating the United States Supreme Court by 67 years. Both judicially and administratively, it is, by constitutional definition, Pennsylvania's highest court. In matters of law, it is the Commonwealth's court of last resort. In matters of administration, it is responsible for maintaining a single, integrated judicial system and has supervisory authority over all other state courts. Like the United States Supreme Court, it can exercise discretion in accepting or rejecting most appeals, allowing it to devote greater attention to cases of far-reaching impact as well as to its constitutional obligation to administer the entire judicial system.

Since adoption of the 1968 constitution, the Supreme Court has strived to unify judicial administration statewide while allowing for the differences between judicial districts ranging in size from a few jurists to well over 100. It has advanced the cause of justice by emphasizing meaningful programs to recognize issues of diversity in the justice system, the importance of families in society, and the particular issues facing elder Pennsylvanians. It has promoted the creation of problem-solving courts to help rather than punish those whose criminal behavior is related to issues such as mental health, drugs and alcohol, or post-traumatic stress disorder. Its efforts in automation made Pennsylvania's judicial system among the first court systems in the nation to implement statewide court computerization. The court has also adopted a strong stance in support of increased civics education for students and greater understanding of American democratic principles, including the necessary separation of powers between the three branches of government.

Composition

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania is composed of seven justices. The justice with the longest continuous elective service presides as chief justice.

Jurisdiction

The Supreme Court's jurisdiction encompasses four main areas: original, appellate, exclusive, and extraordinary.

The court holds original (but not exclusive) jurisdiction in cases of habeas corpus, that is, cases involving detention of a party and determination of whether that party has been denied liberty without due process; mandamus, or prohibition to courts of inferior jurisdiction; and quo warranto, questions of authority concerning any officer of statewide jurisdiction.

The Supreme Court's appellate jurisdiction includes those cases it hears at its own discretion and various types of cases heard as a matter of right. These latter cases include appeals of cases originating in Commonwealth Court and appeals of certain final orders issued by either the Common Pleas Courts or specific constitutional and judicial agencies.

Appeals from final orders of Common Pleas Courts include cases involving matters prescribed by general rule; the right to public office; matters where the qualifications, tenure, or right to serve or the manner of service of any member of the judiciary is in question; supersession (stay of proceedings) of a district attorney by the attorney general or by a court; matters where the right or power of the Commonwealth or any political subdivision to create or issue indebtedness is in question; statutes and rules held unconstitutional by the Courts of Common Pleas; and matters where the right to practice law is involved.

The Supreme Court has exclusive jurisdiction of appeals from the following boards/commissions: the Legislative Reapportionment Commission; the Minor Judiciary Education Board, which certifies both magisterial district judges who are not members of the Pennsylvania bar and Philadelphia arraignment court magistrates; the Pennsylvania Board of Law Examiners, which oversees admittance to the Pennsylvania bar; the Disciplinary Board of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, which investigates the conduct of Pennsylvania bar members; the Pennsylvania Gaming Control Board; and, to a limited degree, the Court of Judicial Discipline, which tries jurists who have been charged by the Judicial Conduct Board with misconduct.

The court also has exclusive jurisdiction of appeals from Common Pleas Courts involving the death penalty. Such cases are automatically appealed to the Supreme Court.

Under its power of extraordinary jurisdiction, the court may assume jurisdiction of any case pending before a lower court when it sees an issue of immediate public importance. This it can do on its own or upon petition from any party.

THE SUPERIOR COURT

About

Pennsylvania's Superior Court was created by the General Assembly in 1895 to ease the burden of the Supreme Court. The court became constitutionally mandated when it was incorporated in the Constitution of 1968.

Composition

The original Superior Court was comprised of seven members. A constitutional amendment passed in 1979 permitted more than seven judges, and the Legislature in 1980 enacted a law increasing the number of judges to 15.

Jurisdiction

Because the Superior Court's main function is as an appeals court, its original jurisdiction is limited. Such jurisdiction includes mainly applications made by the attorney general and district attorneys under the Wiretapping and Electronic Surveillance Control Act.

As an appeals court, the Superior Court hears a wide variety of petitions, both criminal and civil, from Common Pleas Courts. Such petitions include all manner of cases, from child custody to armed robbery to breach of contract.

THE COMMONWEALTH COURT

About

The Commonwealth Court came into existence on January 1, 1970, having been created by the Constitution of 1968. The Constitutional Convention's intent was to create a court that would serve not only as a third appellate court, thus reducing the workload of the Supreme and Superior courts, but also as a statewide court of original jurisdiction to hear and try cases involving actions by or against the Commonwealth.

Beginning in 1870, actions brought by or against the Commonwealth were heard by the Dauphin County Court of Common Pleas, which sits in Harrisburg. Over the years, however, the growth of state agencies and the corresponding rise in litigation involving the Commonwealth created an increasingly heavy caseload for the court's Commonwealth docket. The need for a new and separate court to handle such matters as well as to provide an appellate court for government-related appeals became apparent.

Composition

Though the Constitutional Convention provided for the creation of the Commonwealth Court, it left the structure and jurisdiction of the court to the General Assembly. The resulting Commonwealth Court Act of 1970 provided for a court of seven judges, elected to 10-year terms. An amendment to the act in 1980 increased the number of judges to nine.

Jurisdiction

The Commonwealth Court has both original and appellate jurisdiction. Its original jurisdiction includes civil actions brought against the Commonwealth government or an officer of the state government, usually seeking equitable relief or declaratory judgment and not damages; civil actions brought by the Commonwealth government (note: these could also be brought in the Courts of Common Pleas); and matters under the Election Code involving state offices.

The court's appellate jurisdiction includes appeals relating to decisions made by most state administrative agencies and appeals from the Courts of Common Pleas involving actions against the Commonwealth that could not be initiated in Commonwealth Court; actions by the Commonwealth that were commenced in the Courts of Common Pleas; some appeals from decisions of the Liquor Control Board and the Department of Transportation; and most local government matters other than contract matters, including actions for damages, eminent domain proceedings, and matters involving the internal affairs of nonprofit corporations.

COURTS OF COMMON PLEAS

About

Courts of Common Pleas are Pennsylvania's courts of general trial jurisdiction. They have existed in Pennsylvania since the early eighteenth century, receiving constitutional status under the Constitution of 1776.

Prior to the Constitution of 1968, in addition to Courts of Common Pleas, there existed Courts of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery, Courts of Quarter Sessions of the Peace, and Orphans' Courts. The new constitution abolished these latter separate courts, incorporating them into the Common Pleas Courts.

Composition

The Common Pleas Courts are organized into 60 judicial districts that generally follow the geographic boundaries of the Commonwealth's counties; however, seven of the districts are comprised of two counties. Each district has from one to 93 judges.

Jurisdiction

Common Pleas Courts have original jurisdiction over all cases not exclusively assigned to another court and appellate jurisdiction over judgments from the minor courts. They also hear appeals from certain state and most local government agencies.

MINOR COURTS

About

Minor Courts, also called special courts, are the first level of courts in Pennsylvania's Unified Judicial System. For many Pennsylvanians, these courts are the first — and often the only — courts they will ever encounter. In counties other than Philadelphia, these courts are presided over by magisterial district judges, formerly known as justices of the peace, district justices of the peace, and then district justices.

Justices of the peace have existed in Pennsylvania since the early days of the colony's existence. They were first constitutionally mandated by the Constitution of 1776.

The Constitution of 1968 effected a major reorganization of the minor judiciary, establishing magisterial districts based on population; creating minor courts in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh; replacing a fee system with salaried positions; providing for compulsory education and training for judges and prospective judges; and putting the courts under the supervision of the Supreme Court.

Magisterial District Courts

Cases in magisterial district courts are heard by magisterial district judges. Magisterial district judges have authority to conduct nonjury trials concerning criminal summary matters not involving delinquent acts as defined in 42 Pa.C.S. § 6301 et seq.

(relating to juvenile matters); conduct nonjury trials concerning civil claims (unless the claim is against a Commonwealth party as defined in 42 Pa. C.S. § 8501) where the amount in controversy does not exceed $12,000, exclusive of interests and costs, in the following classes of actions: landlord-tenant actions, assumpsit actions unless they involve a contract where the title to real estate may be in question, trespass actions, and fines and penalties by any government agency; preside over preliminary arraignments and preliminary hearings; fix and accept bail except in cases involving murder or voluntary manslaughter; issue arrest warrants; accept guilty pleas to the charge of driving under the influence (75 Pa. C.S.A. § 3802) so long as it is a first offense, no personal injury occurred to a third party other than the defendant's immediate family, property damage to any third party is less than $500, and the defendant is not a juvenile; preside over nonjury trials involving all offenses under Title 34 (relating to game); conduct nonjury trials of offenses under 75 Pa.C.S. § 3808, relating to illegally operating a motor vehicle not equipped with ignition interlock; and accept guilty pleas to misdemeanors of the third degree in certain circumstances.

Philadelphia's and Pittsburgh's Courts

Constitutionally, Philadelphia has one minor court – the Municipal Court. Philadelphia Municipal Court is Pennsylvania's only minor court that is a court of record and, unlike the other minor courts, its 27 members must be lawyers. The court has jurisdiction over all criminal offenses that are punishable by a term of imprisonment not exceeding five years. Otherwise, it has jurisdiction similar to that of magisterial district judges.

Pennsylvania statute allows the Municipal Court to appoint to four-year terms six arraignment court magistrates. These magistrates may administer oaths and affirmations, preside at preliminary arraignments, assign counsel in certain cases, issue criminal complaints, fix bail, and issue arrest warrants and search and seizure warrants.

The Pittsburgh Municipal Court was created by the Supreme Court in 2004 as a replacement to the defunct Pittsburgh Magistrates Court. It is presided over by 13 magisterial district judges (MDJs) whose districts are in or partly in the City of Pittsburgh. Additional MDJs from Allegheny County are assigned to the court on a rotating basis by the president judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

The Pittsburgh Municipal Court has a criminal division, a traffic division, and a nontraffic division. Its judges preside over matters within the City of Pittsburgh, including nontraffic summary offenses; traffic offenses, exclusive of parking citations issued by the Pittsburgh Parking Authority; all violations of City of Pittsburgh ordinances; and preliminary hearings on all misdemeanor and felony criminal cases. The judges also preside over preliminary hearings on all homicide cases in Allegheny County.

Neither magisterial district judges nor arraignment court magistrates must be attorneys, but those who are not must take a course and pass a qualifying examination before taking office. All judges and magistrates must also take 32 hours of continuing education each year while they remain in office.

The minor courts hold no jury trials. Appeals from minor court judgments may be taken to the Common Pleas Courts, where the cases are heard de novo, or anew.

Minor Judiciary Education Board

Article V of the Constitution and provisions of the Judicial Code (42 Pa.C.S.) require individuals seeking to take office as magisterial district judges to be certified as qualified to perform the duties of the office. Pursuant to 42 Pa.C.S. § 3111-19, the responsibility for this falls on the Minor Judiciary Education Board.

The Minor Judiciary Education Board is responsible for instructing and certifying individuals wishing to become magisterial district judges or Philadelphia arraignment court magistrates. It approves the curriculum, appoints and evaluates instructors, establishes course content, reviews all tests, and issues certificates to successful program participants. In addition, the board conducts continuing education for magisterial district judges, senior magisterial district judges, Philadelphia arraignment court magistrates, and for those individuals who wish to maintain a current certification in one or more of these areas.

The basic magisterial district judge certification course of instruction is four weeks in duration. General subject areas covered include criminal law; civil law; evidence; judicial procedure and administration; motor vehicle law; the Controlled Substance, Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act; and ethics. The certification class for arraignment court magistrates includes criminal rules and procedures, the crimes code, search and seizure/drug device, and ethics. In addition, the board annually revises the curriculum for the mandated continuing education program for all magisterial district judges and Philadelphia arraignment court magistrates.

The board is composed of seven members appointed by the Supreme Court.

COURT ADMINISTRATION

Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts

Article V of the Constitution of 1968 established the Supreme Court's general supervisory and administrative authority over all courts in the Commonwealth, including the power to temporarily assign judges from one court or district to another; to assign or reassign classes of actions or appeals among the several courts; and to prescribe the practice, procedures, and conduct of all courts and officers thereof. The court was also mandated to appoint a state court administrator.

As supervisor of the Administrative Office of Pennsylvania Courts, the Court Administrator of Pennsylvania is responsible for the prompt and proper disposition of the business of all courts. Among the functions of the Administrative Office are reviewing practices, procedures, and efficiency at all levels of the court system and in all related offices; developing recommendations to the Supreme Court regarding improvement of the system and related offices; representing the judicial system before legislative bodies; collecting statistical data; examining the state of the dockets and making recommendations for expediting litigation; managing fiscal affairs, including budget preparation, disbursements approval, and goods and services procurement; supervising all administrative matters relating to offices engaged in clerical functions; maintaining personnel records; conducting education programs for system personnel; receiving and responding to comments from the public; publishing an annual report; and providing legal services to system personnel.

Related Court Agencies

Also within the aegis of the Supreme Court are a number of court committees, boards, and related court agencies that help establish judicial policy, formulate rules of court procedure, investigate charges of misconduct, and establish standards for the practice of law in Pennsylvania. These committees and agencies are the Judicial Council; the Judicial Independence Commission; the Appellate Court Procedural Rules, the Civil Procedural Rules, the Criminal Procedural Rules, the Domestic Relations Procedural Rules, the Juvenile Court Procedural Rules, the Minor Court Rules, and the Orphans' Court Procedural Rules committees; the Pennsylvania Board of Law Examiners; the Committee for Proposed Standard Jury Instructions; the Committee on Rules of Evidence; the Continuing Legal Education Board; the Continuing Judicial Education Board of Judges; the Disciplinary Board of the Supreme Court; the Interest on Lawyers Trust Account Board; the Minor Judiciary Education Board; the Pennsylvania Lawyers Fund for Client Security; and the Interbranch Commission for Gender, Racial, and Ethnic Fairness.

Independent of the Supreme Court is the Judicial Auditing Agency, which annually audits the financial affairs of the Unified Judicial System and makes the audits available to the executive and legislative branches of government and to the public.

JUDICIAL CONDUCT BOARD

Created by a constitutional amendment in 1993, the Board consists of 12 members – six appointed by the Governor and six appointed by the Supreme Court. Members may serve for four consecutive years and are subject to reappointment after the lapse of a year. No more than half of the members may be of the same political party. A Chairperson, Vice-Chairperson, and Secretary are elected annually. The Board has the constitutional authority to consider a complaint, from any source, that a Pennsylvania judicial officer has engaged in misconduct or has a mental or physical disability which substantially impairs the performance of judicial duties.

An investigation may commence based upon information received from any source, including anonymous contacts, media reports, and referrals from other agencies. Most investigations are based on complaints received from named individuals. A complaint from a named individual must be verified and state the allegations upon which it is based. All complaints are referred to chief counsel who reviews the allegations of the complaint. After a complaint is docketed, the Board, through its staff, conducts a preliminary inquiry. Upon completion of the preliminary inquiry, counsel submits the information gathered for the Board's review. At this stage, the Board may dismiss the complaint because it is without merit, direct further preliminary inquiry, or authorize a full investigation.

If the complaint is of arguable merit, the Board will proceed with a full investigation to determine if probable cause exists to believe there is evidence of ethical misconduct which warrants discipline. Following authorization of a full investigation, counsel sends a notice to the judicial officer. This notifies the judicial officer of the nature of the complaint and advises the jurist of the right to respond to the allegations. Following completion of the full investigation, the Board will either dismiss the complaint or direct the filing of charges in the Court of Judicial Discipline. Where the Board directs the filing of charges, board counsel presents the case in compliance with the rules of procedure promulgated by that court.

Complaints filed with the Board and any other statements, testimony, documents, records, or other information or evidence acquired by the Board during investigation are not public information. All meetings and other proceedings of the Board are confidential. This confidentiality serves the dual purpose of protecting complainants from possible retaliation and guarding the reputations of innocent judicial officers who are the subjects of baseless complaints.

COURT OF JUDICIAL DISCIPLINE

The Court of Judicial Discipline was created by an amendment to Article V of the Pennsylvania Constitution, which was approved by the voters on May 18, 1993. This amendment abolished the Judicial Inquiry and Review Board and replaced it with a two-tiered system for investigating and adjudicating complaints of misconduct by the state's judicial officers. The first tier of the newly created system is the Judicial Conduct Board, which investigates complaints and brings formal charges before the second tier, the Court of Judicial Discipline. The court then hears the case and determines whether misconduct has occurred, and if so, the appropriate sanction to be imposed. The Judicial Conduct Board has the burden of proving the charges by clear and convincing evidence.

A justice, judge, or magisterial district judge has the right to appeal a final adverse order of discipline of the court. A judge or magisterial district judge wishing to appeal must do so to the Supreme Court. A justice wishing to appeal must do so to a special tribunal composed of seven judges chosen by lot from the judges of the Superior Court and Commonwealth Court who do not sit on the Court of Judicial Discipline or the Judicial Conduct Board. On appeal, the scope of review is plenary on the law, clearly erroneous on the facts, and, as to sanctions, the scope of review is whether the sanctions imposed were lawful.

The Court is composed of eight members, four of whom are appointed by the Supreme Court and four appointed by the Governor. By law, the Supreme Court's appointees include two judges, one magisterial district judge, and one non-lawyer elector. The Governor's appointees include one judge, two non-judge members of the bar, and one non-lawyer elector. No more than two of the members appointed by each appointing authority may be of the same political party. Except for initial members, members serve terms of four years and no member may serve more than four consecutive years but may be reappointed after a lapse of one year.

SENIOR JUDGES

Article V, § 16(c), of the Constitution of Pennsylvania provides that “[a] former or retired justice or judge may, with his consent, be assigned by the Supreme Court on temporary judicial service as may be prescribed by rule of the Supreme Court. Rule 701 of the Pennsylvania Rules of Judicial Administration prescribes the conditions and procedures for the certification and assignment of senior judges for temporary judicial service.

To be eligible for senior certification, a former judge must have served at least an aggregate of 10 years (or, in the case of a judge who was required to retire at age 75, served at least five years); not have been defeated for retention or re-election; and be at least 65 years old or have a combination of years of judicial service plus age that totals at least 80.

A retired judge must apply for senior status immediately upon retirement. Thereafter, requests for senior status are granted only upon application to and approval by the Supreme Court, upon a showing of compelling and exceptional circumstances.

A retired judge may be certified for senior status for no more than ten years, absent extraordinary circumstances as determined by the Chief Justice. Senior status must end on the last day of the calendar year in which a judge attains age 78. Certification of a judge for senior status is subject to the pleasure of the Supreme Court, which at any time, in the exercise of its sole discretion, may rescind or revoke a senior certification.

Upon recommendation of the Court Administrator, the Chief Justice may assign a senior judge to temporary judicial service on any court to fulfill a request made by a president judge for judicial assistance necessary for the prompt and proper disposition of court business, to reduce case inventories, or to serve the interests of justice.

MINOR COURTS

by County

MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT JUDGES

The first two numbers following the magisterial district judge's name refer to the judicial district. The second number, which is either a one, two, three, or four, refers to the legislative classification of the magisterial district. (See Magisterial Districts Act, Act of December 2, 1968, P.L. No. 352, and Magisterial Districts Act for Counties of the Second Class, Act of December 2, 1968, P.L. No. 359.) The third set of numbers represents the magisterial district number within the particular classification. For instance, Magisterial District Court 51-3-01 identifies the office of Magisterial District Judge Matthew R. Harvey, which is located in the 51st Judicial District (Adams County). It is a 3rd class district, and it is number one of the 3rd class districts. In instances where the last two numbers appear to be missing in a county's numerical order of districts, it is an indication that a previously existing court has been eliminated.

Upper Bridge

Lycoming County, PA

EST. 1890

This bridge is both beautiful and a truly unique bridge noted for its unusual design and ornamentation, and it has been preserved in this scenic area.

Section 6

Local Government

Northampton Street Bridge

Easton, PA

- A unique and beautiful bridge in the region that's a work of art
- Design may have been influenced by European bridges similar to the Liberty "Franz Joseph" Bridge in Budapest, which was also built around the same time
- Floods in 1957 destroyed the center section of the Northampton Street Bridge, which was repaired after the flood
- Type: Metal cantilever 12 panel pin-connected Pratt through truss, fixed
- Built in 1896
- Rehabilitated in 2002 (another extensive rehab in planning)
- 560 feet long
- 32.2 feet wide
- Carries Northampton Street over Delaware River cross from Pennsylvania into New Jersey

PENNSYLVANIA LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Local government in Pennsylvania is a mosaic of 5,004 individual units. All were established by the state or provincial government and operate under laws of the Commonwealth. Each unit is distinct and independent of other local units, although they may overlap geographically and may act together to serve the public.

As of 2020, there were 67 counties, 56 cities, 955 boroughs, 2 incorporated towns, 1,547 townships (93 first class, 1,454 second class), 500 school districts, and approximately 1,877 authorities (active and inactive). The number of local units has remained fairly stable for the past few decades with two major exceptions. After passage of school district legislation in 1963 and 1965, the number of school districts diminished radically. Authorities, born as local units during the depression years of the 1930s, have proliferated at a phenomenal pace since then.

STATE AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Constitutional Provisions

The Constitution authorizes the state to enact laws regulating local units of government. It outlines basic requirements and rights. The Constitution requires periodic legislative redistricting, guarantees the right to select a home rule charter or an optional plan of government, and mandates uniform legislation establishing the procedure for consolidation, merger, or change of municipal boundaries. The Constitution also prohibits special or local legislation by the General Assembly, sets up county government with elected row officers, permits classification of local governments according to population, and requires taxation to be uniform upon the same classes of subjects. The General Assembly is allowed to enact certain tax exemptions and special tax provisions because of age, disability, infirmity, or poverty.

Classifications

Municipalities and school districts may be classified according to population, and the General Assembly can legislate separately for each class. There are four general types of municipalities in Pennsylvania: counties, cities, boroughs, and townships.

Each class of municipality operates under its own code of laws which sets forth the governmental structure as well as the general and specific powers of local government. Except for home rule municipalities, the codes are the most important source of legislative powers granted to a municipal governing body by the General Assembly. They are the County Code, Third Class City Code, Borough Code, First Class Township Code, Second Class Township Code, and Public School Code.

Legislation

There is also extensive general legislation applying to local governments. Some examples of legislative provisions outside the local government codes are real property assessment, local non-property taxation, municipal borrowing, real estate tax collection, intergovernmental cooperation, municipal employees' retirement, solid waste management, sewage facilities, and planning and zoning.

Significant general laws affecting local governments both grant powers and impose restrictions. The Pennsylvania Municipalities Planning Code empowers municipalities to plan their development and adopt zoning, subdivision, and land development ordinances. The Pennsylvania Sewage Facilities Act regulates community and individual sewage disposal systems. The Solid Waste Management Act provides for solid waste collection and disposal.

The Local Government Unit Debt Act establishes debt limits for local government units based on municipal revenues. The Municipal Police Education and Training Act mandates training of all municipal police officers. The Intergovernmental Cooperation Act permits two or more municipalities to cooperate jointly in the exercise of any governmental functions and allows municipalities to delegate powers to other local units. The Sunshine Law requires public agencies to discuss and act upon agency business only at meetings open to the public. There are numerous other general laws affecting local government powers and procedures.

Taxes

The state gives local governments authority to levy taxes on inhabitants and property within their jurisdiction and provides for tax exemptions. Taxes are levied and collected under general laws. The two primary sources of tax revenue at the local level are the real estate tax, authorized under the respective municipal codes, and the earned income tax, authorized by the Local Tax Enabling Act. The Local Tax Enabling Act authorizes numerous other types of taxes.

Home Rule

The Home Rule Charter and Optional Plans Law grants Pennsylvania municipalities the power to determine for themselves what structure their government will take and what services it will perform. A home rule municipality no longer has its powers and organization determined by the state legislature. A home rule municipality drafts and amends its own charter and can exercise any power or perform any function not denied by the state Constitution, the General Assembly, or its home rule charter.

Between 1957 and 1972, third class cities could choose the mayor-council or council-manager form of government. The Home Rule Charter and Optional Plans Law extended to all municipalities the right to adopt optional plans of government. Adoption of an optional plan of government alters a municipality's structural form and administrative organization. The municipality continues to be subject to its particular municipal code regarding municipal powers.

Six optional plans are provided for under the law: (1) Executive (Mayor)-Council Plan A (department of administration optional); (2) Executive (Mayor)-Council Plan B (department of administration mandated); (3) Executive (Mayor)-Council Plan C (provides for the office of managing director); (4) Council-Manager Plan; (5) Small Municipality Plan (limited to any municipality having a population of less than 7,500 residents; and (6) Optional County Plan (limited to counties).

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT AND LOCAL UNITS

Local government is one of the powers reserved to the states in Article X of the United States Constitution. However, since the 1930s, when the big cities of the nation looked to the federal government for financial assistance to combat the problems brought on by the economic depression, the national government has taken an increasingly active role in local government in both urban and rural areas. Through financial subsidies, grants, and technical assistance, federal agencies have stimulated development of low-cost housing, assisted economic development initiatives, and improved educational facilities along with enhancing transportation, health and welfare initiatives. Federal programs, such as housing and community development, have strengthened direct links between federal and local governments. There is a trend toward reduced federal funding and more local decision-making in federal programs.

COUNTIES

There are 67 counties in Pennsylvania including the consolidated city-county of Philadelphia, and each inhabitant of the state lives in and comes under the jurisdiction of one of them.

County Functions

Counties continue to serve in their traditional role as agents of the state for law enforcement, judicial administration, and the conduct of elections. The county is also responsible for the property assessment function. Counties become involved in regional planning, solid waste disposal, and public health. They perform welfare functions, including mental health. Counties also can establish housing and redevelopment authorities and conduct community development programs. Counties maintain hospitals and homes for the aged. Counties may support local libraries and community colleges.

Legislation enacted in recent years has strengthened the policymaking role of boards of county commissioners, granting them greater control of and responsibility for county government. The geographic size of counties enables them to cope with functions that can be better performed on an area-wide basis, e.g., regional land use planning, mass transportation and environmental protection.

County Government

County government, as provided for in the county codes, may be described as a "no-executive" type. The only exception to this rule is counties with a home rule charter that have opt for a county council and appointed manager. In most counties, the chief governing body is the three-member board of county commissioners. There are also numerous other elected officials to a large extent independent of the county commissioners. These include the sheriff, district attorney, prothonotary, clerk of courts, register of wills, recorder of deeds, and two jury commissioners whose duties are mostly concerned with the work of the county court. Additionally, there are the elective offices of the controller or three auditors and the treasurer who are county finance officers. A public defender is appointed as provided by law. The county commissioners, the elected officers, and the county court individually or jointly appoint a number of other county officials and employees needed to carry out county functions by law.

Whereas the 11 elective county officers are enumerated in the Pennsylvania Constitution, their powers and duties are prescribed by statutes which are scattered throughout the county codes and general state laws. Consolidation of certain elective offices is provided by state law in the smaller class counties involving the offices of prothonotary, clerk of courts, register of wills, and recorder of deeds.

MUNICIPALITIES

Municipal Powers

In addition to living under a county government, every Pennsylvanian also lives in a municipality. Municipal governing bodies make policy decisions, levy taxes, borrow money, authorize expenditures, and direct administration of their governments by their appointees. The scope of their functions and responsibilities is broad.

Many powers given to local governments are not exercised in every place, while others are shared with the state and even the national government. All of the various municipal units of Pennsylvania share the same basic responsibilities with respect to the provision of public services at the local level and have similar statutory powers for the most part. Although cities have more specifically enumerated powers than boroughs or townships, many of those powers may also be exercised by boroughs and townships under general grants of power. Home rule provides equal opportunity for all classes of municipalities to exercise new powers.

Municipal Functions

The main areas of local services include police and fire protection, maintenance of local roads and streets, water supply, sewage collection and treatment, parking and traffic control, local planning and zoning, parks and recreation, garbage collection, health services, libraries, licensing of businesses, and code enforcement.

CITIES

First and Second Class Cities

The oldest and largest Pennsylvania city, Philadelphia, has had a strong-mayor home rule charter since 1952. The mayor, also elected, has control over the administration of the city and is assisted by a managing director who supervises ten major departments, a director of finance, a city representative, and a city solicitor.

Pittsburgh and Scranton, second class and second class A cities respectively, also have strong mayors. These mayors, like the chief executive of Philadelphia, have broad appointive and removal powers, are responsible for the preparation of the annual budget, recommend measures for the consideration of council, and may veto legislation which may be overridden by a two-thirds majority of the council. Home rule charters were adopted by Scranton and Pittsburgh in 1974. In all three cities, the mayor is the dominant force in city government.

Third Class Cities

The code establishes a commission form of government. Under this form, the mayor and four other members constitute the commission which is the governing body of the city. The mayor is one of the members of council and acts as president. Each council member is in charge of one of the five major departments. Council members, the controller, and treasurer are elected at-large by the voters for a four-year term. Councilmanic terms overlap. The council appoints all other officers and employees.

From 1957 to 1972, cities could adopt two other forms of government (mayor-council or council-manager) by referendum under the Optional Third Class City Charter Law. The mayor-council form has a five, seven, or nine-member council, elected at-large for overlapping four-year terms. A mayor, treasurer, and a controller also are elected for a four-year period. The mayor is the chief executive of the city and enforces the ordinances of council. The mayor may veto ordinances which can be overridden by a two-thirds majority of council. The mayor supervises the work of all city departments and submits the annual city budget to council.

In the council-manager form, all authority is lodged with council which is composed of five, seven, or nine members elected at-large for a four-year term. A city treasurer and controller also are elected. A city manager is appointed by council. The manager is the chief administrative officer of the city and is responsible for executing the ordinances of council. The manager appoints and may remove department heads and subordinates.

BOROUGHES

The present type of borough government is the weak mayor form which governed all incorporated municipalities during the 19th century. Most of the present cities were boroughs first and became cities as their population increased. Boroughs have a strong and dominant council, a weak executive, and other elected officers with powers independent of the council. The governing body of the borough is an elected council. The tax collector, tax assessor, and the auditors also are elected. Many other officials are appointed by borough council.

The mayor is elected for a four-year term; council members are elected for four-year overlapping terms. A borough not divided into wards usually has seven council members; in boroughs divided into wards, at least one and not more than two are elected from each ward, except in boroughs that have three council members as provided for in Section 806(2) of the Borough Code. The powers of council are broad and extensive, covering virtually the whole range of urban municipal functions.

The manager is responsible for carrying out the policies and enforcing the ordinances of council, relieving council from routine day-to-day administration.

TOWNSHIPS

Pennsylvania has two classes of townships. First class townships include the more urban townships located in the state's metropolitan areas; second class townships are generally rural.

In townships of the first class, the governing body is made up of elected commissioners. There are either five commissioners elected at-large or up to 15 elected by wards. The commissioners have four-year overlapping terms.

The governing body of second class townships is composed of three supervisors who are elected at-large. Two additional supervisors may be elected if approved by referendum. All are elected at-large for six-year terms.

Other elected township officials include the tax assessor, tax collector (second class), three auditors or controller, and a treasurer (first class). Appointive officers include the secretary, township manager if desired, chief of police, fire chief, engineer, solicitor, and others.

To become a township of the first class, a second class township must have a population density of 300 persons per square mile, and voters must approve change of classification in a referendum. Many townships meeting the density requirement have remained second class.

AUTHORITIES

The authority is a special kind of local unit. They are not general government entities as are cities, boroughs, and townships. They are set up to perform a special service. An authority is a body corporate and politic authorized to acquire, construct, improve, maintain, and operate projects, and to borrow money and issue bonds to finance them. Projects include public facilities such as buildings, including school buildings, transportation facilities, marketing and shopping facilities, highways, parkways, airports, parking places, waterworks, sewage and stormwater management, playgrounds, hospitals, and industrial development projects.

An authority can be organized by any county, city, town, borough, township, or school district of the Commonwealth, acting singly or jointly with another municipality. An authority is established by ordinance by one or more municipalities. The governing bodies of the parent local unit or units appoint the members of the authority's board. If incorporated by one unit, the board consists of five members; if comprised of two or more local units, there is at least one member from each unit but no less than five. The board carries on the work of the authority, acquires property, appoints officers and employees, undertakes projects, makes regulations and charges, and collects revenue from services of the facilities or projects.

The original reason for the establishment of authorities was the restrictive provisions for incurring debt imposed by the Commonwealth prior to the 1968 constitutional amendments, but they have proven useful mechanisms particularly for joint municipal projects.

MUNICIPAL STATISTICS

The Governor's Center for Local Government Services maintains a municipal statistics database at <https://dced.pa.gov/local-government/municipal-statistics/>, and it contains an annually updated census of local government information.

BUCKS COUNTY (2nd class A, population 625,249) was one of the original counties created by William Penn in November 1682. Bucks is a contraction of Buckinghamshire, an England shire where the Penns lived for generations. Doylestown replaced Newtown as the county seat in 1812 and was incorporated as a borough on April 16, 1838. It was named for William Doyle, an innkeeper.

CENTRE COUNTY (4th class, population 153,990) was created on February 19, 1800 from parts of Huntingdon, Lycoming, Mifflin, and Northumberland Counties. Its name refers to its geographical location at the center of the state. Bellefonte, the county seat, was incorporated as a borough on March 28, 1806. Its name, French for “beautiful fountain,” alludes to a large spring there and is said to have been suggested by the famous French statesman, Talleyrand.

CHESTER COUNTY (3rd class, population 498,886) was one of the three original counties created by William Penn in November 1682. It did not become an inland county until 1789, when Delaware County was created from a part of it. Its name derives from Cheshire (i.e. Chester-shire), England, from which many of its early settlers came. West Chester, the county seat since 1788, was incorporated as a borough on March 28, 1799. It was named for Chester, the original county seat (now in Delaware County), which in turn derived its name from the shire town of Cheshire.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY (6th class, population 81,642) was created on March 26, 1804, from parts of Huntingdon and Lycoming Counties, and named for Clearfield Creek. The creek's name alluded to openings or clear fields in its vicinity. For many years Clearfield County functioned as part of Centre County, not electing its own commissioners until 1812. It was organized for judicial purposes in 1822. Clearfield, the county seat, was incorporated as a borough in January 1881 and became a city on December 23, 1914.

CLINTON COUNTY (6th class, population 39,238) was created on June 21, 1839 from parts of Centre and Lycoming Counties, and probably named for Governor DeWitt Clinton of New York, a promoter of the Erie Canal. Actually, the name seems to have been substituted, as a political maneuver, for the name "Eagle," first proposed, thus thwarting opponents of the new county. Lock Haven, the county seat, derived its name from its position on the West Branch Canal, which was completed to Lock Haven in 1834. It was incorporated as a borough on May 25, 1840, and became a city on March 28, 1870.

COLUMBIA COUNTY (6th class, population 67,295) was created on March 22, 1813 from part of Northumberland County. Its name is a poetic allusion to America. Bloomsburg, the county seat since November 30, 1847, was incorporated as a town on March 4, 1870, and still is the only incorporated town in the state. Its name comes from Bloom Township, which was named for Samuel Bloom, a commissioner of Northumberland County. Danville, the county seat from 1813 to 1846, is now the seat of Montour County.

LYCOMING COUNTY (5th class, population 116,111) was created on April 13, 1795 from part of Northumberland County, and named for Lycoming Creek. The name is derived from a Delaware Indian word meaning "sandy or gravelly creek." Williamsport, the county seat, was laid out in 1795, incorporated as a borough on March 1, 1806, and became a city on January 15, 1866. There are various theories about the origin of the city's name: that it was so called for Judge William Hepburn; that Michael Ross named it for his own son William; or that William Ross, a boatman, used it as a port years before the town was founded.

CITIES

THE ACT PROVIDING FOR THE CLASSIFICATION OF CITIES

Section 1 – Purpose of classification; division into classes.

For the purpose of legislation regulating their municipal affairs, the exercise of certain corporate powers, and having respect to the number, character, powers, and duties of certain officers thereof, the cities now in existence and those hereafter created in this Commonwealth shall be divided into four classes:

Those containing a population of one million or more shall constitute the first class.

Those containing a population of two hundred fifty thousand and under one million shall constitute the second class.

Those containing a population of eighty thousand and under two hundred fifty thousand and which by ordinance elect to be a city of the second class A shall constitute the second class A.

Those containing a population under two hundred fifty thousand and which have not elected to become a city of the second class A constitute the third class.

Section 2 – The classification of said cities respectively, shall be ascertained and fixed by reference to the last two preceding United States decennial censuses, and whenever it shall appear by both of such censuses, that any city of the first, second, or second A class has decreased in population below the minimum population figures prescribed for its current classification, or that any city of the second, second A, or third class has increased above the maximum population figure prescribed for its current classification, it shall be the duty of the Governor, under the great seal of the Commonwealth, to certify the fact accordingly, which certificate shall be entered at large upon the minutes of the councils of such city and recorded in the office for recording the deeds of the proper county. No change in classification or in the existing form of government shall become effective until 10 years after the certification of the fact of decrease or increase of population by the Governor: Provided, That the court of common pleas of the county in which the city is located shall appoint a charter commission to study and make recommendations on the adoption of a form of city government under sections 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7 of this act, and a form of government is adopted within the above 10-year period. If a form of government is not adopted within the 10-year period, the city shall automatically become classified according to the provisions of section 1 of this act and be subject to the provisions therein.

It is the intent of the preceding paragraph that the classification of any city of the first, second, second class A, and third class shall not be changed because its population has changed at the time of one United States decennial census, because it is recognized that a change in the form of municipal government is attended by certain expense and hardship and such change should not be occasioned by a temporary fluctuation in population but rather only after it is demonstrated by two censuses that the population of a city has remained below the minimum figure or above the maximum figure of its class for at least a decade.

At the municipal election occurring not less than one month after the date of such certificate the proper officers shall be elected to which the said city will become entitled under the change in classification, and upon the first Monday of April next ensuing the terms of all officers of said city when in office whose offices are superseded by reason thereof shall cease and determine, and the city government shall be duly organized and shall thereafter be controlled and regulated by the laws of this Commonwealth applicable to the same under the classification hereby fixed and appointed.

Until otherwise provided by law, cities of the second class A shall continue to be governed, and shall have all the powers, privileges, and prerogatives now provided by the laws of the Commonwealth relating to the cities of the second class. (1895 P.L. 275, Sections 1 and 2, as amended.)

NOTE: Article II Sec. 201 of the Third Class City Code states that "Cities of the third class shall be chartered whenever a majority of the electors of any town, township, or borough or any two or more contiguous towns, townships, or boroughs, or any combination thereof, situate within the limits of the same county or situate in two or more contiguous counties, and having separately or together, as the case may be, a population of at least ten thousand according to the last preceding United States census, shall each separately vote at any general or municipal election in favor of the same."

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Secretary of State, or as he or she has been called in Pennsylvania, the Secretary of the Commonwealth, is the chief election officer of the Commonwealth.

The Deputy Secretary for Elections & Commissions oversees the administrative election functions for the Secretary of the Commonwealth. These functions include duties related to campaign expense reporting, lobbying disclosure, voter registration, voting equipment, election security, collection of election statistics, absentee balloting, candidate requirements, and election legislation. The Secretary of the Commonwealth has available various voter guides which highlight important procedures, as well as election calendars which list important dates.

Both the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Pennsylvania contain provisions concerning the voter and elections. Article XV of the United States Constitution declares: The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. Congress is given the power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

In the Bill of Rights, the Constitution of Pennsylvania states that elections are to be free and equal, and that no power, civil or military, shall interfere to prevent the free exercise of the right of suffrage. The Constitution also enumerates the qualifications for voting. Every citizen 18 years of age is eligible to vote if he or she has been a citizen of the United States at least one month and has resided in the state 30 days immediately preceding the election.

Other constitutional provisions relate to election days, offices to be filled by election, rights of electors, bribery of electors, election and registration laws, voting machines, violation of election laws, election districts, election officers, contested elections, and absentee voting.

Outside of constitutional provisions, the General Assembly has the power to enact legislation on voting and elections. The substantial bulk of such legislation is contained in the Election Code of the Commonwealth. The Election Code was most recently amended in 2019 and 2020 to provide for, among other things, mail-in voting for all electors, a new voter registration deadline, and new deadlines for the return of absentee and mail-in ballots. A further amplification of election law is made by the courts in their interpretations of constitutional and statutory provisions in the light of actual cases of violation which come before them.

THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

*Joseph Robinette Biden, Jr. was born in Scranton, Pennsylvania, the first of four children of Catherine Eugenia Finnegan Biden and Joseph Robinette Biden, Sr. In 1953, the Biden family moved to Claymont, Delaware. President Biden graduated from the University of Delaware and Syracuse Law School and served on the New Castle County Council.

At age 29, President Biden became one of the youngest people ever elected to the United States Senate. Just weeks after his Senate election, tragedy struck the Biden family when his wife Neilia and daughter Naomi were killed, and sons Hunter and Beau were critically injured, in an auto accident.

Biden was sworn into the U.S. Senate at his sons' hospital bedside and began commuting from Wilmington to Washington every day, first by car, and then by train, in order to be with his family. He would continue to do so throughout his time in the Senate.

Biden married Jill Jacobs in 1977, and in 1980, their family was complete with the birth of Ashley Blazer Biden. A lifelong educator, Jill earned her doctorate in education and returned to teaching as an English professor at a community college in Virginia.

Beau Biden, Attorney General of Delaware and Joe Biden's eldest son, passed away in 2015 after battling brain cancer with the same integrity, courage, and strength he demonstrated every day of his life. Beau's fight with cancer inspires the mission of President Biden's life — ending cancer as we know it.

As a Senator from Delaware for 36 years, President Biden established himself as a leader in facing some of our nation's most important domestic and international challenges. As Chairman or Ranking Member of the Senate Judiciary Committee for 16 years, Biden is widely recognized for his work writing and spearheading the Violence Against Women Act — the landmark legislation that strengthens penalties for violence against women, creates unprecedented resources for survivors of assault, and changes the national dialogue on domestic and sexual assault.

As Chairman or Ranking Member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for 12 years, Biden played a pivotal role in shaping U.S. foreign policy. He was at the forefront of issues and legislation related to terrorism, weapons of mass destruction, post-Cold War Europe, the Middle East, Southwest Asia, and ending apartheid.

As Vice President, Biden continued his leadership on important issues facing the nation and represented our country abroad. Vice President Biden convened sessions of the President's Cabinet, led interagency efforts, and worked with Congress in his fight to raise the living standards of middle-class Americans, reduce gun violence, address violence against women, and end cancer as we know it.

Biden helped President Obama pass and then oversaw the implementation of the Recovery Act — the biggest economic recovery plan in the history of the nation and our biggest and strongest commitment to clean energy. The President's plan prevented another Great Depression, created and saved millions of jobs, and led to 75 uninterrupted months of job growth by the end of the administration. And Biden did it all with less than 1% in waste, abuse, or fraud — the most efficient government program in our country's history.

President Obama and Vice President Biden also secured the passage of the Affordable Care Act, which reduced the number of uninsured Americans by 20 million by the time they left office and banned insurance companies from denying coverage due to pre-existing conditions.

He served as the point person for U.S. diplomacy throughout the Western Hemisphere, strengthened relationships with our allies both in Europe and the Asia-Pacific, and led the effort to bring 150,000 troops home from Iraq.

In a ceremony at the White House, President Obama awarded Biden the Presidential Medal of Freedom with Distinction — the nation's highest civilian honor.

After leaving the White House, the Bidens continued their efforts to expand opportunity for every American with the creation of the Biden Foundation, the Biden Cancer Initiative, the Penn Biden Center for Diplomacy and Global Engagement, and the Biden Institute at the University of Delaware.

On April 25, 2019, Biden announced his candidacy for President of the United States. Biden's candidacy was built from the beginning around 3 pillars: the battle for the soul of our nation, the need to rebuild our middle class — the backbone of our country, and a call for unity, to act as One America. It was a message that would only gain more resonance in 2020 as we confront a pandemic, an economic crisis, urgent calls for racial justice, and the existential threat of climate change.

BIOGRAPHY OF FRANCES DONNELLY WOLF

FIRST LADY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

The daughter of an American diplomat, Frances Donnelly Wolf, born in Brooklyn NY, grew up abroad, living in Iran, Germany, France, Pakistan, and Great Britain. Frances is an oil painter, drawing inspiration from the written word in both poetry and prose. Her work is shown in galleries and museum exhibitions throughout Pennsylvania.

Prior to her work as an artist, Frances has had a rich professional career. She worked in the Consular section of the American Embassy in London where she reviewed visa applications for visitors to the United States. She was also a market researcher at Cahners Publishing Company, currently known as Reed Business Information, in Boston where Frances and Tom lived as he pursued his doctoral studies at M.I.T. She reviewed the placement of advertisements in the company's publications and analyzed their effectiveness to their readers. Returning to Tom's hometown, Frances joined Bucharth Horn, a leading engineering, architecture, and planning consulting firm based in York, Pennsylvania. Here she specialized in securing and planning for water distribution and wastewater systems for communities both in Pennsylvania and beyond.

Frances has been actively engaged in the civic life of her York County community where she has focused on issues concerning urban redevelopment and education. For several years she volunteered extensively in the public schools her and Tom's daughters attended, eventually organizing and heading a young author's workshop for elementary school students. Frances has held leadership positions on the boards of the York County Community Foundation; the York County Planning Commission; York's Martin Memorial Library; Atkins House, a halfway house for female offenders; the York Jewish Community Center; the Women's Giving Circle of York; and Franklin & Marshall College.

Frances earned a BA in South Asian History from the School of Oriental and African Studies of the University of London, England. She has taken graduate planning courses at Boston University and architectural design courses at the Boston Architectural Center. She holds a second BA from Franklin & Marshall College in Studio Art and History of Art. Frances also earned an MA in History of Art from Bryn Mawr College where her thesis focused on three paintings by Diego Velazquez.

Frances became the 45th first lady of Pennsylvania when Tom was sworn in as Pennsylvania's 47th governor on January 20, 2015.

Frances and Tom live in his hometown of Mt. Wolf. They are the very proud parents of two grown daughters, Sarah and Katie, and sons-in-law, Joe and Jamie, as well as joyful grandparents.

DISTINGUISHED DAUGHTERS OF PENNSYLVANIA AWARDS*

In 1948 a group of influential women suggested to Governor James H. Duff that outstanding women of Pennsylvania be recognized for their leadership and contributions to the state. The plans to honor these women developed into the Distinguished Daughters of Pennsylvania Awards, and the first awards were given in 1949.

Each year, Pennsylvania organizations nominate women in recognition of outstanding accomplishments of statewide or national importance. Quality of achievement of the individual comes first. The Daughters select the names to be given to the governor for approval.

GOVERNOR'S AWARDS FOR THE ARTS

The Governor's Awards for the Arts are a Pennsylvania tradition inaugurated in May 1980 by Governor Dick Thornburgh. The awards represent the Commonwealth's highest recognition for contributions in the arts and celebrated their 30th anniversary in 2010. Governor's Awards for the Arts have been presented annually, with the exception of the first year of each new gubernatorial administration.

Gov. Thornburgh, for the first three years, presented awards to individual artists in nine arts disciplines: painting, sculpture, photography, music, literature, dance, theatre, crafts, and media arts. These awards were named the Hazlett Memorial Awards for Excellence in the Arts, after the late Theodore L. Hazlett Jr. of Pittsburgh, the first chairman of the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts. An additional award was made for "service to the arts."

Following the 1982 awards, Hazlett Awards were presented in six alternating arts categories a year, with architecture added as a discipline category.

Gov. Thornburgh also established a Distinguished Pennsylvania Artist Award, and while no standard policy was formulated for this category, it was generally agreed that the recipient would be a native Pennsylvanian and an artist of world renown. The awards were administered by the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts.

Gov. Robert P. Casey's administration established a "comprehensive program" with the Governor's Awards for Excellence in the Arts, Humanities, and Sciences. Starting in 1988, through his cultural advisor's office, Gov. Casey honored "outstanding individual creativity and achievement, to focus attention upon the critical importance of the arts, humanities, and sciences in the life of an enlightened democratic society, and to pay tribute to Pennsylvania's rich cultural and intellectual traditions."

In 1996, Gov. Tom Ridge returned oversight and administration of the awards to the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts. Four new award categories were established to recognize not only the contributions of Pennsylvania's individual artists and patrons of the arts, but also the outstanding arts organizations that make the Commonwealth a leader in the cultural life of the nation.

Gov. Mark Schweiker presented the awards in 2002.

The Rendell administration developed and refined five award categories, including new awards to recognize those whose work in the arts benefits young people and another for ongoing work in the arts benefiting a community.

Gov. Tom Corbett presented the first awards of his administration in 2012. A new award celebrating innovation in the arts was featured.

Gov. Tom Wolf presented the first awards of his administration in 2017 and included a first-time special recognition for public leadership in the arts. The event was not held in 2020 during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Since 1997, the ceremony has been taken on the road and is now held in a different city across the Commonwealth each year. This has enabled more Pennsylvanians to participate in this state event and allowed the host communities to showcase their unique cultural assets.

RECREATION

Pennsylvania offers unparalleled opportunities for enjoyment and appreciation of its natural beauty. Careful planning and construction of a system of state parks and preservation of waterways and virgin land within state forests utilize this natural beauty by providing citizens free or relatively inexpensive access to Pennsylvania's scenic, recreational, and historic resources.

Beyond the simple enjoyment of nature, recreational activities include picnicking, boating, swimming, camping, fishing, hiking, hunting, and winter sports. Continuing acquisition, development, and maintenance of our State Parks and State Forest systems ensures increased availability and enjoyment of these facilities for tourists and all Pennsylvanians.
